GREEN ORDERS POLITICS OUT OF TRANSIT ISSUE

Chicago Tangle Will Be Studied Fully.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 11 [Special]. —Pleas of the Chicago transportation lines — surface and elevated—for higher fares may be granted by Gov. Dwight Green's commerce commission, if the transportation lines immediately improve their service and equipment.

Gov. Dwight Green.

[The Chicago Surface Lines have a petition before the commission asking for permission to increase fares from 7 to 8 cents and the elevated lines are asking for an increase from 10 to 12 cents in their petition.]

One of the steps which the Illinois commerce commission may take is to order the surface lines to start buying new equipment immediately —buy it out of a 20 million dollar fund accumulated for that purpose.

These were reports current here tonight as Gov. Green issued a statement on the Chicago transit situation.

"It is time," the governor said, "that the traction situation be taken out of politics to prevent it from being made a periodic election campaign issue.

Public Interest First.

"Transportation, almost more than any other utility, is a public service, and if there is anything that can be done to improve this service to the public, steps should be taken to achieve it without further delay."

Neither the governor, nor his commerce commissioners, commented on the new equipment report, but from commission sources it was learned that higher fares would be contingent solely upon better transportation for Chicago car riders.

Commenting on a statement made earlier today by Federal Judge M. L. Igoe of Chicago, in which the judge proposed that the city, the Illinois Commerce commission, and the transit lines coöperate by appointing a three man committee to expedite traction matters, the governor said he was sure the commission would immediately buckle down to the task.

Chicago Political Gossip.

For some time the behind-the-scenes story has been that Mayor Kelly and his political colleagues have hoped to bring about unification of the Chicago lines and leave the Republican governor of the state with the onus of the increased fares—necessary to such unification—the Democratic city hall to solve the transit problem while the Republican state house holds the bag.

It has been suggested further that the unification and opening of the subway, thru which the elevated lines are expected to run, could be timed to coincide with the 1943 mayoralty campaign, in which Mayor Kelly is understood to be importuned to run for another term.

Gov. Green tackled the increased fare problem with frankness.

"The commission has jurisdiction over the rates of fare," he said, "but any allowance for increased fares should be determined upon the quality of service. No fixing of fares can be done with fairness to the public unless some such body as the commission can determine the basis for fares from full hearings and research into every phase of the traction problem."

Possible Partisan Action.

Gov. Green was cognizant of Judge Igoe's adjuration to the commission to act promptly on the fare increase requests when he made his statement. A realization of the possibility of partisan action entering the picture also was contained in his remarks about the interests of the utility bondholders.

"The security holders in the companies involved should welcome action before the commerce commission," he said, "for it seems to be the only way to eliminate politics from the traction situation and solve the problem in a businesslike way.

"The commission has not consulted with me regarding Judge Igoe's statement and suggestions, but if they do, I certainly shall suggest that they coöperate in every way so that Chicago's traction problem will be settled with fairness to all those concerned."

DAY AND NIGHT AIR FIGHTS RAGE OVER LENINGRAD

Russian fighters and German dive bombers are engaged in day and night air battles on the fringes of Leningrad, Moscow reported early today. The defenders of Leningrad were jabbing back at the Germans in a series of counterattacks. Russians declared that on the central front, the Germans had been thrown back 12 miles in 24 hours and the Red army held the initiative on a 400 mile front.

Berlin scoffed at Russian claims of successful counterattacks on the central front. Nazi planes dropped pamphlets on Leningrad urging the citizens to "think it over" and surrender the city before it was destroyed. Other planes dropped incendiary bombs which set fires in the city.

School Board Bars Wheeler from Buildings

Portland, Ore., Sept. 11 [Special].—The Portland school board last night refused the use of any of the school system's auditoriums for an America First committee meeting on Sept. 19, at which Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] is to be the principal speaker. The city council also indicated that America First would be refused use of the city auditorium, altho no formal action was taken.

Clay Pugh of Chicago, national representative of the America First committee, who is here assisting Dellmore Lessard, Oregon state chairman of the organization, in arranging the meeting, said that, if necessary, Wheeler will speak in a sand lot.

The question came before the council Tuesday night during a meeting to consider the city budget. There was an informal agreement among the councilmen to deny the request if presented to a regular meeting of the council. The school board acted formally on a written request from the local America First organization.

Shifts Blame to Church.

Mayor Earl Riley, according to Lessard, told the officials of America First that the Seventh Day Adventists had a six day lease on the auditorium for a revival, and that the council could not rent it for the Wheeler meeting. Lessard said he had reason to believe that the Adventists would give up the auditorium for one night if requested to do so by the council.

Today the school directors' offices and those of Mayor Riley and the councilmen were swamped by citizens who protested the curb on free expression of opinions on vital public questions.

Members of the executive committee of America First declared the flood of protests sweeping the school board offices and city hall was not the result of an organized effort, but spontaneous.

Fight for Freedom of Speech.

"I have received many telephone calls from prominent people who do not agree with the views of Senator Wheeler," said Lessard, "but who nevertheless violently oppose any clamp on the freedom of speech. This seems to be almost the unanimous opinion in Portland, despite the unexpected action of the board and council.

"The action of the school board indicates that the members have fallen victims of the hysteria now being engendered by those who place the welfare of foreign countries, including soviet Russia, above that of our own country."

NAZI WAR COSTS FOR 2 YEARS PUT AT 40 BILLIONS

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—German military expenditure during the first two years of the war approximated 40 billion dollars. This figure was estimated today by financial experts from an article by Fritz Reinhardt, assistant finance minister, in an economic weekly, Deutsch Volkswirtschaft. The estimate exceeds by 4 billion dollars the cost of the German rearmament drive prior to the war.

The estimate was arrived at because Reinhardt revealed the pace of Germany's nonmilitary spending, which, he said, was 8 billion dollars for the current fiscal year. By adding up taxes, other normal revenues, and wartime borrowing, and subtracting civilian expenditures, the figure of 40 billion dollars was reached.

German revenues during this fiscal year, Reinhardt said, will be at least 12½ billion dollars, compared to 11 billion dollars in 1940, and 9½ billion dollars in 1939. Other normal income will bring the total to about 16 billion dollars, excluding loans. Germany's indebtedness, according to Reinhardt, rose from 15 billion dollars at the start of the war, to more than 40 billion dollars in the middle of 1941.

Sends Father Death Note in Extortion Plot

A son's elaborate scheme to extort money from his 70 year old father, a Carroll county farmer, ended in the federal District court yesterday where Joseph E. Foltz, 40 years old, the son, pleaded guilty to charges of stealing government property and misusing the mails.

Judge Charles E. Woodward announced that sentence will be imposed on Oct. 20 after Foltz has been subjected to a psychiatric examination and his plea for probation considered. Foltz was indicted in Freeport last June.

Note Demands $1,000.

On Nov. 13, 1940, the son wrote to his father, Edward, an anonymous letter reading: "You've got plenty of money; I've got none. Send me a thousand dollars, or I'll burn your buildings, one by one."

Five days later, the father received another note that the son had been chosen as the intermediary; that the money, all in small bills, was to be delivered by the son as he drove along a dirt road between Savanna and Galena.

"I'll blow you and your whole family to hell and gone if I don't get the money," the note told the elder Foltz.

The next day the son drove to Clinton, Ia. He sent a telegram to himself ordering him to be at a bridge on the Savanna-Galena road at 8 p. m.

Father Asks FBI's Aid.

By this time, however, the father had called in the federal bureau of investigation, and Agent Tom Mullen took charge of the case.

On the night of Nov. 19, the younger Foltz drove to the bridge with the money, shot three bullets into his car, threw the revolver into the creek, and returned home.

He was arrested and when confronted with the samples of his handwriting admitted writing the notes to his father. The revolver was recovered from the creek and an aerial bomb "booster" charge was found in his possession, as was the money.

Foltz admitted he had stolen the booster from the Savanna ordnance works where he was employed for 16 months.

Congress Re-elects Ubico President of Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Sept. 11.—Gen. Jorge Ubico will continue as president of Guatemala until March 15, 1949, the constitutional congress voted today. Gen. Ubico first was elected president Feb. 10, 1931, and has held office since that time.

F. D. R. CREATING WAR INCIDENTS, LINDBERGH SAYS

Challenges Sincerity of Program.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 11 [Special]. —Charles A. Lindbergh, speaking under auspices of the America First committee in the Municipal coliseum tonight, charged President Roosevelt and his political aides with manufacturing "incidents" calculated to hurl the country into war and asserted that the power and prestige of the Roosevelt administration "depends upon the maintenance of a war emergency." A crowd of between 8,000 and 9,000 heard his address.

Lindbergh made no attempt at answering President Roosevelt's speech. However, he challenged the sincerity of the President's claims that the administration desires only defense when he said:

Does Not Answer F. D. R.

"Ever since its inception, our arms program has been laid out for the purpose of carrying on the war in Europe far more than for the purpose of building an adequate defense for America."

Declaring that the successive steps taken by the administration without the consent of congress or the people have at last brought the nation to the brink of war, Lindbergh added:

"Only the creation of sufficient incidents remains; and you see the first of these already taking place according to plan—a plan never laid before the American people for their approval." Three groups, "the British, the Jewish, and the Roosevelt administration," are mainly responsible for edging the United States to the verge of war, he declared.

MacNider Addresses Rally.

Hanford MacNider, distinguished soldier of the World war and prominent Mason City Republican, addressed the rally, urging that America today stick to George Washington's sound advice and avoid foreign entanglements.

"Based on the sound counsel of the father of our country" said MacNider, "we developed and made our foreign policy the Monroe Doctrine. I believe in it.

"I know of no American who says that we should abandon it, yet those who are attempting to push us down the slippery path to war have apparently never known, or now want to forget, that its first premise is that we shall keep out of Europe's affairs."

TEXT OF LINDBERGH SPEECH

Following is the text of Lindbergh's address:

"It is now two years since this latest European war began. From that day in September, 1939, until the present moment, there has been an ever-increasing effort to force the United States into the conflict. That effort has been carried on by foreign interests and by a small minority of our own people, but it has been so successful that, today, our country stands on the verge of war.

"At this time, as the war is about to enter its third winter, it seems appropriate to review the circumstances that have led us to our present position. Why are we on the verge of war? Was it necessary for us to become so deeply involved? Who is responsible for changing our national policy from one of neutrality and in-

LOWER INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS O. K.'D BY HOUSE, SENATE GROUPS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—A joint senate-house committee was reported agreed tonight that income tax exemptions should be reduced from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons.

The treasury estimated this would yield an additional 303 million dollars annually and bring 4,911,000 additional persons under the income tax structure.

The committee finished adjusting differences between the senate and house revenue measures, but Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee said the agreement would not be made public until Monday, when it will be presented to the house. One informant reported, however, that the lower exemptions had been approved.

BRITAIN AWAITS CHURCHILL REPLY TO F. D. R. SPEECH

LONDON, Sept. 12 [Friday] (AP).—The official British response to President Roosevelt's declaration for shooting axis craft on sight in American defense waters was expected by authoritative sources today to come from Prime Minister Churchill.

These sources declined comment on the President's speech, saying it was of such import that the reaction must be left to a "person of equal standing"—Churchill—so far as the British are concerned.

Just What They Hoped For.

The statement that United States warships would shoot to protect merchant ships of any flag in a large part of the Atlantic was believed to be just what the British were hoping the President would announce.

The prime minister was in bed when the President started speaking —at 3 a. m., British standard time— but he had made arrangements to hear rebroadcasts by the British Broadcasting corporation later in the morning.

Too Late for Press Comment.

Late editions of the morning papers splashed the speech under the biggest captions carried in weeks. But the speech came too late for editorial comment.

The Daily Mail's front page banner was "U. S. to Guard Our Ships," and the second line, "Roosevelt Warns Hitler 'Keep Out.'"

The Daily Herald carried a picture of the President at the microphone and printed the speech under the headline, "F.D.R. Orders 'Sink Nazis in U. S. Seas.'"

Bulgaria Helps Axis, Plans to Join War: Reds

MOSCOW, Sept. 11 (AP). — Soviet Russia formally accused Bulgaria tonight of acting as a full-scale base for German-Italian land, sea, and air attacks on the soviet union and strongly intimated that Red reprisals would be swift and stern.

Bulgaria herself is preparing to participate in the attacks, Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov declared in a long statement handed to the Bulgarian minister in Moscow and broadcast on the Moscow radio.

Threefold Objective Seen.

The Crimea, the Caucasus, and Odessa are the main objectives of the axis forces concentrating in Bulgaria, Molotov charged.

Long before the German attack on Russia, he said, Bulgaria had evinced lack of loyalty and friendship for Russia, her long-time friend, and had been warned repeatedly as far back as last January.

This was even before Bulgaria signed with the axis in March, a step which caused Britain to sever relations with her.

Citing Bulgaria's rôle as a jumping-off place for German-Italian attacks on Jugo-Slavia and Greece last April, Molotov alleged a long list of more extensive acts against Russia.

Charge Troop Concentration.

The "provocative acts" included:

1. Concentration of German-Italian troops in Bulgaria.

2. Axis use of Bulgarian airdromes.

3. Preparation of the Black sea ports of Varna and Burgas as bases for submarines and warships which are being concentrated there under personal command of Grand Admiral Erich Raeder of the German navy.

4. Axis use of Bulgarian railways to transport troops, naval forces, and materials for Germany.

5. Use of a German built bridge across the Danube river at Ruschuk, Bulgaria.

"Going Way of Rumania."

For her own part, the statement said, Bulgaria is going the way of Rumania as a "place d'armes" [military stronghold] for the axis; has falsely tried to blame Russia for bombing Bulgarian territory; has permitted a hostile campaign in the semi-official press, and permitted an attempted shooting of a soviet deputy military attaché in the heart of Sofia last Sunday.

Without making a direct threat, the Russian statement concluded with this strong implication of trouble to come for Bulgaria:

"According to the deep convictions of the soviet government, this attitude of the Bulgarian government to a high degree does not correspond with the interests of Bulgaria and the Bulgarian nation."

U. S. MUST DRIVE AXIS FROM SEA, SAYS PRESIDENT

Pledges Protection of All Shipping.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—In a radio address to the world, President Roosevelt announced tonight that American naval forces have been ordered to shoot at German and Italian war craft on sight.

"From now on," the President said, "if German or Italian vessels of war enter waters the protection of which is necessary for American defense, they do so at their own peril."

The naval forces have been ordered to shoot if necessary to prevent axis attacks upon American, British, and all other shipping on the ocean lanes of the world, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Covers Broad Territory.

American warships and patrol bombers, the President declared, will attack axis war craft on sight wherever they may appear in what he described as "defensive waters."

In his definition of "defensive waters" he included "our line of supply of material to the enemies of Hitler." Thus he made it unmistakably clear that he intends to use force if necessary to protect shipments of American war materials to British and Russian forces in Europe, Asia, and Africa.

The President's statement that not only American but British and other merchant ships will be protected made it equally clear that British convoys will be escorted by American naval forces.

Proclaims Freedom of Seas.

The President announced that he had issued these orders to the naval forces in order to maintain what he called America's traditional policy of freedom of the seas—not only in the Atlantic but in the Pacific and in all other oceans.

Axis war craft must be driven from the sea lanes, Mr. Roosevelt argued, in order to forestall what he described as a "Nazi design to abolish the freedom of the seas and to acquire absolute control and domination of the seas for themselves."

The President's speech was by far the most belligerent and inflammatory utterance made by him since the outbreak of the European war. He denounced the Nazis as rattlesnakes, pirates, and international outlaws.

Hurls Accusations at Nazis.

The President accused Hitler of resorting to "unrestricted submarine warfare," thus evoking fearsome memories of the fateful days immediately preceding America's entry into the World war.

He accused Germany of committing acts of aggression against the United States, thus opening an escape door from the campaign pledges of himself and the Democratic party in 1940 not to participate in foreign wars "except in the case of attack."

Mr. Roosevelt based his accusations of the Nazis on four sea incidents heretofore announced and a fifth which he revealed for the first time tonight. This latter, he said, occurred in July, when "an American battleship in North American waters was followed by a submarine which for a long time sought to maneuver itself into a position of attack."

Other Incidents Listed.

The other incidents the President mentioned were the action between the American destroyer Greer and a German submarine off Iceland on Sept. 4, the sinking of the American freighter Robin Moor by a submarine in the South Atlantic, the torpedo sinking of the American operated freighter Sessa, flying the flag of Panama, off Iceland on Aug. 17, and the bomber sinking of the American freighter Steel Seafarer in the Red sea five days ago.

Earlier in the day two resolutions were introduced in the senate calling for an investigation of the Greer incident. They were introduced by Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] and Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.].

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The text of President Roosevelt's radio address follows:

"My fellow Americans:

"The navy department of the United States has reported to me that on the morning of Sept. 4 the United States destroyer Greer, proceeding in full daylight toward Iceland, had reached a point southeast of Greenland. She was carrying American

AIR FIGHTS RAGE DAY AND NIGHT IN LENINGRAD AREA

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 [Friday] (AP).—Soviet defenders of Leningrad are jabbing back at the Germans in a series of counterattacks while Red airmen and German dive bombers are engaged in constant day and night air battles on the fringes of the city, soviet military reports said today.

On the central front the Red army counterattacks have thrown the Germans back 12 miles in 24 hours at some points and have spread successfully to the north, the dispatches said. The Russians were pictured as forging ahead at the rate of 7 to 10 miles a day on the central front.

Naval pilots of the Baltic fleet were said to have joined the Leningrad air fights. Germans thus far have tried to raid Leningrad 123 times. The raids reached the city itself for the first time on Tuesday.

Strike on 400 Mile Front.

Approaches to both Leningrad and Kiev were said to be carpeted with German dead. Today's early morning communique gave no new details of the battles beyond a statement that stubborn fighting continued along the entire front.

Front line dispatches pictured Red troops as holding the initiative along a front of some 400 miles, from Gomel north to Yelnya and thence to Velikie Luki.

The Russians claimed that railway connection with Leningrad still was unbroken and said there was no confirmation of the reported German capture of Schluesselburg on Lake Ladoga east of Leningrad.

Picture of the Fronts.

CENTRAL FRONT—Tanks which crossed river "N" [believed to be the Dnieper] Wednesday and advanced six miles have pushed forward another 12 miles and captured 10 towns. The Gomel, Yelnya and Smolensk counterattacks continue.

A Red army attack against the village of Starina, on the west bank of the upper Dvina river, 135 miles northwest of Yelnya, has frustrated a German attempt to cross. Large forces concentrated at Starina and nearby Zapadnaya Dvina were forced to withdraw.

Russians captured, killed and wounded 12,000 German officers and men, destroyed 340 tanks and armored cars and 140 cannon in fierce fighting at Velikie Luki, 60 miles northwest of Starina.

Close on Nazi Held Town.

LENINGRAD—Russian defenders in five days of counterattack closed in on the German-occupied village of "Y." The numerically superior Germans attempted a counterdrive with artillery and plane support but were repulsed.

KIEV—Russians working under the fire of German guns have surrounded Kiev with an unbroken series of fortifications, anti-tank obstacles, trenches, and artillery emplacements. In 50 days of fighting at Kiev the Germans have lost 30,000 dead and wounded and hundreds of planes and tanks.

ODESSA—A "considerable part" of the Rumanian force which Gen. Ion Antonescu hurled against Odessa has been annihilated. This force was one-half of Antonescu's army.

GERMANS TAKE OVER CONTROL OF NORWAY UNIONS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 11 (AP).—The Quisling régime in Oslo asserted today that two days of strikes in the iron and shipbuilding industries of the Norwegian capital had ended after the execution by a firing squad of two Norwegian labor leaders.

Joseph Terboven.

The Oslo area was encircled by German troops. Vidkun Quisling's men took over complete control of both workers and employers' organizations in Norway, but the status of a general strike called for today remained uncertain.

The state of siege which Joseph Terboven, the German commissioner for Norway, proclaimed yesterday when German authorities reported discovering plans for the general strike in Oslo was expected to be extended to other areas of Norway.

Under authority granted by the state of siege, the Norwegian federation of labor was absorbed into Quisling's so-called corporative state structure. The head of the federation was ousted and arrested and the entire board of the employers' union was removed and put under police surveillance.

GERMANS SCOFF AT REDS' CLAIMS OF BATTLE GAINS

Leaflets Urge Leningrad to Surrender.

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—Scoffing at Russian claims of successful counterattacks on the central front, German military spokesmen tonight concentrated on besieged Leningrad, declaring that fires set by bombs and shells were raging in many sections of that old northern capital.

No general conflagration has yet been set, they said, in the hope that the Russians will "think it over" and decide to surrender the city before it is destroyed. Pamphlets urging the citizens to make that decision were dropped today, along with bombs.

There was no intimation when this avowed policy would change, Germans stating, "the time of Leningrad's capture will be determined by Germany and by no one else."

Prepare for Winter Weather.

A military spokesman raised the question of winter weather, saying the German army "does not fear winter," having made thoro preparations for that eventuality.

In any event, he said, it is safe to count on two months of good fighting weather in the north and more in the south, and "the most important decisions will fall before blizzards hamper operations."

All along the front, offensive operations were declared to be proceeding successfully.

Tanks Attack Nazi Lines.

Other German sources acknowledged that at one point a Russian tank thrust broke into the German lines, but said the Reds were repelled with loss of 68 out of 100 tanks at one point and that 3,700 attackers were captured at another. The Russian counterattacks were described as "bold," however.

In one village north of Kiev the Russians fought for each house, but were reported defeated, with 2,000 captured and 60 of their guns, 90 machine-guns and many motor vehicles seized.

Reports from the southernmost sector indicated the German air force again was concentrating on railways, claiming derailment of numerous trains.

News dispatches said that dive bombers had smashed a Russian submarine base on the Black sea, destroyed a number of submarines and sunk at 10,000 ton steamer which was trying to leave Odessa. Location of the base was not disclosed.

IDENTIFY BODY IN MORGUE.

A man who died in the Chicago hospital Wednesday after being found in a coma at 42d and State streets was identified yesterday as Axel Ekstrom, 50 years old, Stevensville, Mich. He had been living with friends at 11223 Edgebrook avenue.

COL. L. H. WHITING TO BE OBSERVER AT WAR GAMES

Col. Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture mart, will leave today for active duty with the army at Camp Polk, La. He is to be assigned as an observer of the war maneuvers near Leesville, La. Early this year Col. Whiting was appointed expert consultant to the secretary of war on matters relating to the army personnel system. In the World war he was chief personnel officer of the AEF.

STUDENT LOSES WALLET.

John B. Ross, 16 years old, who is on his way from Honolulu to New Haven, Conn., where he is to enter Yale, reported to police last night that he lost a wallet, with a diamond embossed strap, containing $100, at Rush and Oak streets.

TALLINN'S MAYOR TELLS OF TERROR UNDER RED RULE

150,000 Sent Into Exile or Massacred.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLINN, Estonia, Sept. 10 [Delayed].—During their 13 month occupation of Estonia, the communist officials sent by the bolshevik régime of Moscow massacred and exiled 150,000 persons, Arthur Terras, acting mayor of Tallinn, declared to me today.

This figure represents 10 per cent of the entire population of Estonia. Of Tallinn's 150,000 inhabitants, more than one-third were executed by the Russians as "class enemies." But during the soviet administration, the mayor said, almost 200,000 newcomers arrived in the city. They were mostly soviet officials and their families.

The Estonian inhabitants of the city grew less in number and more terrorized and the bolsheviks grew more arrogant.

Living Space Limited.

Typical regulations governing the life in Moscow, Leningrad, and other soviet cities were introduced. Each person was granted nine square yards of living space. Every apartment in the city was crowded with proletarians from the east. In the small presidential palace I saw four and five beds in every room, cheap iron frames with straw mattresses.

In Tallinn today, the mayor reported, there are only 10 physicians who have survived. One of the first soviet decrees provided free medical treatment. All physicians were placed on a salary. Chief surgeons and physicians directing hospitals and health services were paid 550 rubles [nominally $275] per month. Ordinary practicing physicians got 350 rubles [about $175]. A suit of clothes cost 1,200 rubles [about $600].

More than 90 of Tallinn's best medical men had gone to Germany with the repatriated German Balts. They soon will be returned. The remainder were forcibly removed to soviet cities to work on salaries.

Lawyer Class Wiped Out.

Tallinn no longer has lawyers. This outlawed category of bourgeois was wiped out. Most were shot in Tallinn, the others disappeared. Newspaper publishers and editors suffered the same fate.

As a class engineers were almost exempt from suppressive measures. The bolshevik has a respect for engineering knowledge. A slide rule offers some protection from the GPU [soviet secret police]. The engineers were all employed at salaries of 250 to 300 rubles [about $125 to $150]. Carpenters and skilled trades were paid more money than persons with a university education, but their salaries would not permit them to purchase a pair of shoes per month and leave them with sufficient funds to buy bread for 30 days.

Still a Food Producer.

"Tallinn was and still is the capital of a rich food producing country," the mayor continued. "We formerly exported many thousands of tons of butter annually to England.

"All our surplus food products during the past year have been sent to Russia. In exchange we received fresh trainloads of hungry, rapacious soviet officials. But there is no danger of famine. Just as soon as our railroads begin functioning again Tallinn will be plentifully supplied with food. Crops are good, the potato harvest excellent. In the southern part of the country, where there are richer farms, there is an abundance of food.

"Grocery stores were ruined, as were butcher shops. Their stocks were taken off to Russia. Private trade now is being restored, but there is little manufactured goods with which to trade.

Agonized Over Letters.

"Besides being terrorized, the Estonians have been agonized by the pitiful letters they have received from the victims of the class terror carried off to Russia.

"Children under 7 years of age were taken from their mothers, taken to children's homes and given different names. Older children accompanied the mothers to the collectivized farms. Letters declared they were treated like slaves. Some men wrote that they were separated from their families and sent to labor camps on the Volga-Don canal.

"Sometimes the freight trains used to carry off Estonians remained three and four days on the sidings in the freight yards here, the doors locked. We could hear despairing cries for water and food and that the doors be opened. We were unable to help and when crowds gathered, half mad with indignation, they, too, were arrested. Some were sent to join the exiles and others forced to labor on the fortifications south of the city.

Terroristic Methods Used.

"With 24 years of experience the communists have systemized their terrorist methods. Men arrested in Tallinn were told they were to be released. They signed a document and actually were let out of prison, only to be rearrested after walking a few steps. When their wives called to inquire after them, the police would show the signed document and say the prisoner had been freed and they did not know where he had disappeared to.

"On other occasions when men were shot, the person who next called to see him was handed a package containing the victim's clothes and that act revealed his fate.

"In Tallinn the building which formerly housed the Estonian army staff was used by the GPU. People avoided walking on that street. When the Leningrad district commissar, Zhdanov, arrived on his occasional visits he used the GPU building as headquarters and then the street was closed to traffic. We have found some lists in this building which revealed some of those who were shot."

Husband Is Peer

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Dr. Trevor Charles Stamp, 34 years old second son of the late Lord and Lady Stamp, will succeed to his father's title in the peerage, the house of lords decided today. The widow of Wilfred Stamp, eldest son, will be entitled to the rank of a peer's widow, the house ruled, deciding that Wilfred, who was fatally injured by a German bomb at the same time as his parents, momentarily outlived his father and succeeded to the title.

Lord Chancellor Viscount Simon recommended that Trevor Stamp should be called to the house of lords "as the third Lord Stamp." Wilfred left his widow, who will be entitled to style herself Katherine, Lady Stamp, and three daughters, but no son to carry on the line of direct succession. This brought about his younger brother's succession. While Trevor's wife was not mentioned in the lords' discussion, it was assumed she will be given the status of the wife of a living peer.

[Lord and Lady Stamp and Wilfred were killed on the night of April 16 when German bombs shattered their home at Shortlands, a London suburb. Trevor married Frances Dawes Bosworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, in their Evanston, Ill., home on April 5, 1932. Lord and Lady Stamp attended the ceremony. Trevor's wife, now mother of a 5 year old son, is a niece of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States.]

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Sept. 11.—The New Zealand government today was charged with using powers granted under war regulations to make laws covering domestic problems not related to the war. The house of representatives debated emergency regulations amending a bill which would extend the life of decrees already operating and validate those previously passed.

Opposition Leader Sidney G. Holland, arguing that "cautious and sparing use" of the decrees was necessary, claimed that those being issued were "10 to 20 times greater" than legislation passed by parliament. He said that the war powers have been used to cover the issuance of new licenses for taxicabs and also new decrees covering the operation of state lands.

Acting Prime Minister Walter Nash described the government's procedure as "natural and reasonable," and said that the government, "in general," endeavored to keep "inside the principles of the act concerned."

VICHY OFFICIALS CONFER IN PARIS ON RED VIOLENCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 11.—Minister of the Interior Pierre Pucheu conferred with Ambassador Fernand de Brinon in Paris today on the campaign of anti-Nazi violence and communism which the police and courts are repressing with vigor.

The special section of the French appeals court for repressing communists sentenced five men and two women to from two to five years in prison for distributing communist literature. In Clermont-Ferrand a military tribunal sentenced an electrician and a railway employé to five years each for communist activities.

Meanwhile it was expected that Paul Colette, "Free French" De Gaullist who shot former Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat, would be tried before an ordinary penal court.

Another "inspired" attack on German soldiery was reported yesterday in Douai, northern France.

[Other dispatches said that a policeman was shot in Douai by accomplices of communists whom he had arrested for distributing communist propaganda.]

RED M. P. CALLS CHURCHILL A LIAR, THEN APOLOGIZES

Premier Defends Cabinet Officer's Remarks.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 11. — Winston Churchill today exonerated Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, minister of aircraft production, of charges of hostility toward Russia, but in the process was called a liar and a blackguard by William "Willie" Gallacher, only communist member of parliament. Gallacher later apologized to the prime minister and to the house of commons for the "offensive words" he used.

William Gallacher.

Recent allegations by Jack Tanner, a Labor leader, that Moore-Brabazon expressed the hope that the Russian and German armies would exterminate each other produced the verbal altercation as well as the incidental disclosure that hundreds of planes already had been sent to Russia by the aircraft ministry.

At the outset, Gallacher said that "very deep and bitter feeling" existed among trade unionists over the minister's remark and demanded that Churchill "assure the workers that he will clear out of the government any one who is not 100 per cent for coöperation with the soviet government."

Churchill's Rejoinder.

"I do not think that I should be prepared to receive guidance in policy or conduct from the honorable gentleman, who, as it is notorious, has to change his opinions whenever he is ordered by a body outside this country," Churchill replied coldly.

Jumping to his feet and demanding withdrawal of this "insulting remark of the prime minister," Gallacher shouted:

"I have never at any time taken orders from any one outside this country. It is a dirty, cowardly, rotten action on the part of the prime minister. It is the action of a blackguard. It is a foul and dirty lie."

Gallacher Repents.

When the house had concluded its session, and the members were rising to leave, Gallacher, repentantly addressed the speaker:

"After very deep reflection about what occurred this morning, I want to apologize to you, sir, and to the house for the offensive words I used when I put to you my point of order and I want to make a complete withdrawal of the offensive remarks made and directed towards the prime minister."

The members cheered and filed out.

Churchill had told the house that on the day that Germany attacked Russia he had talked with Moore-Brabazon by telephone and advised him of "the line I was going to take that night"—a promise of all aid to the soviet.

Supports Premier's Policy.

He said that the aircraft production minister "wholeheartedly supported that line and expressed enthusiastic assent. Moreover, he has been ardently at work sending hundreds of fighter aircraft to Russia, many of which already have got there."

Concerning the accusation against Moore-Brabazon, Churchill said he was "astonished that any one could have taken the mischievous action of making this a sensation which does nothing but harm to Russia as well as Britain and leads to suspicion between those whose fortunes are linked together."

The prime minister added that the aircraft chief "is with us heart and soul—otherwise I should not have appointed him."

Demands Full Statement.

Emmanuel Shinwell, Laborite, demanded publication of the statement allegedly made by Moore-Brabazon after Gallacher asked Churchill if the statement represented the views of the government regarding Russia.

Churchill replied that the versions given the public of the minister's remarks at a private gathering "bear a construction which represents neither the policy of his majesty's government nor the views of the minister."

Russia Claims 'Provocations'

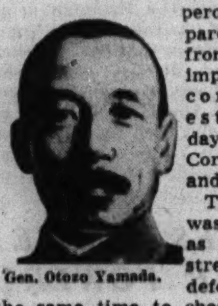
Russia yesterday accused Bulgaria of "provocative acts," including preparation of the Black sea ports of Varna and Burgas as bases for axis submarines and warships concentrated for a drive against the Caucasus, and threatened swift Red reprisals.

JAPANESE EMPEROR HEADS NEW DEFENSE HEADQUARTERS STAFF

TOKIO, Sept. 11 (AP).—A national defense headquarters under direct control of the emperor and apparently apart from the regular imperial high command was established today for Japan, Corea, Formosa, and Sakhalin.



Gen. Otozo Yamada.

The new system was interpreted as designed to strengthen home defense and at the same time to check militaristic domination of imperial policy and erect a barrier to possible dissatisfaction among the military group with the future course of events.

Gen. Otozo Yamada, an old line conservative whose fame dates back to the Russo-Japanese war, was named commander in chief of the new headquarters, answerable directly to Emperor Hirohito, in whose favor he is said to rank high.

All national defense activities of Corean and Formosan garrisons, as well as the air forces attached thereto, will be placed directly under the new headquarters. A new system of defense provides for the division of Japan proper into four military districts, the eastern, western, central and northern.

BELGIAN ARMY VINDICATED BY EXILED REGIME

'Gray Book' Upholds War Plan of Government.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Vindication of Belgium's foreign policy since 1936, her preparations for defense, and the conduct of her army until she was forced to capitulate were contained in a Gray book issued here today by the exiled Belgium government.

Official documents show that Belgium realized more than France and England the gravity of Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations in 1933, the axis negotiations in 1934, Germany's repudiation of the military, naval, and air clauses of the treaty of Versailles, and the announcement of conscription in 1935, and the reoccupation of the Rhineland in 1936.

Kept Policy Up to Date.

After each of these developments, it is shown Belgium reorientated her foreign and defense policies.

A new picture—an heroic one— is presented in the detailed account of the military preparations and the operations of the Belgian army. It is shown that the army surrendered only after it had become separated from the British and French forces by the surprise German break thru the defenses at Sedan, which necessitated the British-French withdrawal. The Belgian army was completely cut off from its bases and was without food and ammunition when it gave up, the Gray book asserts.

Called Turn On Nazis.

A "planted" document purporting to be secret instructions of the German high command, failed to fool the Belgians, the book reveals. It was found in a German plane which crashed while landing on Belgian soil in 1940 and it apparently contained orders for the German air force's part in a large scale invasion of Holland and Belgium. The Belgian government suspected it was a trick and subsequent developments are said to indicate it was just that, as the plan the document revealed was never carried out.

Adolf Hitler in a speech last July told how he had "deceived" the enemy in regard to the direction of the main attack and this airplane incident, some believe, was the deception he had in mind.

LOWER EGYPT TRAFFIC SYSTEM WRECKED BY BOMBS, NAZIS CLAIM

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—DNB, the official German news agency reported today that the entire traffic system of lower Egypt "is involved in damage wrought by continued German air force attacks." Munition dumps, anti-aircraft positions, truck columns, warehouses and port facilities at Tobruk, Libya, were bombed during the last two days, the agency added.

British Destroyer Hit—Rome.

ROME, Sept. 11 (AP).—Axis aerial bombs were declared by the Italian high command today to have hit a British destroyer east of Solum, Egypt, and a British merchant ship near Tobruk, Libya. German fighter planes were credited with shooting down five Hurricanes.

Claim 200 Axis Ships Lost.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 11 (AP).—Two hundred axis merchant ships totaling 651,000 tons have been lost in the Mediterranean and Red seas since Italy entered the war 15 months ago, an official British compilation showed today.

In London the admiralty reported that the 3,867 ton Italian tanker Maya had been sunk by a British submarine in the Aegean sea.

DECLARE SPAIN TO AID DEFENSE OF WEST AFRICA

Joins Staff Talks with French, Germans.

Vichy Orders Penalty

VICHY, France, Sept. 11 (AP).—The Vichy colonial administration in Africa today ordered the internment of persons reporting that Germans are in Dakar, France's reinforced West African base. Vichy has denied the presence of Germans in French West Africa.

[Dakar, at latitude 14:40 north, lies about 1,000 miles north of the equator near Liberia and the Ivory coast. It is notable for its violent storms, tornadoes, and sudden temperature changes.]

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

France, Germany, and Spain have worked out elaborate joint plans to defend West Africa, according to information reaching the Associated Press in New York today.

Belief that the United States and Great Britain some day will try to seize bases in the strategic French, Spanish, and Portuguese possessions across the South Atlantic has brought the three powers into virtual alliance, it is stated.

Three-way staff talks started months ago are said to have reached such a point that a permanent joint staff has been set up a Melilla, Spanish Morocco.

German Arms Shipped.

Steadily, German-produced arms are flowing down to Casablanca in French Morocco, Villa Cisneros in Spain's Rio de Oro, and Dakar.

Ships slipping out of French Mediterranean ports to scud across the Mediterranean to Oran, Algeria, go loaded with coastal and anti-aircraft guns, searchlight batteries, mines, knocked down 80 and 120 ton submarines and fast torpedo boats.

Germany, it is asserted, would like to extend the South Atlantic line of defense to little Portugal's Atlantic possessions—the the Azores, Madeira, and the Cape Verdes. Portugal, however, careful of her neutrality, turned down an invitation to participate in joint staff talks.

Germans Supply Material.

Following is the gist of the plan as outlined by the Associated Press' informants:

Germany will furnish material to fill out France's and Spain's war leftovers, give technical advice and assign needed technicians and specialists, including aviators; France will contribute the sizeable remnant of her once potent navy, planes, officers, and troops, and Spain's big Moroccan army will be the backlog of manpower.

Between June 20 and July 1 French ships transferred an estimated 3,000 men of Germany's famed Condor aviation unit.

BRITISH CANNON PLANES SWEEP NAZI AIRDROMES

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP).—Cannon carrying British Spitfire fighter planes raided northern France, Belgium, and Holland today, attacking airdromes and hangars of the occupied territories, the air ministry reported tonight.

The RAF raided northern Italy last night and early today for the first time since January, pour.ding Turin and other industrial cities with new 4 motored bombers in the heaviest attack there of the entire war. Explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped from new Stirling and Halifax warcraft making, in the 1,200 mile round trip, their first crossir.g of the Alps. Large fires were left burning in Turin, the air ministry said, where the main objective was the royal arsenal.

[Rome said two civilians were killed and several injured Wednesday night in attacks on both Turin and Genoa. French anti-aircraft guns at Vichy opened fire yesterday on a British plane, apparently en route to northern Italy.]

The British middle east command at Cairo disclosed that the RAF attacked the Sicilian city of Messina Tuesday night and pounded docks and quays at Palermo on Monday.

The RAF lost 558 bombers in western Europe between April 1 and Sept. 8, Capt. Harold H. Balfour, undersecretary of state for air, disclosed in the house of commons.

NEW BRAIN TRUST TO KEEP UNTRUTH FROM PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—A new kind of "brain trust" to protect President Roosevelt and his aids from false information reaching this country from foreign sources has been created by Col. William J. Donovan, coördinator of defense information, it was learned today.

Recognizing the great difficulty of sifting the truth from the misinformation disseminated in a propaganda conscious world, the President assigned Col. Donovan the task of working out a system which would filter available information in such a way as to present the nearest possible approximation to truth. The filtered product would be used as basis for official action.

With this task in mind, Col. Donovan called to Washington Dr. James P. Baxter, III, president of Williams college, and made him the head of the new "brain trust" whose job is to direct the filtering operation. It might be called a "syphoning board."

Hitler Receives Hungarian Chieftains on War Front

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—Adolf Hitler has received Hungarian officials and new envoys of Spain, Portugal, and Denmark at his headquarters on the eastern front, it was announced tonight. Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy and Premier Laszlo de Bardossy of Hungary visited the Fuehrer from Monday until yesterday.

[The visit was believed to have accounted for sudden interruption of international communication with Budapest Wednesday night. Communications were cut off presumably pending the regent's safe return.]

"Potato Jones," Blockade Runner, Seized in France

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BIARRITZ, France, Sept. 11.—Capt. "Potato Jones," notorious blockade runner of the Spanish civil war, was jailed in St. Jean de Luz today on charges of supplying the French bootleg market with smuggled English liquor. The crusty Basque skipper, whose name is Lezo Urruzrieta, was arrested when he tried to sell contraband whisky to a detective posing as a liquor wholesaler.

Slovakia Puts New Tax on Jews; Curbs Marriages

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, Sept. 11.—The Slovak cabinet today decided to levy a special tax on Jewish property, and to prohibit Jewish-Aryan marriages.

Biddle Gets 6th Diplomatic Job; Envoy to Czech Exiles

Washington, D. C., Sept 11 (AP).—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. of Pennsylvania received an additional diplomatic assignment from President Roosevelt today to go along with the five he has had for many months. He was nominated to be American minister to the Czecho-Slovakian government in exile in London, where he already serves as this country's diplomatic representative to the exiled governments of Poland, Belgium, Norway, the Netherlands, and Jugo-Slavia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A movement to make former Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies a member of the British cabinet by first having him come to Britain and enter politics is being sponsored at Westminster by Liberal Edgar Granville, according to the Evening Standard. The invitation has been extended to him in Canberra.

[Menzies resigned as prime minister on Aug. 28 after a row with the Australian Labor party over his desire to go to London in his capacity as premier to take an active hand in the prosecution of the war. He was succeeded by the deputy prime minister, Arthur W. Fadden.]

France Bans Publication of Newspapers on Sunday

VICHY, France, Sept. 11.—France will be without Sunday newspapers after Sept. 21, it was announced today. The occupied zone has permitted newspapers to publish only six days weekly for many months and the same regimen now has been adopted by the ministry of information in the unoccupied zone.

NAZI 'MESSAGES' BY AIR READ INTO SPY CASE RECORD

Witness Tells of Pleas for Export Data.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent James C. Ellsworth today produced in court a succession of messages purported to be from a German "outlaw" radio station calling upon friends in America to furnish details of American production and export of planes to Britain and France.

Read into evidence at the trial of 16 men on espionage charges, one message, received by a "spy radio station" operated by the FBI on Long Island since May 31, 1940, said: "Need urgently from all friends monthly production airplane factories, exports to all countries, especially to England and France; number, type, date of delivery by steamer or air; armature or armament; payment cash and carry or credit. Rose has $200 for you not for Stein. Greetings."

Agent Identifies Messages.

Earlier Morris H. Price, another FBI agent, took the stand and for more than an hour identified sheafs of messages purportedly sent to and received from the reich's spy headquarters.

Price, said the FBI assigned him to operate a radio station at Centerport, N. Y., about May 27, 1940, and added that he had done so until about four days ago.

It was declared earlier in the trial that the station was built and maintained by the FBI, on information supplied by William G. Sebold, who was assigned by the Hamburg Gestapo to maintain an espionage communication system in the United States.

Once in German Army.

Sebold, a naturalized American who served in the German army during the World war, said that he informed the FBI of his assignment and that under FBI supervision, hundreds of messages were sent and received during the last 18 months.

United States Attorney Kennedy said that of 298 sent by the station and 203 received, he was introducing into evidence only a handpicked hundred of each category. The others, indicating the trend in communications when the FBI roundup was in progress and conveying other information which the prosecution did not wish to disclose now, were being held in abeyance, he said.

Price admitted that under the intricate code system used, some mistakes had been made in deciphering.

The code, he said was based on certain pages of popular novels, indicated numerically.

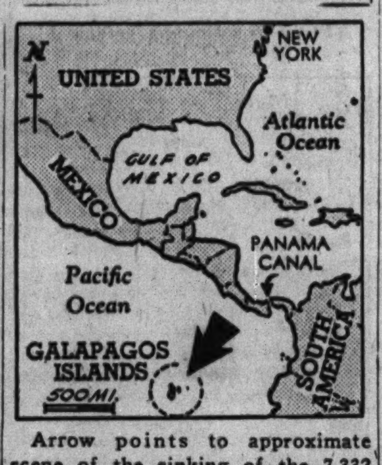
Gen. Brant to Command U.S. Base in Newfoundland

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Gerald C. Brant, 61 years old, commanding officer of the gulf coast air corps training center at Randolph Field, Tex., was assigned by the war department today as chief of the Newfoundland base command. He succeeds Brig. Gen. Henry W. Harms, 53, who has been commander since July 3. Harms will take command of the air base at Pendleton, Ore.

Utah Filling Stations, Short of Workers, Adopt Curfew

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 11 (AP).—Utah gasoline retailers will close their filling stations nightly from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m., effective Sept. 15. Conscription and attractive jobs in armaments industries have produced a shortage of attendants, the operators explained. In addition, the curfew was planned as a conservation measure, altho there is no imminent shortage in the mountain states.

Scene of Sinking



Arrow points to approximate scene of the sinking of the 7,332 ton Dutch motorship Kota Nopan. According to New York shipping sources she was victim of a German raider.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—A German raider operating in the Pacific ocean about 1,000 miles west of the Panama canal has sunk the 7,322 ton Dutch motorship Kota Nopan and threatened other vessels, shipping sources said today. The action was said to have taken place in the general locale of the Galapagos Islands.

The Kota Nopan, which had a crew of 48 and accommodations for 12 passengers, was said to be carrying rubber, tin, and palm oil to the United States from Batavia, East Indies.

Sink Danish Ship.

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—DNB, official news agency, reported today the 1,831 ton Danish refrigerator ship Chilean Reefer, operating in the service of Great Britain, had been sunk. There were no other details.

Icelandic Ship Torpedoed.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—V. Thor, chairman of the Icelandic government trade commission, said today the 1,215 ton Icelandic vessel Hekla was sunk in late June by a German submarine while en route from Iceland to Canada. Thor said the vessel was torpedoed and that 14 members of the crew were lost and six survivors were picked up by a British warship. No Americans were among the crew.

AMERICANS MUST RETURN SOON OR LOSE CITIZENSHIP

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—Several thousand naturalized Americans who have lived in foreign countries beyond the time limit permitted by the nationality act of 1940 will lose their American citizenship unless they return to the United States by October 14.

Some naturalized Americans, desirous of returning to this country, have ben stranded in belligerent territory or other areas which they have been unable to leave.

The nationality act of 1940 provides, with some exceptions, that a naturalized American shall lose his citizenship by residing two years in the country where he was born, or residing continuously for five years in any other foreign state.

CAR KILLS PUPIL, 8, ON WAY HOME AT LUNCH TIME

Robert Rundell, 8 years old, 1839 21st street, was injured fatally yesterday by an automobile in front of his home as he returned from school for lunch. The driver was Earl Iverson, 16, of 6149 North Hoyne avenue, the son of Harry J. Iverson, head of an advertising agency at 208 West Monroe street. The Rundell boy, an orphan, lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Slewrok.

Barney Ruth, 64, of 1907 South Harding avenue, a peddler, died last night in St. Anthony's hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 5 when he was run down by an automobile at Ogden and Springfield avenues. The driver was Charles Machek, 35, of 3009 South Kenneth avenue.

Charles Russell, 59, colored, 4853 St. Lawrence avenue, who was struck by an automobile at 41st street and South Park way on Sept. 7, died yesterday in People's hospital. The driver was Robert F. Grimm, 38, of 26 South Kensington avenue, La Grange.

Mrs. Annie Harris, 69, colored, 1440 South Lowe avenue, Chicago Heights, who was injured on Sept. 8 when the car in which she was riding hit a tree at 15th and Center streets in the suburb, died yesterday in St. James hospital. William Amos, colored, the driver, also was injured.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 649 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 447 were killed in Chicago, where 17,404 were injured.

Reports Theft of $5,660 in Valuables from Home

Mrs. Elizabeth Lordo, 6939 Chappel avenue, reported to police last night that jewelry and clothing valued at $4,200 had been stolen from her home. Included were two rings, valued at $4,200, and a wrist watch which cost $1,200. Her husband, Peter, owns a cocktail lounge at 446 South State street.

TAKE $235 AT TAVERN.

Two bandits entered the tavern at 4158 Chicago avenue last night and took $235 from the till.

FIRING ON NEWS BOAT DEFENDED IN NAVY REPORT

Craft in Restricted Area, Department Says.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—The navy department said today that newspaper men who were fired upon at the naval air station at Seattle, Wash., on Sept. 4 "were fully aware of the limits about the naval air station that were considered restricted areas."

According to the navy's official account, four shots were fired "well forward of the boat," occupied by the news men, by a guard using a .45 caliber pistol. The boat, the navy said, had been ordered to halt.

The navy account was a report from the commandant of the 13th naval district at Seattle on the incident which occurred upon the arrival at Seattle from Sitka, Alaska, of two Russian planes carrying Moscow officials.

Tells of Explanations.

The navy said that staffs of the daily newspapers in Seattle had received careful explanations of "the regulations concerning restricted areas now in force at the naval air station."

When the first plane came in, the report said, two small boats circled it and moved with it toward the loading ramp, well within the defense area, the outer limit of which was given as 100 yards from the ramp.

"These two boats, now within 100 feet of the ramp," it said, "were warned by sentries whistle to move out. This they refused to do and came even closer.

"A crash boat was then ordered to bring them in, and upon approach of the crash boat one of the small craft started to speed away.

Guard Fires Four Shots.

"Four warning shots to halt were fired well forward of the boat by a guard, using a .45 caliber pistol. At the fourth shot, the boat stopped and the crews of both boats were brought ashore."

Films in the cameras, the report said, were developed by the navy and "many of the pictures showed clearly the industrial section of the naval air station."

The navy said that the boat which attempted to flee contained "photographers attached to the Seattle Times," while the boat which stopped when ordered to do so contained "photographers from the Post-Intelligencer."

NO OIL SHORTAGE, SO END CURB, SAY SENATE QUIZZERS

Accuse Ickes of Creating Needless Alarm.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—A special senate committee today accused Oil Coördinator Harold L. Ickes of creating "unnecessary alarm" in declaring oil shortages and imposing curbs on consumption. The committee found that no shortage in petroleum products or transportation facilities exists and recommended immediate removal of restrictions.

Senator Maloney.

This was the second major blow this week for Ickes, the oil dictator who imposed rationing of petroleum products and instituted a 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew on sales of gasoline in the east, while maintaining a private filling station on his Maryland estate. On Tuesday the Supply Priorities and Allocations board [SPAB] refused priorities on steel for construction of an Ickes-sponsored 2,000 mile pipeline from Texas to New York—an 80 million dollar project.

The senate committee, headed by Senator Francis Maloney [D., Conn.], filed a preliminary report after two weeks of investigation into the petroleum situation and warned it may hold further hearings when necessary. The committee was appointed and began its work after hysteria was created along the eastern seaboard by Ickes' decrees, backed only by threats, curbing oil consumption. The public was warned by Ickes and associates of dwindling supplies because of the transfer of oil tankers to Great Britain, reducing transportation facilities.

Many critics accused Ickes and his cohorts of deliberately imposing the restrictions to give the public a feeling of "sacrifice" believed an essential part of war propaganda by creating an impression of urgent need by Britain. The British, however, have scoffed at the transfer of tankers to them, saying they were necessary to supply the industrial east, according to English trade journals.

Calls Alarm Unnecessary.

The committee absolved Ickes of a "war scare," however.

"The committee believes," said the report adopted unanimously by the five senators on the committee, "that in the handling of the petroleum problem unnecessary alarm was created. We are of the opinion that this was caused by an overenthusiasm on the part of those charged with the direction of the petroleum situation.

"The committee has no desire to assume credit for its small effort, nor to criticize those charged with the coördinating effort, but feels duty bound to make the observation that had an adequate analysis been made by those to whom the responsibility of coördination was delegated, the confusion of the past few months might have been avoided."

The fact finding group then recalled the testimony of John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, and Ralph Budd, transportation commissioner of the rearmament program, to the effect that adequate railroad transportation facilities, including 20,000 idle tank cars, are available to supplant any shortages created by the loss of tankers.

"Their testimony favorably impressed and satisfied the committee," the report continued, "altho it should be reported that the acting petroleum coördinator [Ralph K. Davies] and at least one or two others who testified were reluctant to accept the accuracy of the statements of Mr. Budd and Mr. Pelley.

"Our conclusions may best be summed up by stating that there is no shortage of petroleum products—nor a shortage, as of this date, of transportation facilities—but that the whole frightening picture, from the standpoint of the coördinator's office, seems to lie in the fact that the shortage, which has excited the activity of the coördinator, is really a 'shortage' in a large surplus which is desired. Paradoxical as it sounds, the shortage, as we see it, is a shortage of surplus."

DON'T LAUGH YET!

This is One-Pants Egbert.

But don't laugh. Not yet, anyhow. Even if you know the answer, there's still a little bit of Egbert in some of the neighbors.

Some day the presser is going to decide to take a fling at Hollywood, or come down with appendicitis, or suddenly become the father of twins.

Then what's going to happen to the One-Pants Egberts?

If they're smart, they'll become fathers of "twins", too. At Bond's—where 2 trousers go with every suit. And "pressing headaches" go out the window.

Maybe a personal valet and a closet full of clothes would also solve the problem. But for most of us, extra trousers are the best bet. For that extra margin of safety. For extra wear.

AMERICAN NAVY TO SHOOT FIRST, SAYS PRESIDENT

Nazis Must Be Driven Off Sea, He Declares.

mail to Iceland. She was flying the American flag. Her identity as an American ship was unmistakable.

"She was then and there attacked by a submarine. Germany admits that it was a German submarine. The submarine deliberately fired a torpedo at the Greer, followed later by another torpedo attack. In spite of what Hitler's propaganda bureau has invented, and in spite of what any American obstructionist organization may prefer to believe, I tell you the blunt fact that the German submarine fired first upon this American destroyer without warning, and with deliberate design to sink her.

In Self-Defense Waters.

"Our destroyer, at the time, was in waters which the government of the United States had declared to be waters of self-defense—surrounding outposts of American protection in the Atlantic.

"In the north of the Atlantic outposts have been established by us in Iceland, Greenland, Labrador, and Newfoundland. Thru these waters there pass many ships of many flags. They bear food and other supplies to civilians, and they bear material of war, for which the people of the United States are spending billions of dollars, and which, by congressional action, they have declared to be essential for the defense of our own land.

"The United States destroyer, when attacked, was proceeding on a legitimate mission.

"If the destroyer was visible to the submarine when the torpedo was fired, then the attack was a deliberate attempt by the Nazis to sink a clearly identified American warship. On the other hand, if the submarine was beneath the surface of the sea and, with the aid of its listening devices, fired in the direction of the sound of the American destroyer without even taking the trouble to learn its identity—as the official German communique would indicate—then the attack was even more outrageous. For it indicates a policy of indiscriminate violence against any vessel sailing the seas—belligerent or nonbelligerent.

Attack After Attack.

"This was piracy—piracy legally and morally. It was not the first nor the last act of piracy which the Nazi government has committed against the American flag in this war. For attack has followed attack.

"A few months ago an American flag merchant ship, the Robin Moor, was sunk by a Nazi submarine in the middle of the South Atlantic under circumstances violating long established international law and violating every principle of humanity. The passengers and the crew were forced into open boats hundreds of miles from land in direct violation of international agreements signed by nearly all nations including the government of Germany. No apology, no allegation of mistake, no offer of reparations has come from the Nazi government.

"In July, 1941, an American battleship in North American waters was followed by a submarine which for a long time sought to maneuver itself into a position of attack upon the battleship. The periscope of the submarine was clearly seen. No British or American submarines were within hundreds of miles of this spot at the time, so the nationality of the submarine is clear.

The Sessa Torpedoed.

"Five days ago a United States navy ship on patrol picked up three survivors of an American owned ship operating under the flag of our sister republic of Panama—the S. S. Sessa. On Aug. 17 she had been first torpedoed without warning, and then shelled, near Greenland, while carrying civilian supplies to Iceland. It is feared that the other members of her crew have been drowned. In view of the established presence of German submarines in this vicinity, there can be no reasonable doubt as to the identity of the attacker.

"Five days ago, another United States merchant ship, the Steel Seafarer, was sunk by a German aircraft in the Red sea, 220 miles south of Suez. She was bound for an Egyptian port.

"So four of the vessels sunk or attacked flew the American flag and were clearly identifiable. Two of these ships were warships of the American navy. In the fifth case, the vessel sunk clearly carried the flag of our sister republic of Panama.

"In the face of all this, we Americans are keeping our feet on the ground. Our type of democratic civilization has outgrown the thought of feeling compelled to fight some other nation by reason of any single piratical attack on one of our ships. We are not becoming hysterical or losing our sense of proportion. Therefore, what I am thinking and saying tonight does not relate to any isolated episode.

Long Range Viewpoint.

"Instead, we Americans are taking a long range point of view in regard to certain fundamentals and to a series of events on land and on sea which must be considered as a whole—as a part of a world pattern.

"It would be unworthy of a great nation to exaggerate an isolated incident, or to become inflamed by some one act of violence. But it would be inexcusable folly to minimize such incidents in the face of evidence which makes it clear that the incident is not isolated, but part of a general plan.

"The important truth is that these acts of international lawlessness are a manifestation of a design which has been made clear to the American people for a long time. It is the Nazi design to abolish the freedom of the seas, and to acquire absolute control and domination of the seas for themselves.

"For with control of the seas in their own hands, the way can become clear for their next step—domination of the United States and the western hemisphere by force. Under Nazi control of the seas, no merchant ship of the United States or of any other American republic would be free to carry on any peaceful commerce, except by the condescending grace of this foreign and tyrannical power. The Atlantic ocean, which has been and which should always be, a free and friendly highway for us would then become a deadly menace to the commerce of the United States, to the coasts of the United States, and even to the inland cities of the United States.

Close Great Sea Areas.

"The Hitler government, in defiance of the laws of the sea and of the recognized rights of other nations, has presumed to declare, on paper, that great areas of the seas—even including a vast expanse lying in the western hemisphere—are to be closed, and that no ships may enter them for any purpose, except at peril of being sunk. Actually they are sinking ships at will and without warning in widely separated areas both within and far outside of these far flung pretended zones.

"This Nazi attempt to seize control of the oceans is but a counterpart of the Nazi plots now being carried on thruout the western hemisphere—all designed toward the same end. For Hitler's advance guards—not only his avowed agents but also his dupes among us — have sought to make ready for him footholds and bridgeheads in the new world, to be used as soon as he has gained control of the oceans.

Intrigues in New World.

"His intrigues, his plots, his machinations, his sabotage in this new world are all known to the government of the United States. Conspiracy has followed conspiracy.

"Last year a plot to seize the government of Uruguay was smashed by the prompt action of that country, which was supported in full by her American neighbors. A like plot was then hatching in Argentina, and that government has carefully and wisely blocked it at every point. More recently, an endeavor was made to subvert the government of Bolivia. Within the past few weeks the discovery was made of secret air landing fields in Colombia, within easy range of the Panama canal. I could multiply instances.

"To be ultimately successful in world mastery, Hitler knows that he must get control of the seas. He must first destroy the bridge of ships which we are building across the Atlantic, over which we shall continue to roll the implements of war to help destroy him and all his works in the end. He must wipe out our patrol on sea and in the air if he is to do it. He must silence the British navy.

British Navy Must Survive.

"It must be explained again and again to people who like to think of the United States navy as an invincible protection, that this can be true only if the British navy survives. And that my friends is simple arithmetic.

"For if the world outside the Americas falls under axis domination, the shipbuilding facilities which the axis powers would then possess in all of Europe, in the British Isles, and in the far east would be much greater than all the shipbuilding facilities and potentialities of all the Americas—not only greater, but two or three times greater. Even if the United States threw all its resources into such a situation, seeking to double and even redouble the size of our navy, the axis powers, in control of the rest of the world, would have the man power and the physical resources to outbuild us several times over.

"It is time for all Americans of all the Americas to stop being deluded by the romantic notion that the Americas can go on living happily and peacefully in a Nazi-dominated world.

Freedom of Seas Policy.

"Generation after generation, America has battled for the general policy of the freedom of the seas. That policy is a very simple one—but a basic, fundamental one. It means that no nation has the right to make the broad oceans of the world at great distances from the actual theater of land war unsafe for the commerce of others.

"That has been our policy, proved time and time again, in all our history.

"Our policy has applied from the earliest days of the republic—and still applies—not merely to the Atlantic but to the Pacific and to all other oceans as well.

"Unrestricted submarine warfare in 1941 constitutes a defiance—an act of aggression—against that historic American policy.

"It is now clear that Hitler has begun his campaign to control the seas by ruthless force and by wiping out every vestige of international law and humanity.

"His intention has been made clear. The American people can have no further illusions about it.

No Lullabies Now.

"No tender whisperings of appeasers that Hitler is not interested in the western hemisphere, no soporific lullabies that a wide ocean protects us from him, can long have any effect on the hard headed, far sighted, and realistic American people.

"Because of these episodes, because of the movements and operations of German warships, and because of the clear, repeated proof that the present government of Germany has no respect for treaties or for international law, that it has no decent attitude toward neutral nations or human life—we Americans are now face to face not with abstract theories but with cruel, relentless facts.

"This attack on the Greer was no localized military operation in the North Atlantic. This was no mere episode in a struggle between two nations. This was one determined step toward creating a permanent world system based on force, on terror, and on murder.

Green Light of Destruction.

"And I am sure that even now the Nazis are waiting to see whether the United States will by silence give them the green light to go ahead on this path of destruction.

"The Nazi danger to our western world has long ceased to be a mere possibility. The danger is here now—not only from a military enemy but from an enemy of all law, all liberty, all morality, all religion.

"There has now come a time when you and I must see the cold inexorable necessity of saying to these inhuman, unrestrained seekers of world conquest and permanent world domination by the sword—'You seek to throw our children and our children's children into your form of terrorism and slavery. You have now attacked our own safety. You shall go no further.'

"Normal practices of diplomacy—note writing—are of no possible use in dealing with international outlaws who sink our ships and kill our citizens.

"One peaceful nation after another has met disaster because each refused to look the Nazi danger squarely in the eye until it actually had them by the throat.

"The United States will not make that fatal mistake.

"No act of violence or intimidation will keep us from maintaining intact two bulwarks of American defense: First, our line of supply of material to the enemies of Hitler, and second, the freedom of our shipping on the high seas.

"No matter what it takes, no matter what it costs, we will keep open the line of legitimate commerce in these defensive waters of ours.

Seek No Shooting War.

"We have sought no shooting war with Hitler. We do not seek it now. But neither do we want peace so much that we are willing to pay for it by permitting him to attack our naval and merchant ships while they are on legitimate business.

"I assume that the German leaders are not deeply concerned tonight or any other time by what we Americans say or publish about them. We cannot bring about the downfall of Nazism by the use of long range invective.

"But when you see a rattlesnake poised to strike you do not wait until he has struck before you crush him.

"These Nazi submarines and raiders are the rattlesnakes of the Atlantic. They are a menace to the free pathways of the high seas. They are a challenge to our own sovereignty. They hammer at our most precious rights when they attack ships of the American flag—symbols of our independence, our freedom, our very life.

Time to Defend Americas.

"It is clear to all Americans that the time has come when the Americas themselves must now be defended. A continuation of attacks in our own waters, or in waters which could be used for further and greater attacks on us, will inevitably weaken American ability to repel Hitlerism.

"Do not let us be hair splitters. Let us not ask ourselves whether the Americas should begin to defend themselves after the fifth attack, or the 10th attack, or the 20th attack.

"The time for active defense is now.

"Do not let us split hairs. Let us not say—"we will only defend ourselves if the torpedo succeeds in getting home, or if the crew and the passengers are drowned.

"This is the time for prevention of attack.

"If submarines or raiders attack in distant waters, they can attack equally well within sight of our own shores. Their very presence in any waters which America deems vital to its defense constitutes an attack.

America Won't Wait.

"In the waters which we deem necessary for our defense, American naval vessels and American planes will no longer wait until axis submarines lurking under the water, or axis raiders on the surface of the sea, strike their deadly blow—first.

"Upon our naval and air patrol—now operating in large number over a vast expanse of the Atlantic ocean—falls the duty of maintaining the American policy of freedom of the seas—now. That means, very simply and clearly, that our patroling vessels and planes will protect all merchant ships—not only American ships but ships of any flag—engaged in commerce in our defensive waters. They will protect them from submarines; they will protect them from surface raiders.

"This situation is not new. The second President of the United States, John Adams, ordered the United States navy to clean out European privateers and European ships of war which were infesting the Caribbean and South American waters, destroying American commerce.

"The third President of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, ordered the United States navy to end the attacks being made upon American ships by the corsairs of the nations of North Africa.

A Clear Obligation.

"My obligation as President is historic; it is clear; it is inescapable.

"It is no act of war on our part when we decide to protect the seas which are vital to American defense. The aggression is not ours. Ours is solely defense.

"But let this warning be clear. From now on, if German or Italian vessels of war enter the waters, the protection of which is necessary for American defense, they do so at their own peril.

"The orders which I have given as commander in chief to the United States army and navy are to carry out that policy—at once.

"The sole responsibility rests upon Germany. There will be no shooting unless Germany continues to seek it.

"That is my obvious duty in this crisis. That is the clear right of this sovereign nation. That is the only step possible, if we would keep tight the wall of defense which we are pledged to maintain around this western hemisphere.

Calls for Courage.

"I have no illusions about the gravity of this step. I have not taken it hurriedly or lightly. It is the result of months and months of constant thought and anxiety and prayer. In the protection of your nation and mine it cannot be avoided.

"The American people have faced other grave crises in their history—with American courage and American resolution. They will do no less today.

"They know the actualities of the attacks upon us. They know the necessities of a bold defense against these attacks. They know that the times call for clear heads and fearless hearts.

"And with that inner strength that comes to a free people conscious of their duty and of the righteousness of what they do, they will—with divine help and guidance—stand their ground against this latest assault upon their democracy, their sovereignty, and their freedom."

Calls on Roosevelt

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—President Roosevelt conferred for an hour and a half today with Constantine A. Oumansky, the soviet ambassador, apparently on supply problems for the Russian army. Secretary of State Cordell Hull was present thruout the interview, which was sought by the ambassador.

In the absence of a definite announcement, it was assumed that Ambassador Oumansky urged a speed up of aid for his country, inasmuch as it has been reported that Premier Joseph Stalin recently made a strong appeal along that line to Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador in Moscow.

Whether lease-lend aid was specifically suggested by the ambassador was not revealed, nor was it indicated whether he made any report on the military situation. Asked if the far eastern situation figured in the discussion, Hull told reporters: "We just discussed matters between this country and Russia."

ROOSEVELT SAID:
(Jan. 3, 1936)

"Peace is threatened by those who seek selfish power. The world has witnessed similar eras—as in the days when petty kings and feudal barons were changing the map of Europe every fortnight, or when great emperors and great kings were engaged in a mad scramble for colonial empire.

"We hope we are not again at the threshold of such an era. But if face it we must, then the United States and the rest of the Americas can play but one role:

"Thru a well ordered neutrality to do naught to encourage the contest, thru adequate defense to save ourselves from embroilment and attack, and thru example and all legitimate encouragement to persuade other nations to return to the ways of peace and good will."

NAZIS THREATEN REPRISALS OVER IRAN DEMANDS

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—German authorized quarters threatened broad reprisals today if Britain and Russia persist in their demand for surrender and extradition of German nationals in Iran. "Not only Iranians in Germany but subjects of certain other nations" might become subject to reprisals, they said.

The latest reports from the German legation in the Iranian capital, received yesterday, indicated that as yet the legation still was officially uninformed concerning the British-Russian demand regarding the German nationals.

[Dispatches from Teheran Wednesday said that a mixed commission had decided that German residents of Iran named on British-Russian blacklists as leading Nazi agents would be handed over to Britain and Russia for immediate internment. A special train was arranged to transport 225 Germans out of the country last night, with another 50 leaving later.]

ARMY REPORTS LOW HOSPITAL RATE IN AUGUST

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—The war department today reported that 87 out of every 1,000 soldiers in the army were hospitalized for all causes during August, a rate considered extremely low.

Highest hospitalization rate—115—was in the 4th corps area, with headquarters at Atlanta, a region where maneuvers were underway, and the second highest—105—was in the 7th corps area, with headquarters at Omaha, Neb., where a high rate of admissions at Camp Robinson, Ark., boosted the hospital level of the entire area. The lowest rate was 45 for the 2d corps area, with headquarters in New York City.

"The incidence of venereal disease is low, except in the 4th and 8th [San Antonio, Tex.] corps areas, which includes the areas of the greatest maneuver activity," a war department statement said.

2 NEW METEOR CRATERS FOUND IN WEST TEXAS

Austin, Tex., Sept. 11 [Special].—Two craters formed by falling meteors ages ago have been found a few miles from Odessa, in west Texas, near the giant meteorite crater now being explored by WPA project workers, under the direction of geologists of the University of Texas. This was announced today by Dr. H. Sellars, head of the bureau of economic geology of the university.

One of the newly found craters has a diameter of 70 feet at the top and is 17 feet deep. The other is slightly smaller. The larger of the two craters contains nearly 7,000 pieces of the meteor, with a total weight of nearly six tons.

Dr. Sellars said the giant crater previously discovered measures more than 500 feet across at the top.

WARN COUNTRY F. D. R. DECLARES UNOFFICIAL WAR

Radio Speech Assailed by Non-Interventionists.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—President Roosevelt's speech tonight was termed an unofficial declaration of war by noninterventionists as well as many who have been staunch supporters of the administration's foreign policy in the past.

One of the first to announce that he had parted company with Mr. Roosevelt on the administration's stand was Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.], who has supported every piece of foreign policy legislation brought before congress since the outbreak of the European war, including the repeal of the arms embargo and so-called lease-lend bill for aid to Britain.

Challenges the Administration.

Enforcing the doctrine of freedom of the seas far from American shores will cost the lives of hundreds of thousands of American youths, he warned, challenging the administration to send a war resolution to congress where he promised it would be quickly rejected.

"I consider the speech an alarming and terrorizing message, tantamount to an unofficial declaration of war," the senator declared shortly after the President had concluded. "Many of us, including members of the foreign relations committee, who are against the entry of the United States in another foreign war, were assured when the lease-lend bill and the neutrality legislation were before us that such legislation would preserve peace. Now there is a complete reversal of form."

Gets Closer to Shooting.

Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.] warned that the nation is getting close to a shooting war.

"The President has told the country what his course of action will be in the event axis ships appear within certain sea zones," said Martin, who is minority leader in the house. "This means we are getting closer to the shooting."

The speech received the unqualified approval of the war monger members of congress and administration wheel horses. Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, described the speech as "eloquent and clear exposition" and predicted its general acceptance by the people of the United States.

BERLIN SILENT ON TALK

BERLIN, Sept. 12 [Friday] (AP).—Official silence today met President Roosevelt's broadcast warning that axis naval units and aircraft entering areas deemed vital to American security would risk destruction.

German commentators in anticipation of the speech earlier had denounced the President, and Adolf Hitler's newspaper carried a red-underscored headline: "War Monger Roosevelt Needs Provocation Corpses."

The article in the Voelkischer Beobachter added that the President was "on a feverish search for possibilities of further friction."

Ordinarily the controled press waits 24 hours to react to public utterances abroad, because it takes that long for the higher-ups to lay down the guiding lines for comment, but this time the unofficial German view was that the tone of Mr. Roosevelt's speech had been suggested in advance by his previous speeches together with recent statements of the American government on torpedoed and bombed American ships.

Rap "Propaganda Appeal."

The authoritative commentary Dienst aus Deutschland, which sometimes expresses the views of the German foreign office, said:

"It did not go unobserved in Berlin with what propaganda appeal the reports of the sinking of United States freighters off Iceland and the Red sea were given to the American public.

"From the German standpoint they appeared undoubtedly as an attempt to create the necessary atmosphere for an announced declaration of Roosevelt, inasmuch as such sought-for incidents are piled up in order to excite public opinion in the United States."

Recall Hitler's Warning.

Referring to the case of the United States destroyer Greer [which the United States declared was attacked in Icelandic waters by a German submarine] Dienst recalled Hitler's declaration that any ship coming within range of German guns within blockade zones would be subject to attack.

The German press was even more angry in reference to the United States government's approval of American citizens traveling homeward from Britain on belligerent ships.

The President, said the Lokal Anzeiger, "consciously puts American citizens in the position where they must jeopardize their lives and whereby one has to assume a great probability of many North Americans losing their lives. By their sacrifice the war monger of the White House wants to promote his policy of hatred."

"U. S. Closer to War": Canada.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 11 (AP).—The immediate Canadian reaction to President Roosevelt's broadcast tonight was that it brought the United States another step closer to actual participation in the shooting war. A year ago the same words would have been hailed as practically a declaration of war against Germany and Italy.

Chile Orders Seizure of 11 Nazi Military Unit Chiefs

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 11 (AP).—Judge Manuel Montero today issued an order for detention and questioning of 11 Germans alleged to be leaders of various units in the militarized Nazi organization in Santiago province. Police immediately rounded up all but one, who was absent from this capital.

People Should Know Truth.

"Personally, I believe there is no better argument against our intervention than a study of the causes and developments of the present war. I have often said that if the true facts and issues were placed before the American people, there would be no danger of our involvement.

"Here, I would like to point out to you a fundamental difference between the groups who advocate foreign war and those who believe in an independent destiny for America. If you will look back over the record you will find that those of us who oppose intervention have constantly tried to clarify facts and issues; while the interventionists have tried to hide facts and confuse issues.

"We ask you to read what we said last month, last year, and even before the war began. Our record is open and clear, and we are proud of it. We have not led you on by subterfuge and propaganda. We have not resorted to 'steps short of' anything in order to take the American people where they did not want to go. What we said before the elections we say 'again, and again, and again' today. And we will not tell you tomorrow that it was 'just campaign oratory.'

Calls Subterfuge Obvious.

"Have you ever heard an interventionist, or a British agent, or a member of the administration in Washington, ask you to go back and study a record of what they have said since the war started? Are these self-styled defenders of democracy willing to put the issue of war to a vote of our people? Do you find these crusaders for foreign freedoms advocating the freedom of speech, or the removal of censorship here in our own country?

"The subterfuge and propaganda that exists in our country is obvious on every side. Tonight I shall try to pierce thru a portion of it to the naked facts which lie beneath.

"When this war started in Europe, it was clear that the American people were solidly opposed to entering it. Why shouldn't we be? We had the best defensive position in the world; we had a tradition of independence from Europe; and the one time we did take part in a European war left European problems unsolved, and debts to America unpaid.

"National polls showed that when England and France declared war on Germany in 1939, less than 10 per cent of our population favored a similar course for America.

Pro-War Groups Named.

"But there were various groups of people here and abroad whose interests and beliefs necessitated the involvement of the United States in the war. I shall point out some of these groups tonight, and outline their methods of procedure. In doing this, I must speak with utmost frankness, for in order to counteract their efforts, we must know exactly who they are.

"The three most important groups who have been pressing this country toward war are the British, the Jewish and the Roosevelt administration. Behind these groups, but of lesser importance, are a number of capitalists, Anglophiles, and intellectuals who believe that their future, and the future of mankind, depends upon the domination of the British empire.

"Add to these the communistic groups who were opposed to intervention until a few weeks ago, and I believe I have named the major war agitators, not of those sincere but misguided men and women who, confused by misinformation and frightened by propaganda, follow the lead of the war agitators.

Only a Small Minority.

"As I have said, these war agitators comprise only a small minority of our people; but they control a tremendous influence.

"Against the determination of the American people to stay out of war, they have marshaled the power of their propaganda, their money, and their patronage.

"Let us consider these groups, one at a time. First, the British. It is obvious and perfectly understandable that Great Britain wants the United States in the war on her side. England is now in a desperate position. Her population is not large enough, and her armies are not strong enough to invade the continent of Europe and win the war she declared against Germany. Her georgraphical position is such that she cannot win the war by the use of aviation alone, regardless of how many planes we send her. Even if America entered the war, it is improbable that the allied armies could invade Europe and overcome the axis powers.

Can Shift Responsibility on U. S.

"But one thing is certain. If England can draw this country into the war she can shift to our shoulders a large portion of the responsibility for waging it, and for paying its cost. As you all know we were left with the debts of the last European war and unless we are more cautious in the future than we have been in the past we will be left with the debts of the present one.

"If it were not for her hope that she can make us responsible for the war financially, as well as militarily, I believe England would have negotiated a peace in Europe many months ago, and be better off for doing so.

"England has devoted and will continue to devote every effort to get us into the war. We know that she spent huge sums of money in this country during the last war in order to involve us. Englishmen have wrtten books about the cleverness of its use. We know that England is spending great sums of money for propaganda in America during the present war.

"If we were Englishmen we would do the same. But our interest is first in America and, as Americans, it is essential for us to realize the effort that British interests are making to draw us into their war.

A Dangerous Policy.

"The second major group mentioned is the Jewish. It is not difficult to understand why Jewish people desire the overthrow of Nazi Germany. The persecution they suffered in Germany would be sufficient to make bitter enemies of any race. No person with a sense of the dignity of mankind can condone the persecution the Jewish race suffered in Germany. But no person of honesty and vision can look on their pro-war policy here today without seeing the dangers involved in such a policy, both for us and for them.

"Instead of agitating for war the Jewish groups in this country should be opposing it in every possible way, for they will be among the first to feel its consequences. Tolerance is a virtue that depends upon peace and strength. History shows that it cannot survive war and devastation. A few farsighted Jewish people realize this and stand opposed to intervention. But the majority still do not. Their greatest danger to this country lies in their large ownership and influence in our motion pictures, our press, our radio, and our government.

Using War as a Pretext.

"The Roosevelt administration is the third powerful group which has been carrying this country toward war. Its members have used the war emergency to obtain a third presidential term for the first time in American history. They have used the war to add unlimited billions to a debt which was already the highest we had ever known. And they have used the war to justify the restrictions of congressional power, and the assumption of dictatorial procedures on the part of the President and his appointees.

"The power of the Roosevelt administration depends upon the maintenance of a wartime emergency. The prestige of the Roosevelt administration depends upon the success of Great Britain to whom the President attached his political future at a time when most people thought that England and France would easily win the war. The danger of the Roosevelt administration lies in its subterfuge. While its members have promised us peace they have led us to war heedless of the platform upon which they were elected.

If One Stops, All Stop.

"In selecting these three groups as the major agitators for war, I have included only those whose support is essential to the war party. If any one of these groups—the British, the Jewish, or the administration—stops agitating for war, I believe there will be little danger of our involvement. I do not believe that any two of them are powerful enough to carry this country to war without the support of the third. And to these three, as I have said, all other war groups are of secondary importance.

"When hostilities commenced in Europe, in 1939, it was realized by these groups that the American people had no intention of entering the war. They knew it would be worse than useless to ask us for a declaration of war at that time. But they believed that this country could be enticed into the war in very much the same way we were enticed into the last one. They planned, first, to prepare the United States for foreign war under the guise of American defense; second, to involve us in the war, step by step, without our realization; third, to create a series of incidents which would force us into the actual conflict. These plans were, of course, to be covered and assisted by the full power of their propaganda.

Start Glorifying War.

"Our theaters soon became filled with plays protraying the glory of war. Newsreels lost all semblance of objectivity. Newspapers and magazines began to lose advertising if they carried anti-war articles. A smear campaign was instituted against individuals who opposed intervention. The terms fifth columnist, traitor, nazi, anti-semetic were thrown ceaselessly at any one who dared to suggest that it was not to the best interests of the United States to enter the war.

"Men lost their jobs if they were frankly anti-war. Many others dared no longer speak. Before long, lecture halls that were open to advocates of war were closed to speakers who opposed it. A fear campaign was inaugurated. We were told that aviation, which has held the British fleet off the continent of Europe, made America more vulnerable than ever before to invasion. Propaganda was in full swing.

"There was no difficulty in obtaining billions of dollars for arms under the guise of defending America. Our people stood united on a program of defense. Congress passed appropriation after appropriation for guns and planes and battleships, with the approval of the overwhelming majority of our citizens. That a large portion of these appropriations was to be used to build arms for Europe, we did not learn until later. [That was another step.]

Planes Sent Abroad.

"To use a specific example; in 1939 we were told that we should increase our air corps to a total of 5,000 planes. Congress passed the necessary legislation. A few months later, the administration told us that the United States should have at least 50,000 planes for our national safety. But almost as fast as fighting planes were turned out from our factories, they were sent abroad, altho our own air corps was in the utmost need of new equipment.

"Today, two years after the start of war, the American army has only a few hundred thoroly modern bombers and fighters, less, in fact, than Germany is able to produce in a single month. Ever since its inception, our arms program has been laid out for the purpose of carrying on the war in Europe far more than for the purpose of building an adequate defense for America.

The Old Refrain Begins.

"Now at the same time we were being prepared for a foreign war it was necessary, as I have said, to involve us in the war. This was accomplished under that now famous phrase, 'steps short of war.' England and France would win if the United States would only repeal its arms embargo and sell munitions for cash, we were told. And then a familiar refrain began, a refrain that marked every step we took toward war for many months, . . . 'the best way to defend America and keep out of war,' we were told, was 'by aiding the allies.'

"First, we agreed to sell arms to Europe; next, we agreed to loan arms to Europe; then, we agreed to patrol the ocean for Europe; then, we occupied a European island in the war zone. Now we have reached the verge of war.

"The war groups have succeeded in the first two of their three major steps into war. The greatest armament program in our history is under way. We have become involved in the war from practically every standpoint except actual shooting. Only the creation of sufficient 'incidents' yet remains and you see the first of these already taking place, according to plan—a plan that was never laid before the American people for their approval.

Democracy Being Tested.

"Men and women of Iowa: Only one thing holds this country from war today. That is the rising opposition of the American people. Our system of democracy and representative government is on test today as it has never been before. We are on the verge of a war in which the only victor would be chaos and prostration. We are on the verge of a war for which we are still unprepared, and for which no one has offered a feasible plan for victory—a war which cannot be won without sending our soldiers across the ocean to force a landing on a hostile coast against armies stronger than our own.

"We are on the verge of war, but it is not yet too late to stay out. It is not yet too late to show that no amount of money, or propaganda, or patronage, can force a free and independent people into war against its will. It is not yet too late to retrieve and to maintain the independent American destiny that our forefathers established in this new world.

Time to Speak Up.

"The entire future of America rests upon our shoulders. It depends upon our action, our courage, and our intelligence. If you oppose our intervention in this war, now is the time to make your voice heard. Help us to organize these meetings, and write to your representatives in Washington.

"I tell you that the last stronghold of democracy and representative government in this country is in our house of representatives and our senate. There we can still make our will known. And if we, the American people, do that, independence and freedom will continue to live among us, and there will be no foreign war."

F. D. R. ENVOY HAS 2D PARLEY WITH VATICAN LEADER

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11 (AP).—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, conferred today with Cardinal Luigi Maglione, papal secretary of state, for the second time in two days in an important exchange of views between the White House and the Vatican.

War and peace aims, it was indicated last night, figured largely in the talks between Taylor and Pope Pius XII. and the cardinal yesterday.

Taylor spent an hour with the cardinal. He plans to leave tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Taylor for Florence to spend the week-end at their villa and then return for another audience with the pope next week before starting back to the United States.

Declares Reds Had 31,000 Planes Before War Started

New York, Sept. 11 [Special].—The soviet air force contained an estimated 31,000 military aircraft last January, many equal to the best German planes, according to an article in the current issue of Flying and Popular Aviation by James H. L. Peck, author of aviation books, who flew for the Loyalists in Spain. His figures, he wrote, are based on statistics last January and do not include naval aircraft or civil planes.

Examine 125 Applicants for Highway Patrol Jobs

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 11 (AP).—State police officials today were examining 125 applicants for positions on the highway patrol force before opening the school, which will train officers Sept. 22 at the State Fair grounds. Similar physical and mental examinations were taken by 65 applicants last Monday in Chicago.

WARNS WORLD UNION WOULD VOID U. S. RIGHTS

For the United States to join a world-wide federal union of nations would be to surrender the rights won by Washington and the Declaration of Independence. This assertion was made last night by John W. Maselter, a speaker for the America First committee, in a debate with Julian J. Steen, president of the Chicago School of Adults.

They spoke in the Hamilton hotel at a meeting sponsored by the Chicago Institute of Public Debate. Steen urged that America enter a union of world democracies as a practical step to insure peace. Maselter replied that America stood to lose by such a partnership.

The debating institute will hold another meeting in the hotel tonight. The speakers will be Dean W. F. Clarke of the De Paul university law school and Prof. Maynard C. Krueger of the University of Chicago. They will discuss the question of war or peace for America.

NAVY SHOWS OFF ITS NEWEST SHIP, A 70 TON BOMBER

BY WAYNE THOMAS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 11.—The navy today revealed to civilian eyes its newest battleship—a 140,000 pound flying boat that is being assembled here at the Glenn L. Martin company's Middle River plant. The craft is the largest flying boat in the world and provides the navy with a counterpart of the army's giant B-19 bomber which is the largest land plane in the world.

The new Martin boat, however, is far from complete. Cradled in enormous steel frames, its 117 foot hull and 200 foot wings merely show the outline of the boat that is to be. The engines are not fitted—they will be four 2,000 horse power duplex Cyclone motors. Essential tail surfaces, wing tips, internal controls and wiring are yet to be added.

"Static" Tests Under Way.

At this time Martin engineers have rigged a series of hydraulic jacks under the wings to conduct a series of bending and twisting tests. These will determine the ultimate fitness of this particular wing to carry the great stresses that flight will impose.

The navy is secretive about the expected performance of the new boat, now designated as the XPB2M-1. Unofficially, it is understood that a top speed of almost 200 miles an hour is expected with a cruising speed of about 150 miles an hour. It is to be heavily armed, as evidenced by gun turrets protruding from the hull in a dozen places, and will carry both bombs and torpedoes.

Cross Atlantic and Return.

Joseph T. Hartson, executive vice president of the Martin company, said that like the army's B-19, this new plane will carry sufficient fuel in its tanks to fly across the Atlantic and back without a stop. Primarily, he said, it is to be a long range patrol bomber. It will be able to cover vast areas of sea at high speed, be able to base in virtually any harbor that can shelter the navy's surface vessels, and its load of bombs can be measured in tons.

"Actual construction of the big boat was begun a year ago," Hartson said, "although the original design was submitted in 1937. Since that time many modifications have been made in the engineering for the big ship—lessons we can assume were taught by the experience of combatants in the European war.

"One point in particular we can admit is that the XPB2M-1 is intended for high altitude operations. The boat will be able to stay far above the effective range of anti-aircraft fire. But the best features of this plane must be made public later when the navy is ready to disclose the amazing proportion of useful load it is able to carry in ratio to its empty weight."

In Experimental Stage.

This new boat is an experimental type of which only one has been ordered.

For the present the navy's long range Consolidated PBY series of bimotored and four motored planes, and Martin's PMB-1, 2 and 3 series of bimotored planes are considered the backbone of the naval air force. These boats weigh about one-third as much as the XPBM2M-1, and their ranges vary from 4,000 to 5,000 miles.

Naval authorities in Washington recently told the writer that boats as large as the new craft have yet to prove their worth over smaller craft. The only way to determine whether they are worth their cost, about $1,000,000 each, was to buy one and put it in service in competition against the smaller boats with slightly less range and general seaworthiness.

The army's B-19, with which the new Martin boat was compared, is undergoing flight tests at March field, California. This land bomber weighs four tons more than the flying boat. It, too, is an experimental model, of which only one has been ordered.

PLAN MILWAUKEE SERVICE IN HONOR OF GEN. MITCHELL

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11 [Special]. —A memorial service will be held at Mitchell park at 1:30 p. m. Sunday for the late Gen. William [Billy] Mitchell of Milwaukee under the auspices of the Gen. Mitchell post of the American Legion.

The speakers will include John Cudahy, former ambassador to Belgium, Mayor Carl F. Zeidler of Milwaukee, and John L. Bohn, president of the common council, and W. F. Goodrich, commander of the William Mitchell American Legion post of Detroit, Mich.

There will be music by the Cape May, N. J., Legion post band and the Minneapolis Legion chorus of 50 voices will sing.

In Divorce Court

MRS. MILDRED JONES.

Mrs. Mildred Wilson Jones, 27 years old, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort from Gerald Jones, 45, an executive of the J. C. Penney company of Philadelphia, Pa., operators of merchandise stores. Her suit charged desertion. Attorney Floyd Kinley, representing Mrs. Jones, said a substantial out of court settlement had been made. She was married to Jones on Dec. 4, 1936, and they were separated Aug. 25, 1940.

FORT SHERIDAN'S OWN TAKES PART IN FIELD EXERCISE

Anti-Aircraft Outfit Acquits Self Well.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnfield, La., Sept. 11.—The 40th coast artillery anti-aircraft brigade from Fort Sheridan, Ill., is taking an important part in the extensive field maneuvers being held in this area.

The brigade, which arrived at Lake Village, Ark., on Aug. 28, is composed of the 61st and 210th coast artillery [anti-aircraft] and equipment plus one battalion of the 103d coast artillery. It is commanded by Brig. Gen. John Homer.

With the exception of the 61st regiment, these forces were attached to the 2d cavalry division during the corps maneuvers just ended, their task being to provide anti-aircraft defense for the division. The job was rather simple, since no air force took part in the preliminary exercises.

Sent to "Red" Corps.

The 61st coast artillery, under the command of Col. Carl Hocker, was detached from the brigade and assigned to the provisional Red corps during the simulated conflict waged against Blue forces. The 61st provided anti-aircraft protection for the 5th and 6th infantry divisions, which comprised the Red invading forces.

Last Saturday the 61st was reassigned to the 1st armored division to furnish anti-aircraft protection for tanks during the final phase of the corps exercises. Its job was to cover important defiles and other strategic points along the armored division's route in its attack on Blue forces.

Does Well on Mission.

The 61st is partially equipped with modern 3-inch anti-aircraft guns and mobile carriages. It has had considerable practice in firing at moving targets and is one of the best units in the maneuvers.

One of the primary duties of anti-aircraft forces is to obtain good concealment and camouflage, a mission the Fort Sheridan forces fulfilled well. No searchers found them.

WAR DEPT. LISTS PLANES FOR USE AT MANEUVERS

Admits Shortage; Says Quality Is High.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—The army war games, which begin next Monday, will bring into actual operation "the finest air force in the world from the point of view of quality of aircraft," Assistant Secretary of War for Air Robert A. Lovett said today.

"In point of quantity, we still have a long way to go," Lovett said, "but production is now beginning to roll and our share of it from here on should enable us to equip combat units at the rate of about one squadron every other day. This rate should increase in the coming months."

His statements on the quality of American aircraft, according to Lovett, are based on the best information available from abroad.

Seven New Types of Planes.

The commanders of the 2d and 3d air task forces, coöperating in the two weeks of maneuvers in Louisiana, will have seven new types of warplanes—light bombers, dive bombers, two types of medium bombers, and three types of pursuit ships.

Lovett listed each type and its performance as follows:

A-24 dive bombers. Two squadrons of these planes will make their debut in the war games. Highly effective against moving targets, such as motor and mechanized convoys and hostile troops, dive bombers are used particularly with ground forces to clear obstacles in their path. The A-24 is the same plane as the navy's SBD and recognized as "the finest in existence."

Bomber also a Fighter.

Douglas A-20, light [attack] bomber. Also is superior to anything in its class, according to army tests. It is so fast that the British use it as a night fighter under the name of "Havoc."

[The British "Havoc," altho a prototype of the A-20, is at least 1,200 pounds lighter, is powered with a less powerful engine and has a much slower landing speed.]

Combining the best features of the attack plane and a light, fast bomber, the A-20 is designed for use with ground troops, speeding ahead to bomb hostile ammunition dumps, bridges, troop concentrations and larger obstacles that demand the use of dive bombers.

North American B-25 and Martin B-26, medium bombers. With a top speed only slightly less than certain famous fighter types currently used abroad, the B-25 has range, speed, and load abilities superior to any foreign medium bomber. The Martin B-26 has a slightly higher top speed than the B-25 and its high cruising speed makes it the fastest bomber of its class in the world.

Lockheed P-38. Fastest military plane in the world today. It mounts 37 mm. cannon and .50 caliber machine guns, its two supercharged engines give it a performance of well over 400 miles an hour with a full military load.

Bell P-39. One of the fastest and most heavily armed combat planes in existence. It mounts 37 mm. cannon and .50 and .30 caliber machine guns. It has no equal as a middle altitude fighter and for attack on ground targets.

Curtis P-40 E. Also a single engined plane. Mounts six .50 caliber machine guns and has a fine performance and maneuverability at altitudes at which bomber interceptions are now taking place.

STIMSON QUOTES LINCOLN IN BID TO GAG ARMY CRITICS

Raps 'Agitators' for Hurting Morale.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Taking a cue from President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today quoted from Abraham Lincoln and drew a parallel. Like Roosevelt, the secretary did not point out that when Lincoln spoke the nation was at war.

Stimson told a press conference that Lincoln had defended his imposition of death penalties for army deserters during the Civil war in a letter in which the Civil war President also asserted that steps should be taken to "silence agitators."

Lincoln felt, Stimson said, that such steps not only would be constitutional but would be "a great mercy" as a means of protecting soldiers.

"That applies to 1941?" a reporter asked.

Raps Critics of Army.

The secretary refused to amplify his suggestion that freedom of speech and the press be curbed. He noted that there has been "debate going on outside the army in which critics, under our rule, are free to criticise the whole purpose for which the army is being trained." He said such criticism does not make for improvement of morale, but did not explain the "purpose for which the army is being trained." There has been a great deal of debate in congress as to whether the army is being trained for defense purposes or to serve as an expeditionary force abroad.

A few weeks ago, at a press conference, Mr. Roosevelt quoted Lincoln and drew a parallel that this country has not yet awakened to the fact that there is a war to be won. The President predicted that the war may last until 1943, and before it is won somebody is going to get hurt.

Wheeler Insult Retracted.

In his recent effort to silence critics of the army program, Stimson assailed Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], noninterventionist leader, as "near the line of subversive activities against the United States, if not treason" for sending out anti-war postcards, some of which fell into the hands of men in the army on being forwarded from their home addresses.

Stimson was forced to apologize when Wheeler proved that he had not addressed the soldiers directly and was not seeking to undermine army morale. It was reported that Stimson leveled his charge at Wheeler at the suggestion of the White House. No apology came from the executive mansion to the senator.

At his press conference today, Stimson said army morale is not so hopeless as some critics might have the people think.

MIXED JUDICIAL SLATE INDICATED BY DEMOCRATS

Seven Sitting Republicans Hope to Keep Jobs.

Democratic conferences yesterday indicated that the slate proposed last week for the judicial election on Nov. 4—the one built around nomination of the 20 sitting judges of the Superior court whose terms expire this year—will be carried out by the county judicial convention this morning.

It also was reported that the convention will adopt resolutions strongly supporting the principle of coalition for the purpose of reëlecting sitting judges altho the Republican convention last Monday went on record against coalition and is expected to nominate a Republican ticket of 21 candidates when it resumes business next Monday.

Seven Want to Keep Jobs.

The seven Republicans among the 20 whose terms end next December already have accepted invitation to run in the Democratic column.

The 20, in the order in which their qualifications were rated in a poll of the Chicago Bar association, are the following:

1. William H. McSurely, R.
2. John M. O'Connor, D.
3. John P. McGoorty, D.
4. John C. Lewe, D.
5. John F. Haas, R.
6. John J. Lupe, R.
7. Oscar Hebel, R.
8. Ulysses S. Schwartz, D.
9. Robert C. O'Connell, R.
10. E. I. Frankhauser, R.
11. James F. Fardy, D.
12. M. L. McKinley, D.
13. Joseph A. Graber, D.
14. Peter H. Schwaba, D.
15. Charles A. Williams, D.
16. Rudolph F. Desort, D.
17. William J. Lindsay, D.
18. Walter T. Stanton, D.
19. Francis B. Allegretti, D.
20. Oscar F. Nelson, R.

Ward to Get Vacancy.

A 21st place, a vacancy caused by the death of Denis E. Sullivan, and filled temporarily by Gov. Dwight Green's appointment of Edgar A. Jonas recently, is scheduled to go to State Senator Harold G. Ward.

Immediately after the county judicial convention the Democratic city convention will meet to nominate, because of deaths, a chief justice and an associate justice of the Municipal court. These are slated to go to Edward S. Scheffler, a Democrat, now temporarily chief justice, and to Samuel Heller, Republican, a former associate justice.

Legion to Start Sifting 500 Proposed Resolutions Today

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11 [Special]. —Members of the resolutions assignment committee of the American Legion will begin the work tomorrow morning of winnowing more than 500 proposed legislative pronouncements.

Many of these are said to deal pro and con with the questions of war or peace and aid to Russia. As convention business sessions neared it was reported that one faction of legion leaders already here was counseling caution against any prowar resolution.

It also was held that most opposition to the interventionist policy of national legion officers would come on the question of aid to Russia. Many delegates were said to be ready to launch a storm of protest from the floor when this matter is brought before the convention.

Lawrence J. Smith, recently elected to congress from the 1st district of Wisconsin, arrived in Racine and said he would speak against a war resolution if he can get away from Washington. Smith, elected on an isolationist platform in an election in which the one issue was war or peace, will take his oath as a congressman on Monday.

"I believe the country is looking to the legion for a definite stand at this time," said Smith, who is chairman of the child welfare committee. "I feel certain that the rank and file is for peace and I shall speak my convictions if I am able to get to the convention."

In a report prepared for convention delivery by Chairman Harry A. Sullivan of Denver, Colo., the foreign relations committee denounced the totalitarian powers as international bandits. The report said that the committee disapproved of any compromise in American dealings with the axis powers.

The committee condemned communism as well as Nazism and Fascism, and Chairman Sullivan said in conclusion:

"Your committee has kept in mind the clear cut statement of its predecessor committee for continued peace for America—'The adoption of a foreign relations policy which will avert involvement in international disturbances and leave our nation in its continued enjoyment of peace, with its sovereignty and independence secure.'

"Your committee believes it is doubly important for all members of the American Legion to watch developments closely, 'to do our own thinking and to analyze propaganda, whether it emanates from abroad or at home' [as stated by the worthy predecessor committee], and to reaffirm our readiness to assist the national cause as our national leaders may demand."

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

People the Masters.

To the extent of my ability I shall take care as the Constitution itself expressly enjoins upon me, that the laws of the Union be faithfully executed in all the states. Doing this I deem to be only a simple duty on my part; and I shall perform it so far as practicable, unless my rightful masters, the American people, shall withhold the requisite means, or in some authoritative manner direct the contrary.

MR. HODES' VARIETY SHOW.

The versatile mayor of New York, who on his home grounds rants with the communists and grovels to royalty at every opportunity, seems to have come to Chicago to announce that a New York morning newspaper is to be started in this city.

The Little Flower can now return to his election campaign in New York, where the people give indications of being bored by his ebullient form of government. Certainly the Republicans of the city will resent his effort to steal the nomination of their party, thru the unsuccessful effort of the hack judge, Pecora, to bar from the ballot the mayor's only rival in the party primary.

Led by Mr. La Guardia's damp fireworks and Barney Hodes' variety show, the gathering at the Coliseum was something of a flop. Rear Admiral Byrd and Miriam Hopkins sent regrets, and Gov. Green apparently had too much political sense to appear in such an affair.

Our own mayor seemed to be trying to carry salt water on both shoulders, what with his vague forebodings of Hitler's economic warfare and his appeal to an audience of obvious alien sympathies not to have their hearts "half over there and half over here." It was not clearly apparent from Mr. Kelly's remarks on which side of the Atlantic he thinks an American's loyalties should rest; but charity will concede that he meant this side.

In an atmosphere of carnival ballyhoo, and before an audience recruited by ward committeemen, communists, and tea table belligerents, the only wholly sincere and admirable speakers were the representatives of our armed services. They were present, it is presumed, under orders, but they disarmed any possible criticism of their appearance by the simple expedient of assuming that the meeting was what it was advertised to be and so obviously was not—a defense rally.

Maj. Gen. Cummins struck an obviously popular note when he said that the nation is not building an army for war or aggression, but for defense. His statement was an honest expression of the thought of the overwhelming majority of the officers who are working valiantly and intelligently to augment our national security. The country would feel safer if the employment of the forces they are building rested on their discretion. The war mongers are not in uniform.

Had the Coliseum rally been what it was represented to be—honestly in the interest of national defense—it could have filled Soldiers' field rather than the hall where it was held, and without any political recruiting of attendance. The people of Chicago and the middle west are no less insistent upon adequate defense than those of any other section of the country. What they resent is the attempt of the war ranters to pervert the defense drive to their own ignoble ends.

A BOURGEOIS ARMY.

The war department announced on Friday that the strength of the army is now 1,580,775 officers and men. Included are half a million regulars, a quarter of a million National Guardsmen, and 700,000 conscripts.

This is the biggest army we have ever had in time of peace, but that is not the only respect in which it is unusual. A sociologist surveying this army would be struck with the fact that the white collar classes have contributed disproportionately large numbers to the roster.

The National Guard, of course, contained relatively few industrial workers, proletarians, or farmers. It was recruited very largely from among white collar men in the cities and towns.

For a number of reasons the proportion of white collars among the conscripts is, if not so large as in the Guard, still considerably larger than might have been expected. All classes have not contributed alike under the draft. Some industrial workers have been allowed to stay at home on the theory that their labor is required for the national defense. Very few middle class boys and probably not many farm boys got off on that account. The deferments granted to men with dependents worked to much the same effect, for, by and large, the white collar boys marry later and therefore have fewer dependents.

Even among the regulars the proportion of boys from bourgeois families is far larger than it used to be. The depression sent many of them into the army, where they were preferred because of superior education. Later the draft and the extension of the draft encouraged others to enlist in the belief they could get ahead faster and get out just as soon.

This army of 1941 is something new. Maybe it contains a bourgeois majority. It is not to be doubted that the bourgeois elements in it are the dominant ones. That fact may go a long way toward explaining the difficulties the army has been having with morale. These boys are relatively well educated and in their schooling and home life have been encouraged to be self-respecting and to think for themselves. With proper handling they could be made into as good soldiers as the world has ever seen, but a type of army training which was devised for a very different sort of recruit will not work well with this material. These young men are not intractable, but they will resent any assumption that they are socially or intellectually inferior.

The New Dealers don't understand this army. They think of armies as being composed of the uneducated and the dispossessed, of the kind of people who swung to the New Deal because it gave them something for nothing. This isn't that kind of an army. It doesn't like Roosevelt, if we may judge from a recent report in The Nation, an interventionist paper, by a correspondent who took the trouble to interview 352 soldiers on leave in New York. "Many of the recruits," he reported, "considered Adolf Hitler far less their enemy than Franklin D. Roosevelt." They didn't say that because they admired Hitler, but because, as this same correspondent wrote, "they detested Roosevelt."

These are facts and relationships which will bear watching.

COMMISSAR HENDERSON AND MR. NELSON.

Two innovations in the relations of government and business were announced in Washington on Wednesday. As usual, the new policies are in conflict with each other. One of them may be constructive; the other is revolutionary and destructive.

Mr. Donald Nelson, as executive director of the Supply Priorities and Allocation board—the newly created SPAB—has been authorized to find out how much of the various raw materials will be needed for all armament purposes and when these quantities will be required. This move suggests that his board has determined to put an end to the uncertainty surrounding business, and particularly small business, as a result of the chaotic administration of priorities. If the government once determines what supplies it needs, most of the difficulties will disappear. The government will have first call upon production, and when its needs have been met civilian industries can bid for the rest in the open market, as usual.

By and large, the government's share, including the requirements for lend-lease export, will not be overwhelmingly large. The best estimates are that three-quarters of the steel production, for example, will be available for civilian uses and, with steel output at its present record rate, there should be no severe stringency.

This is a nation of more than 130 million people. Of them, only a million and a half—a little more than 1 per cent—are in the army. The army needs machines of many sorts, but its requirements, in view of its size, cannot swamp the stupendous productive capacity of American industry or consume more than a fraction of the raw materials which are available. If we send as much war stuff overseas as we supply to our own forces we shall still not have begun to cause really serious shortages of most of the raw materials of industry and even these shortages can, for the most part, be overcome quickly. If there is a lack of copper, for example, it can be corrected in short order by letting the price rise sufficiently to permit the reopening of some of the higher cost copper mines.

The Nelson inventory of government requirements might, therefore, be regarded as a first step toward reducing the existing chaos. The other decision of the day, which turned over to Mr. Leon Henderson the authority to limit production in civilian industry, is of another sort. Mr. Henderson has been authorized to tell the automobile makers how many cars they may produce and to impose similar restraints upon paper makers, printers and publishers, manufacturers of lumber and other building materials, producers of plumbing supplies, electrical products, rubber goods, and a variety of other commodities.

Mr. Henderson is to be a commissar, not an administrator within the framework of American government. He represents the view which has been apparent from the first days of the New Deal, that the government must not merely regulate industry; it must run it. He will not let the consumers decide for themselves in the market place what they want and what is good for them. He will decide these questions for them, but whether on the basis of his personal preferences or with a view to favoring some producers at the expense of others is not stated.

Mr. Henderson is persuaded in advance that he must impose severe hardships. He fairly smacks his lips over the prospect, as in a recent speech in which he said: "It is a dark picture I paint. It is a picture of factories made idle by lack of raw materials to turn out civilian goods, of men made idle by lack of materials to work with, of single industry towns blighted by a spurious prosperity based on production of goods which we can't wear, or eat, or live in. Don't think for a moment that I personally or, I believe, the people of our country generally would have it otherwise if this is the price we must pay. . . ."

If the Henderson commissariat is permitted to run the show, the transformation from a free economy to a bossed totalitarian economy of derivation and favoritism will have been achieved. This has been the aim of the left wingers in Washington ever since March, 1933. The resistance to the scheme was too strong to be overcome in the years of peace. Now the war scare is being used to force the American people to accept communism under the guise of national necessity. The excuse is fraudulent and perhaps Mr. Nelson's inventory will serve to disclose the fact.

Editorial of the Day

LONG WEEK-END HAZARDS.
[Detroit News.]

From time to time the suggestion comes—and from those in influential places—that our holidays, wherever possible, might well be made to fall on Mondays. The extra day added to the week-end would make it an opportunity for a real outing, and the disruption of business and the work routine by a midweek break would be eliminated. Such, at least, is the reasoning.

In the light, however, of the American's remarkable capacity for killing himself in traffic on such occasions as the Labor day week-end it would perhaps be as well to leave things as they are. Memorial day this year fell on a Friday, creating another three day holiday, during which the highway slaughter rose to figures that appalled the nation, and in these matters we are not easily appalled.

Thousands attempt journeys on the long holidays which they would not undertake in the ordinary course. To the nervous tension of maneuvering thru thick traffic is added the fatigue that comes of driving at high speed for hours on end. Mix the usual quota of drunks into the picture, and the fools and the careless, and the figures which show up regularly after each of these prolonged national holidays are inevitable. In Michigan the all-time high of 47 deaths over Memorial day of this year was not approached by the Labor day total of 21. Still there is little in this latter showing on which to congratulate ourselves.

There are thousands at the wheels of lethal machines who have no business there, and not all can be depended on to kill only themselves. They destroy others, and the property of others. They breed accidents. And the law, generally speaking, has found no quicker way to spot them than after the fact. One long week-end a year is plenty in the present state of civilization on our highways.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

MR. PEPYS GOES TO A FIRE.

11th Sept.—Heard the fire gongs yestere'en while I was pasting up my new Line Book, and one of the damsels in the office squealed, "O, look at 333," so I went to a south window and saw, across the river, a most amazing sight. A great pillar of smoke rose along the east side of the building that contains my club, and one would have thought all 33 stories were afire. Presently flames began licking out from below, and I could see that the fire was in the warehouses along the railroad track beside 333, which was serving as a chimney to draw the smoke upward.

I watched for half an hour while the engines and fireboat and sightseers assembled, and the smoke never grew less but always kept billowing along the wall of 333. It was as mighty a pillar of smoke as led the Israelites thru the wilderness in the Bible tale. Then I went to the fire to see how my club was getting on.

I found the building emptied, and fire hoses curling like snakes in the lobby, and scrub women standing around talking in strange tongues, and Mr. Kuhn, the manager of my club, telling firemen to go up and protect the awning on the terrace of the 26th floor.

Met a member who had come to see how his pheasant dinner was progressing, and mighty disgusted he was to learn he couldn't give his party; and various others to whom I said, "This building has been evacuated," which sounded quite warlike somehow. Saw Pete and Paul and Gilbert, my favorite waiters, across the street, enjoying a night off and a fine view. As I stood there at the entrance, pretending to be useful, a policeman came up and said:

"Do you see that Y-joint in the hose right in front of you? It's under terrific pressure and likely to burst any minute, and when such a thing happens the hose flies around and kills people." Whereupon I dispersed rapidly, and went to my other club for dinner.

Altogether, there was more excitement around the site of old Fort Dearborn that evening than at any time since the massacre of 1812.

THE CLUB OF IMMORTALS.

I wonder if that is a penthouse
On top of Orchestra hall?
With awnings over French windows
And flowers along the wall.
That's where the ghosts of the Masters,
Beethoven, Mozart, and Bach,
And Schubert and Wagner are dwelling,
(Their names are inscribed on the block).
They sit in a spiritual circle,
Each keeping time with his toe.
They listen with pride and with rapture
To their music conducted below.
Sometimes when a straining musician's
Rendition is just a bit trite,
They sigh longingly for the baton
To draw out the cadences right.
You see, with the noise of the bombing,
And all the upheaval of war,
Europe has no heart for music—
The beautiful music of yore.
So all of the spirits booked passage
On the Flying Dutchman's yawl,
And now they are happily living

Why the Drama Is "Legitimate."

Regarding the origin of the expression, "legitimate theater" [Sept. 5]:

In 1662 Sir William Davenant and Thomas Killigrew received patents from the crown to operate the Covent Garden and Drury Lane theaters in London. These patents gave them the sole rights to stage the kind of plays we now call "legitimate." They prosecuted encroachers upon their privileges, who often dodged the issue by producing Shakespeare with song-and-dance trimmings and thus created the "burletta." This situation lasted for about 150 years.

It is a matter of surprise to me that the Oxford dictionary, in tracing the "legitimate" theater in print, did not find Lord Byron's note to the preface of one of his tragedies: "When I was in the subcommittee of Drury Lane, I can vouch for my colleagues, and I hope for myself, that we did our best to bring back the legitimate drama."

The Rearing of Ugly Heads.

If your perplexed contributor, "Longhands," really wants to know what "reared its ugly head" first in English literature [Aug. 28], let her read, or try to read, "Beowulf," the oldest English poem, the origin of which is hidden in the mists of the Dark Ages. There she will find the fiend Grendel rearing an ugly head.

THE CURIOUS CASSOWARY.
(A Brookfield Ballad.)

Next, friends, meet the cassowary;
Gullible and sedentary.
It swallows anything at all
That's smaller than a basketball,
And holds the record up to date
By sitting like a paperweight
For eight long weeks upon a nest
Awaiting the event that's blest.
So hide your smile, to be polite,
And to forget this grievous sight,
Perhaps it's time for us to go
To see a double feature show.

What Is the Woodbine?

It seems a little perverse on the part of the English to call the woodbine a honeysuckle. Bailey, in "Cyclopedia of American Horticulture," states that the honeysuckle has flowers; the woodbine, on the other hand, has only leaves and berries. Its botanical name is Ampelopsis.

Walter R. Spofford.

[See Taylor's "Garden Dictionary": "A very old word for any number of vines. Those in this book are the Virginia creeper, the common wild clematis, and an Old World honeysuckle."]

THE FAR-REACHING EFFECTS OF TONSILITIS.

As chilly days come more frequently, they will bring the regular crop of colds with an occasional case of pneumonia. Most of us will protect ourselves against cooler weather with adequate clothing. Despite all precautions, however, there will occur many assaults upon the tonsils.

When resistance drops even slightly, these structures—all too often the dwelling place of germs — may become sore and inflamed. Indications of trouble appear toward evening, following a fatiguing day — or one may waken early in the morning with marked pain on swallowing.

We are dealing with a double barreled affair. We are obliged to combat the local irritation and the effect upon the system as a whole of the absorption of toxins. Thus we explain the accompanying symptoms of headache, backache, and general feeling of malaise. The appetite vanishes and a temperature of 99½ to 101 degrees F. may be registered.

To help the body rid itself of freshly manufactured poison, rule number one is to drink liquids copiously—fruit juices, hot lemonade, water, weak tea, or anything that will induce perspiration and increase elimination. In addition, the bowel must be kept open and the physician may prescribe small doses of calomel or compound licorice powder. A saline laxative is sometimes helpful, as it will promote the interchange of fluids and sweep the intestinal tract of countless bacteria. Aspirin will take the edge off the acute pain and may aid in lowering the temperature.

But, you ask, why all this fuss about a simple ailment which usually runs its course in a few days? In the first place, the illness isn't simple—it is dangerous. Organisms or toxins from the throat can find their way to the kidneys, the heart, or other vital organs, where they may injure important tissues. The fact is that the body has a concealed set of plumbing, which will permit the microbes to wander from a sore throat to regions which should be kept free from their influence.

Rule number two is rest in bed. The room should be provided with sufficient ventilation, but not enough to risk chilling. With the chamber comfortable, the patient will need some attendance. The one who is waiting upon himself constantly cannot relax.

Gargling with a mild throat antiseptic, or allowing a strong hot salt solution from an irrigator to play over the surfaces of the tonsils, will remove millions of noxious invaders. Furthermore, heat will bring more white cells to the area. These in turn will destroy bacteria which have come to rest beneath the surface.

Of a dozen patients, one or two will develop an abscess [quinsy]. Pus has formed about the tonsil and, when the pocket is "ripe," a small incision will be required to provide drainage. This is an exceedingly painful complication. More often than not it results from attempting to fight off an infection instead of acknowledging its presence and going to bed.

Wise physicians look upon tonsillitis as potential dynamite. The reason is that recovery may not come for weeks following a severe attack. Germs are likely to lurk in the vicinity and it is not uncommon for the individual to harbor them long after he has apparently struggled back to normal. When tiny nests of trouble remain they may send forth poison thruout the system quite sufficient to explain the onset of an attack of rheumatism. This means that with the disappearance of the last vestige of inflammation, steps should be taken to extirpate the glands completely. Only an expert should be permitted to undertake the operation. There will thus be eradicated a menace to good health.

Let us hope that every victim of tonsillitis can avoid a heart, a kidney, or a rheumatic involvement. He can and will if he will take no chances. Assume that the symptoms signal "danger" and then play safe.

KNEE AND TOE.

F. M. writes: My right great toe trembles and this causes my knee to quiver. What causes this?

REPLY.

Probably fatigue. The nerves are far more sensitive when they are tired. Twitching of a muscle or a group of muscles means that impulses come from the brain. With adequate rest, the circulation picks up, and as a rule the manifestation disappears.

THE COURT PACKING EFFORT.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 8.—Franklin Delano Roosevelt writes in Collier's that "The Fight Still Goes On," and "the constitution prevails," because of his famous Supreme court packing bill of 1937, and insinuates that the packing of the Supreme court by his third term appointments marked "a definite turning point in the history of the United States." He further states that "I regard the effort initiated by the message on the federal judiciary of Feb. 5, 1937, and the immediate results of it, as among the most important achievements of my first two terms in office."

However, his enthusiasm in regard to his court packing attempt was not shared by the leaders of his party, or by the judiciary committee of the United States senate. Let us refer to the record, as Al Smith says. Good authority has stated that Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming was delegated by the judiciary committee to write a summary of the committee's unanimous "adverse report" of June 14, 1937, and that historic summary concludes with this now famous declaration:

"It is a measure which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America."

As the senate committee's summary further states, the court packing bill contained the germ of centralized administration of law that would enable any executive to destroy the rights of the citizen. CHARLES E. LANE.

WASTE PAPER, RAGS, AND IRON.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—I note in The Sunday Tribune that the government is about to start a drive for waste paper in 33 cities. It is to be handled like the last drive on aluminum only that all those having paper stored in their basements are to notify the industries conservation department which will arrange to call for it.

Why doesn't the government set a price on all waste paper and let the people who are now in the business of gathering it and who have investments in trucks, yards, etc., buy this paper from the children in the neighborhood and give the kids a chance to make a few dollars, an incentive to gather together all paper, rags, and iron, and this will also give the rag and old iron collectors an opportunity to make a profit.

The government spends thousands, millions, and billions for defense projects and material and there is no reason why they shouldn't let the small boys in the cities make a little change for themselves.

PASSED ON TO THE NAVY.

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 7.—Two questions deeply puzzle me:

1. Why do American men of war "blackout" at night? How can the "enemy" determine whether we are belligerents or not?

2. How can American tankers constitutionally deliver oil to belligerent Russia?

A NAZI HOAX.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Under the caption "From an American Jew," you print a letter signed by Samuel C. Rosecrane, which, on its face, must be labeled a fraud.

The alleged Rosecrane is neither an American nor a Jew; for neither could possibly write such a letter at a time like this. In fact, a search of the telephone list and several outstanding Jewish organizations' membership lists, to which I have access because of my activity in Jewish organizations, does not disclose the existence of such a person. However, even if there were such a person, and he called himself a Jew, he would have no right to speak for the American Jew.

My opinion is that the sender of this letter is most likely a subtle pro-Nazi using a Jewish name to stir up hatred against Jews, and who, at the same time is ready to destroy Christian Norway, Holland, and Belgium.

NEWS FROM THE 33D.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 8.—I am writing to the people who have relatives in the 33d division. The boys have had very good treatment according to their letters to the local papers.

The people in my home town [Camden] entertained more than 15,000 troops on Aug. 31. They were given fruit and melons and taken into the homes by the thousands and given cake and chicken. With very few exceptions the boys' conduct won praise.

LINCOLN PARK'S LABYRINTH.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Funny as it seems, your recent report that an alderman recently got lost in Lincoln park is not surprising. Every hour of the day provides a different route for the motoring public. Day after day we have expected the completion of this project and it still appears that the frost will have come and gone again before motorists will have clear sailing. We in the 41st ward admire Ald. Cowhey's courage to express the feelings of thousands of motorists living north and northwest. Too bad we haven't more Cowheys to sound off on such important public matters. A 41ST WARDER.

SLOWER THAN OUR COUSINS.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 9.—We Americans are so infernally slow—and stupid. Look you: We had the Australians and New Zealanders in Africa, Greece, Crete, and the New Zealanders and Australians in Iraq and Iran, and now—a mixed Canadian unit in Spitzbergen!

Why can't our boys see the world? The English don't care to so long as they have "gustatorial satisfaction" at home.

OPPORTUNITY IN NURSING.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—It is with genuine gratification that we have lately read several letters in the Voice of the People concerning the advantages of nursing as a career for young women.

The call of the army and navy for defense has greatly thinned the ranks of our nursing personnel and the country faces a grave shortage unless young women can be recruited for the nursing schools in greater number than ever before. We feel that you are doing a splendid thing for the well being of Americans by giving voice and space to the attractions in a nursing career. From this sort of stimulation more young women will be moved to enter the profession. J. DEWEY LUTES,
Superintendent Presbyterian Hospital.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Recently I saw several letters in your column commenting upon the opportunities available to young women in the field of nursing. I was particularly pleased to see these letters appear in a daily newspaper, because they undoubtedly evoked wide interest.

Many seem to forget that nursing as originally conceived by that fine woman, Florence Nightingale, and performed by her followers was a noble profession intended to relieve the suffering of patients at the bedside.

Let me assure these young women that if they once experienced the privilege of nursing a seriously ill person back to health they would get a measure of satisfaction from such achievement which could scarcely be equaled by any other type of service.

ABANDONED AUTO.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—In the 1000 number of our block a few doors away from speedy Augusta boulevard, a stripped, broken down car has been standing for over a month. This is a busy street with many children on it and the darting of children around this car into the street has caused more than one near catastrophe. The neighbors have appealed to the police to have it removed but to date nothing has been done. Why should the lives of our children be so in danger? D. P. H.

The following is a report from the 28th District relative to the above complaint:

On numerous occasions in the past this abandoned automobile has been called to the attention of the Stolen Auto section by patrolmen of the 28th district. In each instance the Stolen Auto Section notified the House of Correction towing service ordering the removal of this car. In the meanwhile, however, appropriations for this towing service have been discontinued and in consequence the car has been left on the street. Efforts were made to locate the last owner without success. Efforts will be made to remove this car somehow.

WITNESS FREED, JUVENILE HOME PROBE ORDERED

Bicek Hits Prosecutors' Lack of Diligence.

The state's attorney's office yesterday ordered an investigation of procedure and practices in the Juvenile home, which is under the supervision of Judge Frank H. Bicek of the Juvenile court, after it was discovered that the principal witness in a delinquency case had been released from the home a month ago.

"This is the third time that a principal witness has been released by the home," said Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. He ordered Irving Lang, an assistant state's attorney, to protest to Judge Bicek.

Charges Against Three Persons.

The release of the witness, Marion Severson, 15 years old, of Stockton, Wis., was discovered by Myron Lewis, an assistant state's attorney, when Lewis entered the Jury court of Judge Erwin Hasten to prosecute three persons on charges of contributing to the Severson girl's delinquency.

According to Lewis, Judge Bicek said that a social worker—the judge didn't know who—had called a policeman—again he didn't know who—and the policeman had said it was all right to release the girl.

Gets Job as Hostess.

Police said the Severson girl came to Chicago in June and met Miss Everson, who got her a job as a hostess in Fusco's tavern. Later, it was charged, the girl spent a night with an unidentified man in the Arena hotel, where they registered as man and wife. All were arrested July 8. In addition to the delinquency charge, a charge of permitting women to solicit patrons to buy drinks was placed against Fusco.

Judge Bicek, reached at his home last night, said the girl was released during the vacation period and that he did not know the details of the case. He said he will investigate her release today.

"We try to coöperate with the prosecutors," Judge Bicek said, "but we cannot hold witnesses indefinitely when cases are continued over a long period of time. [This case was continued several times.] If the state's attorney were more diligent in speeding prosecution, we could give better coöperation."

PLAN NEW TACTIC IN DRIVE AGAINST MILK PRICE HIKE

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the council committee on the high cost of living, will confer today with the field staff of the board of health to determine if changes can be made in the organization of the Chicago milk shed. The purpose of the conference, he said, will be to learn whether it would be advisable to withhold privileges of inspection for farmers who aided in increasing milk prices in the city.

"Chicago seems to be the only victim of the increase," he asserted, "because the price has not been raised in other cities, such as Rockford, Waukegan, Kenosha, and Milwaukee, whose milk comes from the same area as ours and whose milk condenseries are in our area. We want to find out if there is a conspiracy to increase the Chicago price."

He said that the corporation counsel's office has been asked to examine the transcripts at recent hearings of his committee to determine what facts the city should incorporate in a petition to the department of agriculture seeking a review of the order fixing the price at 15½ cents a quart.

WARNS OF MOVIE INDUSTRY'S GAG ON FREE SPEECH

War Makers' Mouthpiece, Flynn Tells Senators.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—The motion picture industry is a monopoly controled by five or six men who are using it as a powerful instrument of propaganda to wreak personal vengeance on Adolf Hitler by inflaming the people of the United States to war, John T. Flynn, author and economist, warned a senate subcommittee today. By creating the monopoly, he declared, the magnates have clamped a rigid censorship on films which has destroyed free speech in the industry and at the moment is being exercised to suppress one side of a debate affecting the lives and fortunes of 130 million Americans.

The movie monopoly grew up in normal times without any one paying much attention to it, Flynn told the senators, and now in a time of crisis it may be the deciding factor in plunging the nation into war.

On Job Every Day.

The various political committees—and war and anti-war committees—hold meetings here and there and address only a few thousand people at a time, he continued, while the movies are holding their propaganda massmeetings in 17,000 theaters for several hours a day every day in the week.

"I want to ask why it is that not one foot of film is produced depicting in any way the point of view of that important and influential body of Americans—and they are very numerous—who believe what the entire American nation believed two years ago—that this nation should keep out of the wars of Europe," Flynn said. "We hear much about the Nazi point of view and the British point of view, but there is another point of view, and a pretty good one, most of us think. It is the side of the United States of America and it can be presented without being pro-Nazi."

Backs Inquiry Into Films.

Flynn, a wiry little man with a shock of iron gray hair and a firm, outthrust jaw, who is chairman of the New York chapter of the America First committee, was the third witness appearing before the senate investigators to support a resolution for an investigation of war propaganda in the movies and radio. The senate subcommittee is making a preliminary inquiry into the measure which was introduced by Senators Bennett Champ Clark [D., M.] and Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.].

Known for his ability to give and take in almost any kind of verbal encounter, Flynn suffered few interruptions during the four hours he was on the stand. A sharp exchange between the witness and Wendell L. Willkie, Wall street lawyer and counsel for the motion picture industry, left Willkie flushed and groping for replies amid a roar of laughter from the spectators.

Opposes Political Censorship.

The encounter occurred early in the hearing. Flynn had declared himself opposed to any form of political censorship to correct what he had termed abuses in the industry, concluding: "If any attempt at censorship is made, I will be over there with Mr. Willkie fighting it—that is, if he is still on that side."

This polished Wilkie off for the day and he was heard from no more, altho reporters continued to receive the usual token of remembrance from his end of the table in the form of numerous "press releases." At previous hearings, Willkie has protested vociferously at being refused permission to cross-examine witnesses, a procedure never allowed at senate committee hearings.

You sell more at lower cost with the Tribune

Does your Chicago program need an overhauling to put it in tune with today's buying? With spendable incomes here touching new highs, does your advertising pack a punch in proportion to your new opportunities?

At one low cost . . . you synchronize your drive with Chicago's greater capacity to buy when you build your program around the Tribune. The Tribune is the one medium which delivers the volume of circulation called for . . . and rewarded . . . by today's sales.

Every day of the week, the Tribune has more than 1,000,000 total circulation. This is from 605,000 to 640,000 more total daily circulation than other Chicago daily newspapers deliver—from 300,000 to 725,000 more on Sunday than delivered by other Chicago Sunday newspapers.

Thru the Tribune you get the intensified, market-wide sales pressure you want in metropolitan Chicago. You get from 440,000 to 460,000 more daily circulation in Chicago and suburbs than other Chicago daily newspapers deliver—and more than any two other Chicago daily newspapers combined.

And on Sunday the Tribune delivers in metropolitan Chicago from 345,000 to 410,000 more than other Chicago Sunday newspapers—and more than the two other Chicago Sunday newspapers combined.

→ In every income group of interest to advertisers, the Tribune has more circulation than any other Chicago newspaper. In addition, it reaches hundreds of thousands of other prospects in the adjacent territory.

Retailers know that the Tribune is the medium from which Chicago is accustomed to buy in greater volume than from any other medium in this market.

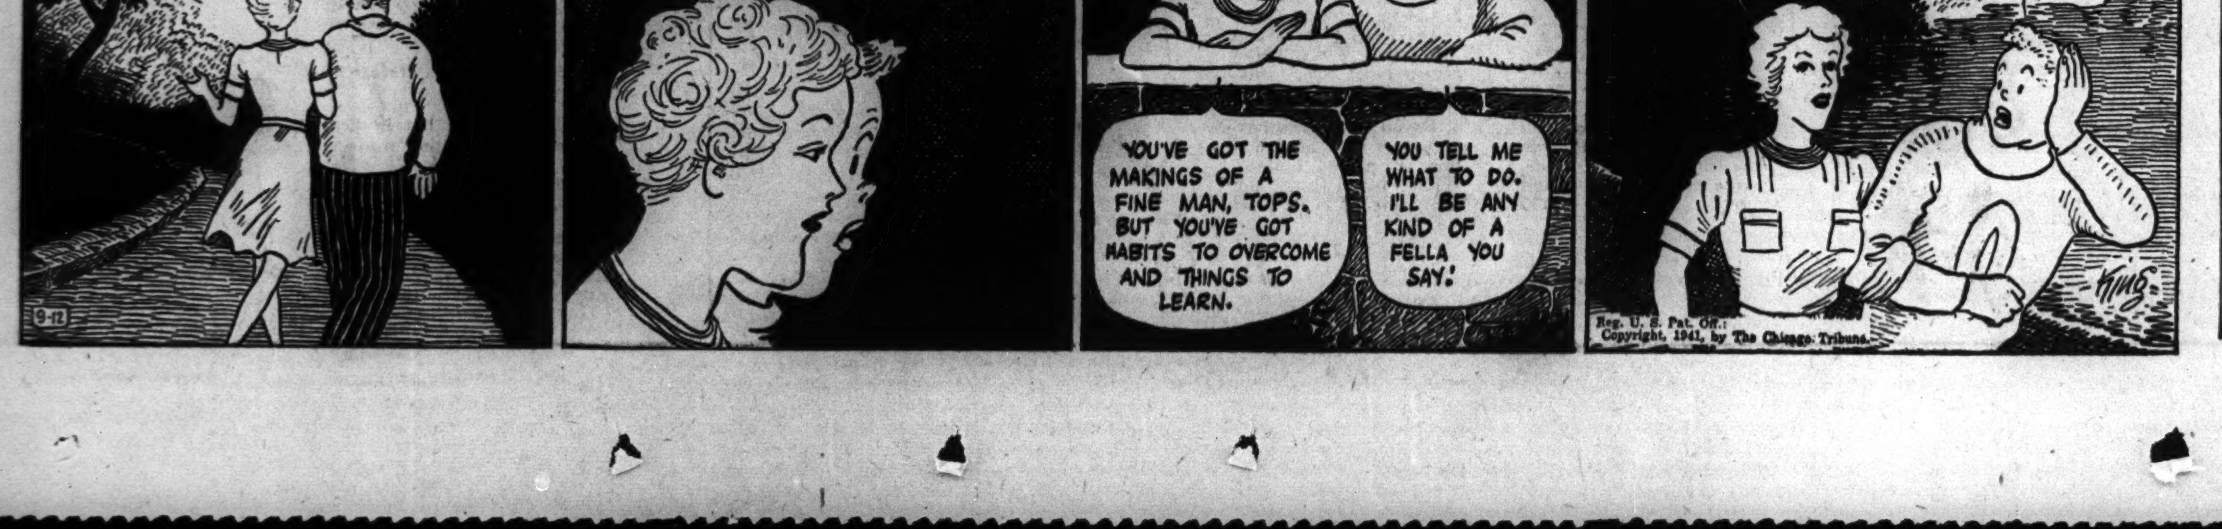
GASOLINE ALLEY—MUSTS



HUNT TWO NAMED IN CONFESSION OF CLEANING KILLER

Humphreys' Wife Linked to Towel Concern.

New information about the connections of Murray Humphreys, notorious Capone gang chieftain with dry cleaning and linen supply concerns was disclosed by the state's attorney's office last night as investigators were searching for two men named in a confession as participants in the murder by slugging last April 23 of Anton Gorczak.

Anton Gorczak.

Gorczak was a driver for the Republic Cleaners in Cicero. In the confession, made by David Goldblatt, long known to the police as a gangster, it was asserted that $300 was paid by Samuel Ginsburg, alias Gaines, to have Gorczak beaten up. Ginsburg is a partner of Humphreys in the Klever-Shampay Karpet Kleaners, which was closed by Mayor Kelly several months ago and of which Gorczak was a former employé.

2 Charged with Murder.

Goldblatt, who is 42 years old, and Ginsburg were formally charged with murder, arraigned, and held without bond for a hearing next Thursday. A hearing on writs of habeas corpus in their behalf will be held by Judge Julius Miner on Tuesday. One of the alleged confederates in the slugging plot is Thomas Russo; the other's name was not disclosed.

William B. Crawford, assistant state's attorney, said that Goldblatt admitted going with Russo to the Klever plant at 4633 Cottage Grove avenue and making the $300 deal with Ginsburg, who wanted Gorczak beaten because he was "stealing" Klever-Shampay customers.

Goldblatt confessed holding a pistol while Russo beat the driver on the head with a hard rubber gear shift handle. The third man acted as their chauffeur and drove them away from the scene of the assault, a tailor shop at 1745 West 63d street.

"Ginsburg told us several months ago that he was associated with Humphreys in business and that Mrs. Humphreys, under the name of Mary Brendle, held a large part of the Klever company stock," Crawford said. "He said that Humphreys represented protection against unions and that the salary of $8,000 or $9,000 paid to his wife was a good investment.

Humphreys' Wife an Officer.

"We have learned that Mrs. Humphreys is listed as an officer of the Individual Towel Supply company, and that she was paid $13,000 in 1940 by that concern and $300 a week from January to May, 1941. We also found an Individual check to her for $30,000. We don't know what this was for.

"Our investigators are correlating information. Goldblatt, who was a companion of two gangsters, Ted Newberry and Gus Winkler, both slain some years ago, was recently employed by Individual as a collector at a salary of $70 a week. It has been discovered that Morris Gordon, who is a partner in Klever-Shampay, is treasurer of Individual at $14,000 a year."

OLDEST CONVICT IS DEAD; OTHERS PLAN A TRIBUTE

Convicts in the Indiana State penitentiary at Michigan City will gather in the prison chapel at 10 a. m. today to pay last respects to "Grandpa" William Benson, the penitentiary's oldest inmate. Benson, who spent 48 of his 78 years in two Indiana prisons, died late Wednesday in the penitentiary hospital after a six week illness. He will be buried in the prison cemetery, outside the walls.

William Benson.

Prison authorities said Benson was sentenced to be hanged for murder on April 17, 1889, when he was 26. A few months later the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, and he was sent to a prison at Jeffersonville, and later transferred to Michigan City. In 1910 he was paroled, but four years later was returned as a parole violator and has been in prison since then.

Benson's crime was a sensation in its day. In love with a young girl who lived with an old couple in southern Indiana, he was told by her that she couldn't marry him until her guardians no longer needed her. Benson followed the old man into the woods one day and shot him, then returned and attempted to kill the old woman before he was overcome.

FROST IS COMING ON, AND THE FURS ARE STILL IN HOCK

Speed Asked in Hearing on Pawned Coats.

Cooler weather yesterday generated considerable heat into the legal controversy involving 33 fur coats, nearly as many well dressed north shore women, a pawn shop at 519 North Clark street, and the missing president of the North Suburban Cleaners, Inc., 1811 Benson avenue, Evanston.

The coats belong to the women who stored them at the cleaner's, but they're being held by the pawnbroker. Attorneys for the cleaners are seeking to get the coats back so they can deliver them to the women before frost. They charge that the missing president, Bradford L. Keeler, illegally pawned the garments as well as 11 oriental rugs and a pair of muffs and pocketed the loans totaling $1,700.

Attorney Urges Speed.

In a hearing before Martin Ward, referee in bankruptcy, Attorney Carl Pomerance argued for a summary order returning the coats.

"Three of the coats have been called for already," he said. "If we can't deliver them before cold weather the ladies will drive us nutty."

Attorneys for the pawnshop argued that the federal court does not have jurisdiction in the case because Keeler pawned the coats before the cleaning corporation was thrown into bankruptcy by a creditors' petition.

List of Owners Disclosed.

Part of the evidence offered yesterday was a partial list of the owners of the coats which are said to be missing. Those listed include:

M. V. Campbell, 2216 Pratt, gray squirrel jacket and cape.

F. A. Miller, 2323 Lawndale, Evanston, gray squirrel coat.

J. J. McEnery, 2425 Prospect, Evanston, raccoon coat.

S. I. Kaufman, 515 Washington, Wilmette, brown ermine coat.

H. H. Chandler, 532 Skokie, Glencoe, muskrat coat.

W. B. Bjorklund, 839 Cherry, Winnetka, mink coat.

P. S. Beebe, 917 Greenleaf, Wilmette, seal coat.

R. W. Tarrant, 1250 Chestnut, Wilmette, 11 oriental rugs.

Fueler, 915 10th, Wilmette, seal coat.

H. B. Taylor, 1049 Forest, Wilmette, muskrat coat.

H. B. Taylor, 927 Ashland, Wilmette, seal coat and mink coat.

H. M. Early, 3223 Thayer, Evanston, seal coat.

S. E. Leeman, 621 Biscayne, Palm Beach, Fla., mink coat.

B. F. Lewis Jr., 610 Washington, Wilmette, mink coat.

C. C. Clark, 716 Greenwood, Wilmette, muskrat.

Bede, 2253 Ridge, Evanston, brown fur coat.

N. T. Hans, 1211 16th, Wilmette, Persian lamb coat.

D. F. Hall, 809 Central, Wilmette, Persian lamb coat.

D. Romberger, 606 15th, Wilmette, Persian lamb coat.

Thompson, 1311 Ashland, Wilmette, mink coat.

Lundquist, 2507 Lincoln, Evanston, Persian lamb coat.

J. P. Smith, 1291 Forest Glen, Glencoe, Persian lamb coat.

Referee Ward continued the hearing until next Thursday despite the pleas of Attorney Pomerance for an earlier date. He warned Pomerance that he expected to see Keeler in court even if it took a warrant to get him there. David Pottishmann, Keeler's former attorney, said he had last heard from his client in Elkhart, Ind.

HIGH COURT PUTS LA GUARDIA FOE'S NAME ON BALLOT

J. R. Davies Given Right to Run for Mayor.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, apostate Republican seeking a third term, tonight lost the final decision in a devious campaign to eliminate a lifelong Republican from competing with him for the G. O. P. nomination for mayor in the party primaries next Tuesday.

In a 5 to 2 decision the court of appeals, highest judicial tribunal in the state, ruled in Albany that the name of John R. Davies, former president of the National Republican club and onetime municipal court judge, should remain on the primary ballot. The mayor's camp had sought by court decisions to sweep Davies off the ballot and leave the field wide open to La Guardia.

Ruled Out Whole Page.

La Guardia's strategy momentarily was successful a week ago when Justice Ferdinand Pecora of the Supreme court, which corresponds to Circuit and Superior courts in Illinois, ruled that the Davies nominating petitions were "saturated with fraud." If one signature on a page was phoney, Justice Pecora ruled the whole page of signatures was fraudulent.

Then the appellate division overruled Pecora by a vote of four to one and the case went to the state's highest court. Pecora, who was born in Sicily, is a former Tammany assistant district attorney elevated to the Securities and Exchange commission by President Roosevelt and subsequently appointed to the supreme bench in New York by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Pecora will be best remembered as the judge who threw out the case against Tammany Leader James J. [Jimmy] Hines, accused of furnishing political protection for the policy game gangsters, on a technicality two years ago when the prosecutor, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, was looming as a strong G. O. P. candidate for governor. Dewey convicted Hines before another judge after the election.

Deliberate for 11 Hours.

Reaching its decision after 11 hours of deliberation on election cases, the court of appeals was unanimous in upholding the appellate division on two points, but on a third point there was a minority dissent by Chief Justice Irving Lehman, brother of the governor, and Justice Edward R. Finch. Had there been an adverse ruling on any one of the three points the Davies supporters would have lost the case.

Davies, without organization or money, is given only a dubious outside chance of emerging victorious at the polls next Tuesday. However, Republican resentment against La Guardia has been boiling for some time because he is an enrolled member of the so-called American Labor party, a catchall for left wingers and communists, and also because he has thrown the immense prestige of his office against regular Republican candidates.

POLICE REVEAL SERRITELLA IS IN SANITARIUM

State Senator Daniel A. Serritella is in a private sanitarium to which he was taken after he figured in a mysterious disturbance in a loop physician's office Wednesday afternoon.

Policeman William Hartnett, a traffic officer at Wabash avenue and Lake street, was called to the office of Dr. Samuel J. Hoffman, at 185 North Wabash. In his report, Hartnett stated that he "assisted in removing Serritella, who was in a state of mental collapse and causing confusion in the office, to a waiting taxicab, in which he was taken to the Broadview sanitarium, at 28th street and Prairie avenue."

Questioned yesterday, Dr. Hoffman said he was not in his office when Serritella arrived. "I learned that the senator, apparently nervous and upset, tried to find me," Dr. Hoffman said. "Then he went down the hall to a dentist's office. He reached over a patient in the dentist's chair in an attempt to get a glass of water, and the patient, a woman, began screaming. Then the police were called."

BAN USE OF GAS TAX FUNDS FOR STREET LIGHTS

Frank J. Flanagan, city street commissioner, was informed yesterday by the state highway department that the city no longer will be able to use any of its share of the state motor fuel tax money for the installation of new lights on streets improved with those funds.

So far this year the city has asked the state highway department to approve allocations totaling $500,000 for that purpose. Flanagan said expenditures of $100,000 already have been approved.

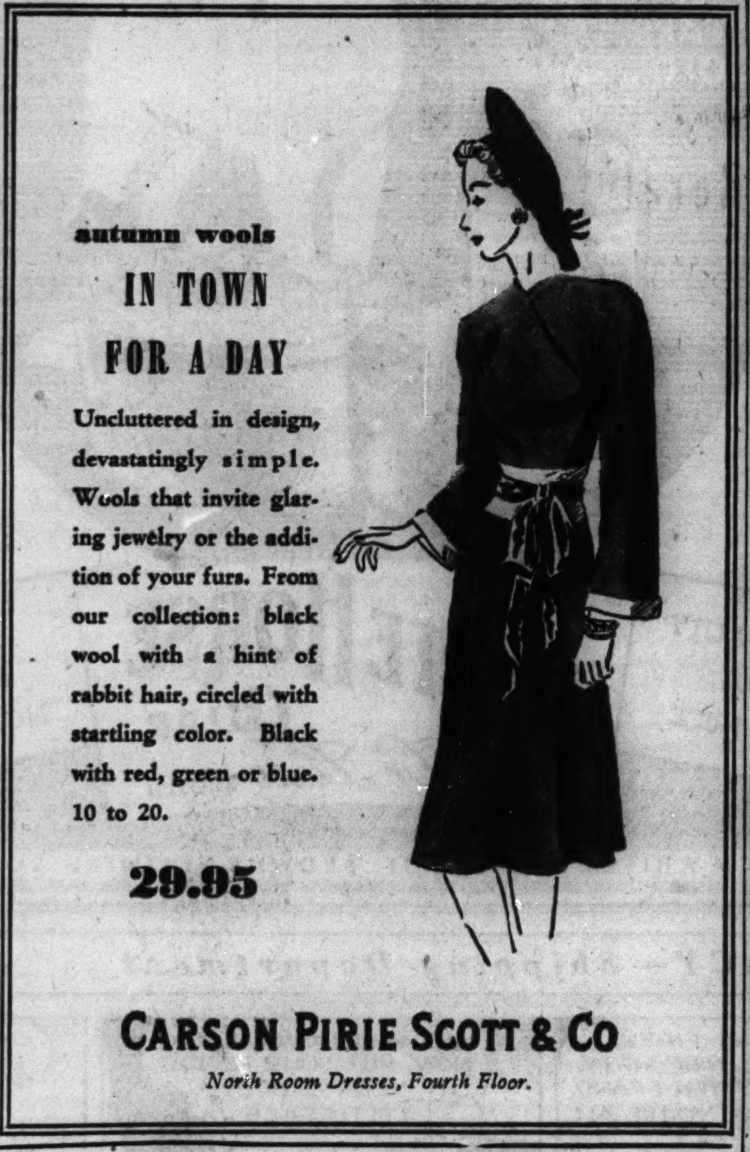
State officials said the change in policy is the result of a law passed at the last session of the legislature which makes it possible to use motor fuel tax money for such a purpose in all cities except those larger than 500,000. Flanagan sent the notification to the council finance committee.

ALICE WYNEKOOP IS EXPECTED TO SEEK CLEMENCY

Dr. Alice L. Wynekoop, a widely known Chicago physician who in 1934 was sentenced to 25 years in prison for the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, 23 years old, is planning to appeal to Gov. Green for clemency it was disclosed yesterday.

In a letter to Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty, who was an assistant prosecutor at the time of the trial, Dr. Wynekoop said she is innocent of the death of her son's wife. She added she will try to obtain executive clemency and asked for approval of her petition.

At the trial Dr. Wynekoop, now 70, said she caused her daugher-in-law's death accidentally with choloroform and then, to save her professional reputation, fired a bullet into her body to make it appear that a robber had slain her. Earlier, however, she had confessed she hoped by Rheta's death to obtain $10,000 insurance and have her son, Earle, to herself again.



TELL WHERE ALL DUES GO, LABOR PAPER DEMANDS

'Take Away the Take,' Is Editorial Plea.

The Chicago Federation of Labor, which recently publicly declared war on racketeers and gangsters in union offices, today makes a specific demand that every union open its books and give its members full knowledge of where the money collected in dues and fees is expended.

In a front page editorial appearing in the Federation News under the title, "Take Away the Take," the federation declared that every honest union accounts fully for its funds and that officials who fail to do so "have already confessed judgment against themselves."

Means What It Says.

"This statement of policy correctly represents the thought and intent of the men and organizations in the federation," said John Fitzpatrick, president. "It means just what it says."

Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for the federation, said the editorial was a logical followup of the announcement that the body was determined to "drive the rascals out," and that dishonest leaders could not thrive if publicity was given their financial dealings.

"Union dues are not 'easy money.'

"They are earned by the sweat of the brow of men and women who earn little enough at best in the course of a year.

"They band themselves together in unionism for mutual benefit and protection. Their dues are an investment in decent living.

"Every member is entitled to know just what is done with his money. A union office is no less a public trust than is a municipal, county, or state office.

Demands of Common Honesty.

"Common honesty demands that union officials, selected as trustees to handle union funds, should give regular and accurate accounting of receipts and expenditures.

"Every honest union organization, and they are the vast majority of the unions, has always done this. They must not be allowed to be confused with racket ridden offices whose officers refuse their membership the facts to which they are entitled.

"Any union can easily and simply rid itself of those who prey on labor. The way is plain. Open up the books. Take away the 'take' and see how quickly they lose interest in the working man.

"Union officials who are unwilling to give full accounting of their stewardship have already confessed judgment against themselves in their oath of office. They then swear that to be placed in their trust will 'stamp me as a man devoid of peace and destitute of honor.'"

CIO STOPS WORK ON 8 MILLIONS IN ARMS CONTRACTS

Work on more than eight million dollars worth of orders under the arms program was suspended last night when 150 members of the United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers' union, a CIO affiliate, walked out of the Foote Brothers Gear and Machine corporation plant at 4545 South Western avenue.

At about 11 p. m., union officers announced that the company had agreed to arbitrate differences, and urged the men to return to work. About 75 reported for the 11:30 p. m. shift, but 150 remained outside. Because of the possibility that the two groups might clash, union stewards and Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail, advised the 75 workers who had returned to leave their benches and await the outcome of a meeting scheduled for 10 a. m. today.

The strike, termed a "labor holiday" by the unionists, was called in the midst of contract negotiations under the supervision of J. W. Cofer, federal labor conciliator.

Cofer is in Minneapolis, Minn., on other labor business, but sent telegrams both to the company and the union asking that efforts be made to prevent any stoppage of work until his return Monday. In defiance of the request, the CIO members refused to work.

J. R. Fagan, secretary treasurer of the company, said the company had agreed to a 10 cent hourly raise and a 75 cent hourly minimum for all production workers but balked at granting a closed CIO shop. This latter issue was being ironed out in the negotiations, he said.

The corporation is engaged in the production of precision gears and other parts for airplane engines, Fagan said. "This strike," he said, "puts a definite stop to the vital production of these parts and stalls the defense program. But our doors will stay open for all those who want to work."

600 on Morning Shift.

The plant's largest shift, about 600 men, begins early in the morning. Fagan said the union leaders gave no indication of whether this shift also will refuse to report for work.

A conference at which Mayor Kelly presided yesterday, between representatives of three Chicago meat packing companies and their 1,400 striking employés, broke up without any agreements being reached on ending the strike. The mayor said he urged J. C. Lewis, national chairman of the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee [CIO], to call in the National Labor Relations board to attempt a settlement, and Lewis agreed.

Lewis, according to Mayor Kelly, said the companies were "revengeful" in refusing to rehire 12 unionists who allegedly instigated an unauthorized walkout a week ago. The companies [the Agar Packing and Provision company, the P. Brennan company, and the Illinois Meat company] stood on their refusal. The strike began at midnight Wednesday.

AFL ORGANIZER TELLS PART IN CALDWELL'S JOB

Alexander Marks, an American Federation of Labor organizer, who has been sought for questioning about the disappearance of $910,000 in union funds during the rule of Max Caldwell over Local 1248, Retail Clerks International Protective association, appeared at the state's attorney's office yesterday.

Marks told William B. Crawford and Gordon Nash, assistant state's attorneys, that he obtained a job for Caldwell, now ousted, thru C. C. Coulter, secretary-treasurer of the international, and that Caldwell swiftly rose to the position of organizer of the clerk's union for the Chicago district.

UNITED AUTO WORKER STRIKE SLOWS ARMS FACTORY IN CANADA

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 11 (AP).—A number of workers at McKinnon Industries, Ltd., which is engaged in war work, went on strike today, after a four month old dispute over wages between the company and the United Automobile Workers of America.

The McKinnon plant manufactures parts for motorized vehicles, anti-aircraft guns and munitions and the strike may curtail production in four other plants.

Including all shifts, McKinnon Industries employes 4,500 workers but neither the company nor the union would estimate how many were on strike. One unofficial estimate said that 1,000 strikers and sympathizers were outside the plant this morning.

The union has asked a 10 cent an hour increase for workers who are paid on an hourly basis and a 15 per cent increase for bonus and piece workers.

AUTO THIEF RUNS INTO STREET CAR, FLEES ON FOOT

A speeding motorist abandoned a stolen automobile at 61st and State streets last night after he crashed into a street car. Policeman Jack Maiss and Ernest Olson of the motorcycle division, who had chased the speeder from 73th street and Vincennes avenue, found two sealed mail sacks in the car. The auto had been stolen earlier in the evening from in front of 407 North Dearborn street. It was owned by A. M. Zaritzky of 3055 Wabansia avenue, who was delivering the mail sacks to the post office for his employer.

SARA ROOSEVELT ESTATE'S VALUE NOT DETERMINED

Expect Appraisal to Be Filed in 6 Months.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP).—Henry T. Hackett, attorney in probate proceedings of the will of the late Sara Delano Roosevelt, the President's mother, said today an appraisal of the estate will be filed here in about six months.

She left nine-tenths of her personal property and real estate to the President, her only son; a $5,000 bequest to St. James Episcopal church in Hyde Park, and directed that the remaining one-tenth of the residuary estate be divided in six equal parts for her daughter-in-law, Eleanor Roosevelt, and the latter's five sons and daughter.

Hackett would not place an estimate on the value of the estate. It was known, however, that the President's mother owned, in addition to her vested interest in the Hyde Park estate, a small house in Hyde Park, the James Roosevelt memorial library in Hyde Park, and a summer estate at Campobello, N. B.

The President's father, James Roosevelt, inherited a fortune made in the sugar business. Upon his death his personal property of $713,167 was divided equally among his wife and his two sons, the late James R. and Franklin D., half brothers. Franklin's part was left in trust and was given him when he became 21, his father having died before he became of age. Half of his mother's share of this bequest now reverts to him.

Bequests to Grandchildren.

Mrs. Roosevelt's bequests to her grandchildren were in the form of trust funds in which they will receive the principal at the age of 30 years. That means Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, and James and Elliott will get their bequests at once, while Franklin Jr. and John will get the income of their shares now and the principal when they reach 30.

The President, who is listed as an heir-at-law, and Attorney Hackett, and Arthur J. Morris as executors each will receive $5,000.

"If any of the legacies or devises herein mentioned," the will stated, "shall be subject to the payment of any transfer or inheritance tax of any kind, I authorize and direct my executors to pay the same out of the residue of my estate."

Both state and federal taxes were paid on the estate of the President's father at the time of his death but the federal law later was found unconstitutional and the federal taxes were refunded.

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

[Chicago daylight time.]

Three Ring Time, a new 30 minute variety show co-starring Charles Laughton, Milton Berle, and Shirley Ross, will have its première over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 8:30 p. m. Also featured will be Bob Crosby's orchestra and Announcer Bill Goodwin.

Charles Laughton.

The Special Events department of W-G-N has arranged a round table discussion between Dr. Leo Cherne, director of the Research Institute of America, and Congressman Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.]. The broadcast will be heard from noon to 12:15 p. m. The discussion will be based on unemployment due to priorities.

Shoot the Works will be heard at two different hours. The first show will be aired from the station's main audience studio at 7 p. m. and the second, which will be a recording of the earlier show, will be offered at 9:30.

EDWARD FREED, EX-NIGHT CLUB OWNER, IS SHOT

Edward Freed, former night club owner, was shot in the scalp last night by an unidentified gunman as he was standing at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Cermak road. The wound is not serious.

Freed, who is 42 years old, and now employed as a beer salesman, said he did not see his assailant. A woman witness told Sergt. Edward O'Malley that one of two men driving by in a black car fired on Freed. Several pellets shattered a shop window at 2135 Wabash avenue.

Last Nov. 3 Freed was shot in the left leg by his wife, Ruth, in a night club in Peoria. He was with a strip tease dancer at the time. Mrs. Freed was discharged on a plea that the shooting was accidental. Mrs. Freed was sought in 1936 for questioning in the mysterious murder of Audrey Vallette, known as the night club butterfly girl, but after surrendering a year later was cleared by a coroner's jury.

Day by Day on the Farm By BOB BECKER

Something to Sniff At.

Sept. 11, 1941.

MANY distinctive and pleasing aromas waft about farms every season, including the fragrance of lilac bushes in the spring, new mown clover in midsummer, chopped corn going into the silos in early autumn, and the spicy fragrance of simmering chili sauce from a warm kitchen. This week it's the aroma of bread and butter pickles that's emanating from several of the farm homes.

When we were on the Du Page county farm the other day one of the housewives was just completing the job of canning nine quarts of this delicious relish. The kitchen still was filled with the pungent odors of vinegar, sugar, mustard seed, black pepper, celery seed, onions, tumeric, and other spices used in the pickling process.

Soup's On, Too.

And the fragrance of the pickle relish wasn't the only spice in the air that day. Delicious vegetable soup, with such ingredients as fresh tomatoes, carrots, Bermuda onions, celery, and peppers, was simmering on the stove.

The fruit cellars in the farm homes gradually are being filled to capacity as a result of the housewives' efforts. The farmer's wife who was just putting the lids on her nine quarts of pickles was telling us that she also has canned 25 quarts of peaches, 50 quarts of green beans, 22 quarts of tomatoes, and assorted other relishes, jams, and jellies. There still are more tomatoes to be picked, so there isn't much doubt that many quarts of this vegetable will be added to the winter supply.

The vegetable gardens from which the farm families gather the tomatoes and other canning delicacies seem to be serving as general headquarters for the pheasants and quail. The gardeners report that on almost every trip thru the rows of vegetables they flush from 3 to 20 game birds. The quail are seen so often that they usually don't bother to run away until the men are within a few feet of them.

Suspected Departures.

There isn't much doubt that some of the 50 pheasants hatched in the farm incubator this spring have "escaped." The chicks [ringnecks, blacknecks, Chinese, and mutants] were kept in a pen for several weeks and then released near the garden. Most of the birds made their way to the woods south and east of the lawn. But one of the men saw about 15 chicks of various species flying over the board fence and across the highway.

It's possible that some of these "escapees" will return to the farm to take advantage of the excellent cover and the free feeding stations this winter, but there's little doubt that many of the game birds hatched on the farm each season leave the farm property and stay in the surrounding territory. Large game farms which hatch thousands of pheasants, ducks, and other birds each season always lose hundreds of birds which "fly the coop" every year.

BRITISH DEATH RAY INVENTOR IS DEAD AT 61

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP).—Harry Grindell-Matthews, 61 years old, electrical research scientist known as "Death Ray Matthews," died of a heart attack today in his lonely, carefully guarded laboratory bungalow on the top of a mountain near Swansea, Wales. He had been ill several months.

Harry Grindell-Matthews.

Grindell-Matthews, who married Ganna Walska, the singer, in 1938, invented a ray which he said would bring down airplanes at a distance. It has been reported also that he devised a ray to kill disease germs and designed a rocket airplane to travel six miles a second.

STATE SENATOR A. OTIS ARNOLD DIES AT QUINCY

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 11 (AP).—State Senator A. Otis Arnold, 63, leader in Republican politics in Adams county for the last 25 years and former state representative, died in a hospital today a few hours after he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while at work in the office of his printing plant here.

Arnold, president of the Arnold Printing and past grand master of the Illinois I. O. O. F., served as representative from the 36th district for five consecutive terms after the World war. He was one of the Republican leaders of the general assembly during the gubernatorial terms of the late Governors Frank O. Lowden and Len Small. After his defeat for reëlection to a sixth term, he was an unsuccessful candidate on the Republican ticket for congress.

THREE STORES ROBBED; TAKE $113.

South side police yesterday were hunting a diminutive robber who took $113 in three shoe store robberies at 1321 East 63d street, 4807 South Ashland avenue, and 7851 South Halsted street.

WHY SAVE A FEW DOLLARS and risk disability or death from your venereal disease?

It's the height of false economy to try to save money by resorting to self treatment for a venereal disease. For doing so may easily result in disability or premature death! Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT," the Public Health Institute makes a full examination for gonorrhea and syphilis at very low cost, and gives individual treatments at fees so low as to be within the reach of every wage earner.

FRUIT REMAINS BRIGHT SPOT IN PRICE PICTURE!

Vegetables, Too, but Meat Keeps Going Up.

BY MARY MEADE.

The cooler weather marks the beginning of the end of the homegrown season. But as long as that season lingers, fresh fruits and vegetables will remain a bright spot in the food price situation.

Meats, on the other hand, still are going up. You'll find bacon a few pennies higher a pound than it was a month ago. Round steak now costs between 35 and 40 cents a pound even at stores which have a reputation for low prices. Pork is high and butchers seldom feature it. Lamb gets no bargain attention at all this week. And beef, even at higher prices, seems the best all-round bargain at the meat counter. Rib roasts and chuck roasts look like the better buys of the lot.

Stewing hens are less plentiful than is usual at this time of year, but you'll find them sale priced occasionally and an excellent choice for Sunday dinner menus. Dress the fowl up in a fricassee, a chicken pie, or casserole, and it's fine company fare. Frying and roasting chickens sell for quite a few cents more than the stewers, but aren't a bad buy.

Follow Price Trend.

Many staples and dairy products are following the rising price trend, too. All of which leaves the vegetable and fruit bargains mighty attractive indeed. And the smart homemaker will pack plenty of these vitamin and mineral rich items into her meals while they're still available.

The recent rains have sprouted a new crop of local green beans. Even the very best green beans are reasonable and the poorer grades are cheap indeed. There's quite a range in quality by the way, so buy and cook accordingly.

Eggplant, which is ready for picking in all the local gardens is very cheap. Most of the greens are cheap and western lettuce has dropped in price a little. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and getting cheaper by the minute. They're cheaper than some white potatoes at the moment. Irish potatoes, by the way, are all a little higher. This is the one vegetable that comes in for a little speculative buying.

Other low-priced vegetables include bunch beets [a double bargain if you cook the tops as greens] cabbage, carrots, celery, okra, dry onions, parsnips, turnips, squash, green onions, and radishes.

Cauliflower Prices Up.

Hails in Colorado have upped cauliflower prices. Tomatoes have passed their lowest price point, and are now on the upgrade. Corn and green peas are both a little higher, and cucumber of the best quality is slightly higher.

You'll find the first Pascal celery from the west on the market these days and pumpkins are already here, too.

There are signs of fall in the fruit department, too, with the first cranberries of the year on display. They're quite reasonable for the first offerings.

Fall apples are arriving in larger quantities. You'll find Jonathans, Delicious, and McIntosh varieties as well as summer Wealthies. The first fancy boxed Washington apples arrived this week and included McIntosh and Jonathan apples.

A Light Grape Crop.

Prices on Michigan Concord grapes haven't changed much since they first appeared. Since it's a light crop, they may not get much cheaper, so buy now if you like grape jellies and jams and fat grape pies. Western grapes are in their full glory about now. There are eight or 10 varieties now available, including Seedless, Ribieres, both red and white Malagas, Tokays, Moroccos, Ladyfinger types, and Muscats. The Muscats are the most expensive of the lot, tho all are selling at a reasonable range.

Watermelons are still very reasonable. They're not quite so plentiful as earlier, however. Honeydews, Casabas and Persian melons are also available. Cantaloupe are slightly cheaper this week. There's a wide range in quality, condition and price of cantaloupes, the best coming from California. Michigan melons of good quality are very reasonable.

Italian prunes are cheaper and a very good buy. This fruit is ripe for canning and makes wonderful jams and butters. Prices on peaches are going up. Michigan peaches should be gone by next week and that about finishes the peach season.

Wife of Senator Barbour Wins Divorce in Wyoming

Laramie, Wyo., Sept. 11 (AP).—Mrs. Elysabeth C. Carrere Barbour was granted a divorce yesterday from United States Senator W. Warren Barbour of New Jersey. The suit charged intolerable indignities. Mrs. Barbour filed the action against the senator, a Republican who maintains his residence at Locust, N. J., after establishing residence at an Encampment, Wyo., dude ranch. She was awarded custody of three minor children, Elysabeth, Warren and Sharon. The Barbours were married in December, 1921.

CHEMISTS FIND NEW LIQUID WOOD MAKING PROCESS

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP).—A method of making liquid wood was reported to the American Chemical society today by H. P. Godard, J. L. McCarthy, and Harold Hibbert of McGill university, Montreal, Que.

This is the first time that wood has been completely converted into a liquid. The purpose is to be able to extract more of the valuable chemicals, especially those resembling the products of coal. The liquid is made by heating wood in an organic solution at a little over 500 degrees Fahrenheit and under 5,000 pounds pressure per square inch. One of the new chemicals so obtained, they reported, closely resembles the stuff from which nylon is made.

IT'S A GOOD TIME TO GET RELISH RECIPE BOOKLET

If You're Going to Can Peaches Better Hurry.

There's still time to add a few jars of homemade pickles, relishes, chili sauce, and catsup to your pantry shelf supply, and the recipes will be found in "Favorite Pickles and Relishes" [3 cents; or 5 cents by mail]. While firm, ripe peaches are still available on the market, better hurry and find directions for canning them.

These directions, along with recipes for other fruits, vegetables, meats, and poultry are included in "Homemaker's Guide to Canning" [5 cents; or 7 cents by mail]. And for those winter breakfast hot breads, you'll be glad to have a stock of jams and preserves on hand. "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies" is full of good tested recipes for making them. The booklet sells for 20 cents, or will be mailed to you for 23 cents in stamps.

The following booklets by Mary Meade also can be obtained at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or in the Tribune Tower lobby, or write to Mary Meade, inclosing stamps if you wish the booklets sent to you.

Milk Goes Up Again! Cow Is Found Hiding Upstairs

Bergen, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP).—Mrs. Irene Merrill telephoned police that one of her cows vanished from the barn during a thunderstorm and she feared it was stolen. The search was cut short when she reported: "The cow is found. She had climbed the barn stairs to the haymow. Must have been frightened by the storm."

OATMEAL DATE COOKIES GOOD FOR CHILDREN

Oatmeal cookies are excellent ones for children's lunchboxes and afternoon snacks. A date filling gives this oatmeal cookie added interest and food value.

OATMEAL DATE COOKIES.

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
½ cup lard, scant
½ cup butter, scant
1 cup brown sugar
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
2¼ cups oatmeal
½ cup water

Combine dates, sugar, and water and cook gently to a thick paste, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Cream shortening and sugar together. Sift flour and soda together and mix with the oatmeal. Add to creamed mixture alternately with the water. Roll dough thin and pour date paste on half of it. Fold over remaining dough and place in greased shallow pan. Bake in moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for about 15 minutes, or until done. Cut in bars while still hot. Dust with confectioners' sugar if desired.

Here's Some Variety for Your Cinnamon Toast

Here's variety for your cinnamon toast: Toast the bread slices on one side only, then butter the untoasted side while still hot. Spread honey over the butter and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Place under broiler until dressing is well blended, 3 or 4 minutes.

THESE ARE MUFFINS OF THE YUMMY TYPE, GOOD AT ANY TIME

TOMATO BACON MUFFINS.
[One dozen medium.]

2 cups sifted all purpose flour
4 tablespoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup tomato juice
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
2 strips bacon, cut in ¼ inch pieces and cooked

Sift dry ingredients together and combine eggs with tomato juice, bacon fat and bacon. Add liquid mixture to dry ingredients, stirring just enough to blend. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for 25 minutes.

Aid to Britain Means Less Food for U.S., London Told

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP).—The United States is sending enormous quantities of food to Britain with the result that the American public will be consuming less of those products and paying a higher price for what they do consume, Paul H. Appleby, United States undersecretary of Agriculture, told interviewers today. Appleby, who arrived here last month to work on the food problem, added "that will give us some administrative and agricultural headaches."

Nazi Wives Urged to Store Up Big Stock of Potatoes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Housewives of Essen, German steel center, are being urgently advised by the Essener National Zeitung to lay in a two weeks' supply of potatoes while the market is plentiful. The paper supports its advice, which is contrary to the authorities' efforts to smother all attempts at hoarding, with the statement that "no one can tell whether the peculiar circumstancs of war conditions may not 'once again' hem transportation of the tubers."

TASTY COBBLER MADE OF APPLES AND GINGERBREAD

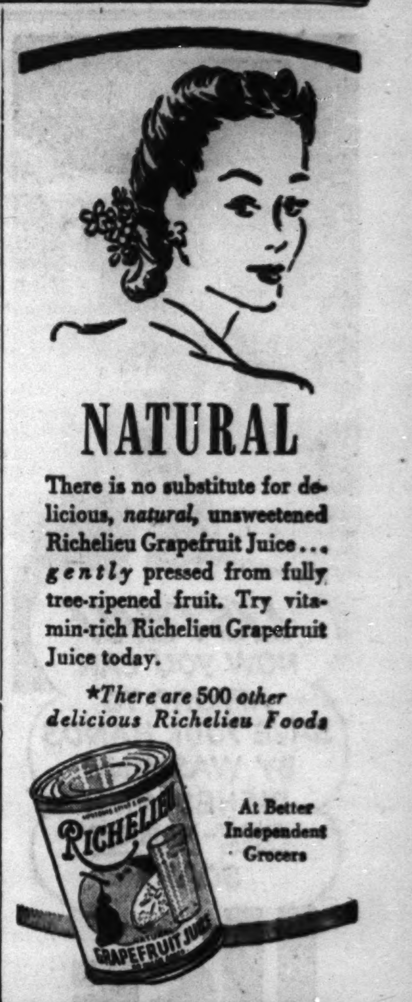
APPLE GINGERBREAD COBBLER.
[Serves six.]

4 apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
¼ cup sour milk
¼ cup molasses
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
1½ tablespoons butter

Core, pare, and slice apples. Mix half the combined sugars with the apples and place in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with lemon juice and bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 20 minutes while batter is being mixed. Beat egg slightly and add remaining sugar, sour milk, and molasses. Mix and sift dry ingredients together and stir into liquid mixture. Add melted butter, stirring to blend. Pour batter over hot apples. Replace in oven and bake 30 minutes longer at 350 degrees or until the cake shrinks from sides of pan. Serve plain or with lemon sauce.



JELLIED PRUNE WHIP IS PRETTY AND TASTY, TOO

There are baked and unbaked prune whips and here's one that's jellied. It tastes even better than it looks, and that's saying a lot, since this is a very pretty looking dessert.

JELLIED PRUNE WHIP.

1 tablespoon plain unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup hot prune juice
1 cup cooked prune pulp
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 egg whites

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add sugar, salt, and hot prune juice and stir until dissolved. Add prune pulp and lemon juice. Chill. When mixture begins to thicken beat until fluffy with rotary beater. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill. When firm unmold and garnish with whole cooked prunes, stuffed with softened cream cheese.

"No Light Came On"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

[Copyright: 1941: By Alice Ormond Campbell]

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl, sent by her boss to Paris to buy antiques, runs into Mrs. Rentrew, her rich and snobbish Cousin Lou, who insists Gay go home with her. Almost at once Mrs. Rentrew is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace Rentrew, and her servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay goes to the hospital to visit her cousin and runs into Miles Dorsey, a young Englishman, who is a junior partner in a firm that looks after her cousin's affairs, and Raoul de Chabenil, a charming gigolo. With misgivings Gay agrees to take Lou's jewel box home and put it in the wall safe. Raoul insists on driving Gay home.

INSTALMENT V.

LONG WAY HOME.

Raoul de Chabenil elevated his brows with polite disinterest. "All the world seems gravitating in Madame Rentrew's direction. You found her well?"

"She looked all right," I hedged, and with lightning intuition he understood.

"Quite." Gravely he nodded, eyes to the front. "In fact, it is very hard to believe what the nurse confided to me. It seems altogether fantastic—no?"

"I'd have said so, certainly. Of course, I'd been with her only a few days."

"Pah! It's a blunder. I am told that only a year ago her blood pressure was taken and was described as that of a woman 15 years younger. Is it likely that in so short a time——?"

"Don't ask me!"

He dropped the subject, and the slight shadow that made me wonder if the chateau deal had finally been clinched lifted from his brow.

"What's that?" I asked, seeing his lips move with secret enjoyment.

"I'm repeating your name. Gay! Gay Ripley." I can't tell you how thrilling he made it sound. "It's delicious. It ripples. Please, how did they come to call you Gay?"

"It's a family name," I told him. "My mother was a Miss Gay, and so was Mrs. Rentrew before she married."

"Well, and your cousin is still gay, n'est-ce pas? Her accent, tho, is not yours. Why is that?"

"O, different parts of the country. How, by the way, do you happen to speak such wonderfully good English?"

"Governesses." He shrugged it aside. "And you. Shall you be long in Paris?"

His manners were just right. He didn't flirt, didn't openly flatter, and yet as we spun along in the soft, late sunshine he made me forget the Englishman's neatly inflicted rebuff; yes, even the nagging worry about whether or not the new firm would be requiring my services. Once more I was sitting on the tiptop of the world—Gay Ripley, in a new hat, just 24, with no need to put henna on her hair; a girl who'd made good in New York and whom three perfectly useful if undesired men had sent flowers when she sailed.

Suddenly I noticed the Etoile lay in the wrong direction.

"Stop," I urged. "Home's the other way."

"Does it matter? An evening like this! Surely I may be allowed to run you round the Bois?"

"Well! I've a dinner engagement at 7:30. It's true I don't have to change, but——"

"Why not let me drop you there? It will be no trouble, I assure you."

"No, I've simply got to stop in at the apartment. Turn about, we're wasting time."

"I am yours to command!"

O, his mock humility was irresistible; but—would you believe it?—he kept right on into the Bois, threading expertly in and out the avenues of young, tiny leafed trees and whirling me back again so swiftly that I couldn't upbraid him. I'd been nervous about the jewels, anxious to dump them in their safe lockup, but just the same I was loving this light hearted spin round my beloved Paris. It was nice having a young and attractive Frenchman pointing out Bagatelles and distant St. Cloud with little snippets of amusing side history. Nice, too, feeling he wanted to make the most of our short interval together—as I could swear he did.

I'd been nursing the beauty case on my lap and held right on to it during some violent jolts—De Chabenil being the usual French motorist who goes all out and has to pull up frantically to avoid destruction. Now, near the Avenue Malakoff, there came a most frenzied scream of brakes. My black case hurtled down among the gear things, a driver whose mudguard had got shaved yelled profanity at our heads, and a sergeant de ville—O, I'd learned not to call them gendarmes in Paris—shouldered toward us, getting out his book. It was no moment to rescue my property. De Chabenil's foot was on it, his lips still smiled, but his eyes flashed dangerous sparks.

And then, French fashion, the whole mess-up petered out.

"So sorry!" The sleek head ducked. "I hope this bag didn't fall on your toe."

He kicked aside a thick rug that had slid in a heap over our ankles, righted the case, and in a second had restored it to my keeping. Blithely we darted on, stopping in good time at the white, scrolled entrance to Cousin Lou's building. De Chabenil looked at me, but didn't move.

"So you're dining out. That is too bad. Perhaps another evening you might care to dine with me?"

"I'd love it," I said, and I meant it.

"Splendid!"

His warm brown gaze fell from my hat to my face and dwelt there a moment. Very reluctantly, then, he slid his lithe legs to the sidewalk, and just at this juncture I caught a movement from the white wall high above where one of several small balconies bellied out from the façade. I looked up. I knew it was our balcony by the pink geraniums, but the person peering down had withdrawn.

"No, don't see me in," I insisted. "This bag's very light."

His quick glancing eye had traced my upward survey. "Bon!" He nodded. "Then it's au revoir."

When I looked back from inside the dank, gray tunnel that led to a flower decked court, the smart sports car was gone.

Well! It was a relief to get those jewels to cover. In the bronzed elevator I heaved a sigh and hoped Horace would be in.

He was. I heard his high pitched voice raised in anger, and as I stepped inside the front door onto the thick, velvety carpet I saw him holding one of his wrangles with Hortense. So she'd beaten me back home. Horace and Hortense were continually brawling when they weren't softsoaping each other. They were boon companions, and I'd heard Horace say that for years on end he'd tried to wheedle Marise into handing her prize cook over to him. It was funny to see them going for each other hammer and tongs, Horace with his pearl gray hat clinched in his pudgy hand and dull red coming thru his pastiness; Hortense in her snow white overall, perspiration making wet tags of her stringy hair; but I supposed two such hot authorities on food had to disagree.

"Good!" rapped Hortense in her heavy Midi French. "Then since Monsieur knows so much more than me, I had better retire." Her eye fell on me and she shut up, seething with malevolence.

"Enough!" Horace flared. "I'll do the aubergines—and I'll do them my way."

He padded towards me, chewing a soda mint, but I was reading the message I'd found on the hall console. Hortense gave a sniff and flounced thru the baize door.

"Mule headed old fool!" Horace mopped his bald forehead. "Yes, I know, your dinner's canceled. What's this, a note from Marise?"

He had taken the envelope I extended. He glanced at its contents and sweated some more.

"I don't like this," he complained. "Don't like it at all! What'll that silly girl do next? The bank's the place for this valuable stuff. She says she's sent me an inventory. She's done no such thing. Did she give it to you?"

"Inventory of her jewelry? I expect she forgot."

"She would. What's here?" he prodded the makeup case. "O, you don't know! Not her pearls, I bet; she never lets them off her neck. Well, it's done now. We'll just have to shove them into that safe."

It seemed a fairly reliable safe, altho Horace had some trouble with the combination, and big enough to contain the whole case. We were quite alone in the spacious bedroom, but Horace turned his head, and I heard some one pacing along the hall past the open door. Manx, by his quiet tread.

Horace clicked the panel into place and stood up.

"Wants you to sleep in here, does she? All right, Hortense must stir her fat legs and see to the change-over. God knows what she's been up to! She'd her hat on when I came in."

"O, I'll move my things, Mr. Rentrew! It's really not Hortense's job." Which it wasn't. There was a femme de ménage who came in daily to do the housework till more maids had been found. I'd better start now.

I looked at the Marie Laurencin. It was a lovely, washy portrait of Cousin Lou, done some 10 years ago when she wasn't so brittle. I let my eye drift over the soft mulberry window curtains, the low Italian bed with its folded sable rug, and the bits of period furniture that always made my mouth water.

"I see the Riesener table's back."

"That? Yes, my man's done a nice job of the repairs, don't you think?"

"Very nice. I can't see the nicked place at all."

Pork Shoulder Chops Feature This Casserole

Pork shoulder chops are the meat in this meal-in-a-dish casserole. The casserole is so complete that the only extras needed to round out the menu are a green leafy salad and a simple fruit or milk dessert.

PORK AND CORN CASSEROLE.

[Serves six.]

3 cups cooked rice, buttered
6 medium pork shoulder chops
1 cup whole kernel corn
1 small can cream of mushroom soup

Cook, season, and butter rice and brown chops in a little fat. Place half the rice in the bottom of a baking dish and top with pork chops. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread with corn and pour half the mushroom soup over this. Add remaining rice and mushroom soup and bake in a moderate [375 degrees] oven for 30 minutes.

APPLE SEASON AT HAND; HERE'S HOW TO CHOOSE

Eating Variety Is Best for Salad Making.

You'll be using more and more apples these days. Fall apples are coming to market, and when you turn the calendar page to October the big apple season of the year will be in full swing.

Since you'll be using lots of apples, it's well to know what apples are going to be available this and next month and how best to use them. The list is a fairly long one, but here are the more common varieties and their uses.

Apples available this month in large quantity are Gravenstein eating and general purpose apples from the west coast and local Maiden Blush and Wealthy apples for cooking and general use. The Maiden Blush and Wealthies still will be around in volume for another couple of months.

Many Varieties Available.

Many fall varieties, such as Jonathans, McIntosh, and Greenings are on the market in fairly large quantities, but they'll not really be here in volume for another two or three weeks. October apples include Snow apples for eating, McIntosh for eating, baking, and general use; Grimes Golden for eating and general use, Spitzenburg for eating and general use, Northwestern Greening for cooking, Rhode Island Greening for cooking and general use, Jonathans for eating and all purposes, and Delicious for eating.

Eating apples should be on your preferred list for salad making. Since you get the most of their food value from apples when they're served raw, the group of eating apples is especially important.

The skin of apples seems to contain more vitamin C than does the flesh, so whenever possible leave the skin on. There's not a great deal of vitamin C in apples, but since apples are eaten in fairly large quantities, their little goes a long way. Apples contain large amounts of cellulose and pectin, which also makes them valuable in maintaining the health of the digestive tract.

Tart Apples Cook Best.

Cooked apples have a better flavor when the apple is tart and firm. Long cooking and the use of large amounts of sugar tends to destroy delicate apple flavors. Cooking with a cover on only until the fruit is tender gives best results.

If you like a pink tinge to your apple sauce and a decided red coloring to your baked apples, choose red skinned apples and leave the skin on. Even one red skinned apple will give an attractive tint to a batch of apple sauce.

BAKED APPLES.

Wash apples and cut away stem and blossom ends, sprinkle each apple with 1 teaspoon of sugar [more if apples are very tart]. Place apples in covered dish and add 2 or 3 tablespoons of water. Bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven for about 30 minutes or until nearly tender. Remove cover and bake 5 or 10 minutes longer.

APPLE SAUCE.

Peel and core apples and quarter. For each 3 cups apples measure ¾ cup water and ⅓ cup sugar. Cook sugar and water together to make a sirup and add apples. Cover and cook rapidly until tender, from 10 to 20 minutes, depending on size and variety.

Cranberry Cookies and Milk

Serve these cranberry topped cookies with milk for a simple luncheon dessert or an afternoon snack. The tart cranberry topping gives the cookies a wonderful flavor. Use your pet molasses cookie recipe and roll rather thick. Press into the top of each cookie a teaspoon of molded, canned cranberry sauce and bake as usual. The cranberry sauce may be sliced thinly and cut into fancy shapes with small cookie cutters for special occasions. FOUND: NEW WAY TO SERVE AN OLD PET—BEEF CHUCK

Beef chuck has been one of the best buys on the market for some time now. You don't have to serve it in the same old style each time it appears on your menu. You'll like it this way:

SPICED BEEF.

[Serves six.]

3 pounds beef chuck
⅛ teaspoon cloves
6 medium sized onions
½ teaspoon peppercorns
2 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon allspice
6 bay leaves
12 gingersnaps

Wipe meat with damp cloth and place in a saucepan, cover with a mixture of half water and half vinegar. Add remaining ingredients except gingersnaps and let stand 24 hours. Bring to boil and simmer gently until meat is tender. Pour off broth and allow meat to brown uncovered. Meanwhile strain broth and heat to boiling. Soften gingersnaps to a paste in a little cold water and add to broth. Cook gently for 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Return meat to gravy and let stand in it for about 15 minutes before serving.

Add Few Frankfurters to Kidney Bean Salad

Old-fashioned kidney bean salad gets a lift when sliced cooked frankfurters are added to it. This is a husky salad for hungry lunchers and not the kind to serve with a big meal. Let it star at a lunch.

KIDNEY BEAN SALAD SPECIAL.

3 or 4 frankfurters, cooked
2 cups canned kidney beans
2 hard cooked sliced eggs
⅓ cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped sweet pickle
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
⅓ cup salad dressing, cooked

Skin and slice franfurters. Pour beans in colander and rinse with cold water. Combine all ingredients and chill. Serve on crisp lettuce or other greens.

BEATS ALL OTHER BARS FOR WASHING WHITE

In Independent Vote of Hundreds of Chicago Women

THERE'S no mystery in Chicago women's minds about which bar laundry soap gets their clothes sparkling white and bright! Their first choice is the rich, golden American Family Bar. As shown by a recent independent city-wide poll of hundreds of Chicago women, American Family won by a landslide vote over all other bars, even those containing naphtha, for getting clothes really white! Received more votes than any other bar for washing safely too!

Remember, this richer American Family Soap is especially made for the hard water of this area. Actually gives up to ⅓ more suds than 8 other bars tested in our laboratories. Suds that soak dirt loose without back-breaking rubbing, or boiling and bleaching—getting your white clothes dazzling white—your colored washables bright and gay, wash after wash! So mild on hands, it's grand for dishwashing too. Switch to American Family now—for safe, economical, sparkling white washes!

All Chicago Clubs Are Urged to Help Save Auditorium

A plea to all clubs in Chicago to contribute toward the $400,000 fund needed to reopen the Auditorium theater is being made by the Auditorium Music Foundation, nonprofit organization seeking to save Chicago's cultural landmark.

Letters are being sent to the heads of civic, service, music, social, fraternal, and patriotic groups asking that the Auditorium's cause be presented to club members, Robert Hall McCormick, president of the foundation, said. The foundation hopes that every club member will make some contribution, whether it be 10 cents or $10.

"We're eager to get a large number of small contributions," he said, "because we feel that when the Auditorium reopens, it should be every one's Auditorium. It will be if each person can say, 'I helped reopen it.'"

Checks should be made payable to the Auditorium Music Foundation, 332 South Michigan avenue.

WEDDING

Miss Reymour Bentzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Bentzen of Nelson street, will become the bride of Vladimir de Lissovoy, son of Mrs. Olga de Lissovoy, on Sept. 20. A reception will follow in Abbott hall.

FASHIONS by ANGELA

If you have a taste for brown, this is the season to indulge it. Brown is one of the most popular fall colors. And there are so many variations between the two extremes of rich dark brown and warm beige that practically any personality or any complexion can be complimented. Nutria brown, cinnamon, nutmeg, and so on . . . new colors and new names.

The first of these three dresses for junior girls is a dark brown crêpe trimmed with collar and cuffs of a greenish gold color embroidered with gold threads. The princess lines of the bodice and the softly gathered ruffle at the hipline make it a most graceful costume for slender, firm figures.

Nutria brown makes the second model with the tiered skirt. Nutria brown is a light, soft, warm color with lots of gray. The tiers are cut as a spiral and wind in one continuous piece from the hemline up to the waist. A little fullness sunbursting out from the high round neck gives a soft line.

Study of Peace Basis Is Urged by Methodists

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 11 (AP).—A nine point program adopted by the Illinois conference of the Methodist church today recommended the study of a "basis for a just and enduring peace, including the sacrifices that the United States must take in world reconstruction."

"Our country should not become a belligerent in the European and Asiatic wars now raging," said the report presented by the committee on world peace and social and economic reform.

Other points offered by the committee were:

Because only half of the 399 allotted positions are filled, additional Methodist chaplains should be put in the service.

Earlier the conference appropriated $54,500 for work among soldiers at Chanute field by the First Methodist church at Rantoul.

The report commended the government for its liberal attitude toward conscientious objectors.

The committee on world peace included the Rev. A. R. Grummon, Springfield; the Rev. W. E. Shaw, the Rev. W. H. Whitlock, the Rev. O. B. Enselman, and the Rev. H. C. Northcott of Champaign; the Rev. D. H. Gibbs, Pekin; the Rev. Thomas B. Lugg, Decatur, and Laymen R. W. Fairchild, Normal; Grover C. Watson, Farmer City; H. R. Snavely, Marshall; Roy Featherstone, Monmouth; Dr. H. O. Learn to Walk Daily; It Is an Aid to Health

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

An army man was discussing recently the difficulties that the older service man has with his feet. Some of these men referred to are in their late 20s and early 30s, but their feet, nevertheless, cause them endless discomfort. The long hikes suddenly confronting groups whose leg muscles long since have forgotten to respond to walking opportunities are sometimes torture. Then age itself, even a three decade accumulation of years, we are told, makes inroads on the flexibility of tendons offset only by consistent daily exercising of the leg and foot muscles.

Some few women, but regretably very few women, may be able to say: "Walking is no trial for me. I'm an addict." The rest of us have to learn to walk again. We are not speaking of walking to the nearby market or shopping center. We are talking of walks a mile long, two miles, even three. That's what we ask if you are equal to. That's what you may be forced to do without interviewing your feet on the subject at all.

To rebuild morale and supply a new stamina to existence, we might appoint a daily walking program for ourselves. A half mile the first day, but of walking briskly. A mile later. Two miles later on. This is the glorious time of the year for the health and stamina lending experiment.

Industrial Division Heads Are Appointed for Community Fund

Organization of the industrial division of the 1941 Community fund campaign was begun yesterday with the appointment of six subdivision chairmen by E. P. Brooks, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., chairman of the industrial drive.

The appointees, together with the subdivision, each will head are: Paul Grady, accountants; Edwin O. Bloomquist, confectioners; H. N. Kohn, finance companies; Kenneth L. Williams, hotels; Joseph C. Beckman, millinery, and Frank Spencer, petroleum.

The industrial division is expected to reach and solicit contributions toward the fund's $3,583,000 goal from the city's million workers. Of these, 550,000 actually contributed in the 1940 drive.

Radio Fashion Show to Aid Arden Shore

BY JUDITH CASS.

A PREVIEW of what the Chicago Arden Shore committee can give in the way of a Top Notch party was given yesterday when the women in charge of the annual benefit dinner-dance met for luncheon in the Regency room of Camellia House. The dinner-dance is to be called the Top Notch ball because top notchers in the world of sports will be the special guests. Patty Berg, Alice Marble, Johnny Revolta, and Dick Metz already have accepted invitations to attend the party, which will be in the Gold Coast room of the Drake on Saturday, Oct. 11. George Rector has agreed to act as master of ceremonies.

The Chicago Arden Shore committee is busy not only with plans for the ball but with arrangements for a new sort of benefit—a radio program in Camellia House on Tuesday, Sept. 30. It will be the second of a series of thirteen that has been arranged to be broadcast over W-G-N on Tuesday afternoons from Camellia House.

Each Program to Start with Fashion Show.

Each program will start with a fashion show, the highlights of which will be described on the air by Florence Bourke Ellis, who then will give a book review. A local charitable organization will receive part of the proceeds each afternoon and some one connected with the group will be chosen to be the Camellia lady that day.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster is to be the first Camellia lady on Tuesday, Sept. 23, when France Forever will sponsor the program. Mrs. Brewster just has assumed the chairmanship of the Chicago committee. As the head of the Fatherless Children of France here during and after the first World war, Mrs. Brewster did notable work and won the admiration of all who worked with her. And it seems particularly fitting that she should be given camellias and congratulations at the first of Camellia House's broadcast fashion-teas.

Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, honorary president of the Arden Shore committee, and one of its founders, will be the Camellia lady on Sept. 30. The Kenwood Social Service club, which contributes to the Infant Welfare society, will sponsor the third broadcast on Oct. 7 and the British War Relief society the one on Oct. 14.

Each Organization to Have Later Broadcast.

Neither organization has chosen its Camellia lady yet, but Mrs. Fred Herendeen is in charge of arrangements for the south side club's program. Each one of these groups will have a second broadcast later in the series and also the National Council of Jewish Women, and perhaps the Illinois Club for Catholic Women.

Mrs. George H. Williamson is chairman of the Chicago Arden Shore committee and Mrs. Homer Lange is benefit chairman. Working with them are Mrs. Dwight Green, Mrs. J. Eugene Davis, Mrs. John Alden Morgan, Mrs. Melvin Sowles, Mrs. Thomas J. Fleming, Mrs. George Traver, Mrs. Victor Lewis, and Mrs. Norton V. Smith Jr., all of whom were at the meeting yesterday except the wife of the governor. She had come from Springfield especially to attend the luncheon but a bad cold confined her to her apartment at the Edgewater Beach hotel. She was chairman of last year's successful Orchid ball for the benefit of Arden Shore.

Jersey---Wool or Silk---High in Fashion Favor

BY REA SEEGER.

Wool and silk jersey steal the fashion spotlight in every show. There are excitingly draped silk jersey dresses that are the last word in subtle sophistication because of the intricate swathed drapery, in such lush colors as ginger, almond green, and dramatic dull black. Most of them are made entirely of luxurious thin, clinging, silk jersey and even tho they are expensive they're worth every penny. They are dresses that you can wear and wear, and never appear dated. Some are shadowed with velvet trim; these are definitely the newest arrivals.

Wool jersey is used for some of the smartest street suits, a fine smooth but sturdier jersey than the clinging dresses. Tailored daytime dresses, including the ever popular shirtwaist models, are also of wool jersey. Some go dress parade with jeweled belts, others with flashing studs, even the glitter of rhinestones in buttons and studs.

Never in fashion history has jersey taken such a decided place in all the collections. Some of the newest long dinner dresses are of natural tone wool jersey sewn with thousands of small rhinestones from shoulder to hemline. Short sleeves, collars, and neckline and decorative panel pocket flaps are massed solidly with rhinestones and there are shorter versions of the same dress for cocktail parties.

Sequins and paillettes shimmer and shine on suavely draped, high colored dinner dresses, as well as on the newest of dull black evening gowns. Gathered and draped long gowns ready either for dinner or more formal events are long or short sleeved or sleeveless or with scant caps over the shoulders.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

We spend a great deal of time in beauty shops of all classes and enjoy the acquaintance of many persons who man them and while we realize that in some instances customers' complaints are justified we often are appalled at the completely inconsiderate attitude of some of the patrons.

What it boils down to, actually, is that the woman customer is apt to be terribly unbusinesslike in what is after all a business transaction. The shop that is smooth-running and tidy, staffed by competent people with good dispositions, can be thrown into a surprising uproar by just one tardy client—and tardiness is the besetting sin of the average woman at the beauty shop.

Most of us feel that five minutes won't make a lot of difference, but it does. What's more, by the time the client has her hat off, has collected her bag, perhaps put on a smock, and is finally settled in the shampoo chair, she's usually an easy 12 minutes late. And that, in a shop where everything is organized to go by clockwork, is enough to make the poor shampoo girl run late all day.

Her lateness mounts up as more women come in after their appointment time. The hairdresser is held up, and so is the manicurist. The people on the desk go quietly crazy and the customers obliged to wait go understandably crazy too, but they can be, and are, vocal about it.

The tardy client does a grave injustice to the people who serve her and the patrons who follow her, and she herself can't hope to fare so well at the hands of nervous operators. What say we all make resolutions that things are going to be different from now on?

Explanation to Girl's Family Is in Order Here

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I have been going around with a young woman and have grown deeply attached to her. In the beginning of our companionship, when I went to her home to pick her up, her parents asked that I return her at a certain hour. It was a reasonable hour, neither too early nor too late, and we observed it carefully until the last two times we were out together. In each case a minor accident prevented our return home on time. One, indeed, might be called a major accident, since suddenly I discovered I hadn't a penny with me and we had to walk more than 30 blocks. I thought I had an extra bill in my pocket, but found I didn't.

"Well, the girl's parents acted pretty cool to me that last time and the girl reports words over it. They told her they had changed in their attitude toward me, now that I didn't keep my word. Now, my question is whether I should send them a written apology and explain. If so, have you any suggestions for the wording of such a note?—X Y Z."

You don't want our wording for the apology, X Y Z. Write your own ticket of readmission to their good graces. Simply sit down and pen them a note about your money shortage discovery, and if they are human beings they'll appreciate the trials and tribulations of young love.

Writing the parents puts the incidenc on a more formal footing than we think is required. Why, instead, don't you make it your business to see them face to face and explain that the last thing in the world you'd try to earn would be their disapproval of you.

Sept. 12, 1941.

Universal day—Clear up odd jobs and don't start anything important until tomorrow.

Names and numbers—We saw yesterday how Churchill's birthdate gave us his writing vocation, showing his brilliance in the use of words. We can see in the first letter of his last name this same emphasis on the expressive 3. C is a 3. In fact, he has five 3's in the name Churchill, the two c's, the u, and the two l's. His first name, Winston, adds up to 33, or a double emphasis on 3's, as also does one of his second names which is Leonard, also 33. Here we find added proof of his ability to handle words, and also of his facility for expression when he overcomes the diffident 7 of his birthpath. In 1942, Churchill will be in a 3 year and so we may expect him to break out into print and oratory with unusual frequency and eloquence.

Concise Hints to Mother of School Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

For those mothers who are interested in mapping out an energy-saving and relaxing day for their young school children, the following suggestions are offered:

Whatever we do to safeguard the health and happiness of young school children has to be done before 9 in the morning and after 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

This means that on school days the child's every night's rest has to be planned so that he can sleep adequately and yet get up early enough in the morning to do quietly everything he has to do, that is, his dressing, his eating, and the necessary trip to the bathroom.

To my mind, some time between 3 o'clock in the afternoon and bedtime a child should have at least one short rest period. This could come either when he gets home after school [and he should then have something light and nourishing to eat], or it could come just before bath and supper. Since eating and digestion seem to be so widely interfered with by school in these early years, it is particularly important that eating time should be free from rush and confusion.

As to Saturdays and Sundays, they should be used for big stretches of play and rest and relaxation. It is advisable not to pack too much excitement and visiting and trailing around into that time. I have heard teachers complain that many children come back to school on Monday morning tired out from their week-ends.

One more thing, and that has to do with the schoolroom itself. During the beginning years every child should have a mid-morning rest and some sort of light nourishment, such as milk and crackers, or milk and bread and butter. In schools where this is done a lessening of fatigue has been noticed. And instead of interfering with your child's appetite for lunch, his lessened fatigue makes him eat and digest that meal better.

I also think the second year of school for young children should preferably be, in the classroom, one of more physical freedom and manual activity, with less time devoted to tool subjects.

That the right diet is essential, I should not need to stress. Yet there are many parents who still do not see that their children get the required quota of protective foods, foods which build the whole body, and so build up the nervous system, reserve energy, and resistance to disease.

The implications of an opponent's bid are vitally important to a player who ends up as declarer. Obviously, however, unless one is familiar with the bidding style of a particular opponent, it is difficult to make the proper deductions from his bids. It is for that reason that experts spend so much time appraising their opponents. Consider the "guess" which the declarer had to make in the following hand:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	Pass	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

South, it will be noted, opened with one spade rather than one heart, for purposes of "preparedness." His hand was far from strong. If he bid a heart first and partner responded with two clubs, two diamonds, or one no trump, South would be at a loss for a good re-bid.

North considered doubling two diamonds, but wisely decided against it since even with his singleton spade there was no assurance of defeating that contract. However, his raise of South's heart bid from two to four was too strong. A single raise was all that his hand warranted, particularly at duplicate bridge, in which South would battle against an opponent's low bid on little more than suspicion.

West opened the king of clubs, then played the queen and the ace. Declarer ruffed and drew the outstanding trumps. Now success or failure depended squarely on declarer's guess of the diamond suit. He led the six toward dummy, praying that West would relieve his indecision by putting up the ace. But there was no such luck. West followed with the seven spot.

I fear that the impulse of many players would be to go right up with dummy's king on the assumption that West must have the ace to justify his overcall. The declarer, however, did not take this view of the matter. He reflected that West had shown the A, K, Q of clubs and a singleton heart. Surely, he reasoned, if West had had the diamond ace, also, he would not have contented himself, particularly when not vulnerable, with a mere two-diamond overcall. Either he would have made a take-out double, or he would have found a rebid after South's two heart bid. The fact that he had not done either of these, and that he had not doubled the final contract, seemed sufficient proof that he could not hold the diamond ace. On this sound reasoning declarer put in dummy's jack, fulfilling the contract.

New Way To Wash Clothes
without Pre-SOAKING! without hard RUBBING! without BLEACHING!

Things Fairly Gleam This Easier Way—With Today's Oxydol
With Its New Wonder-Rich Ingredient, It Dissolves Dirt in the Washer
NOW it's possible—a much quicker, easier washday: Just tumble dry clothes into the washer—out they come snowy clean, spic and span, and ready to rinse, the Oxydol way.
Yes, with today's Oxydol you just don't need to soak beforehand—except some stain or unusual piece, of course. Oxydol, with its rich added ingredient, gets clothes sparkling clean without pre-soaking.
Oxydol dissolves dirt while the washer runs. Soaks it loose, draws it out gently, safely. Your wash will come so white and bright you'll just beam.
Safe Way to Get Clothes WHITE—Without Bleaching
One reason things get that gray look in ordinary washing is "wash water scum" settles in threads. It dulls colors, too.
But Oxydol's rich added ingredient cuts down that gray deposit. So things not only come sparkling white—they keep white amazingly—in any water—wash after wash.
While you may want to bleach for stains or unusual pieces, you'll just be amazed to see how Oxydol makes white things gleam without bleaching—how washable colors sparkle.
If You Don't Use A Washer—Oxydol Soaks Dirt Loose in 10 Minutes—No Washboard Scrubbing!
Gets Those "Stubborn Spots"
Have you been doing a lot of hard rubbing on grimy places? You needn't with Oxydol. For those extra "stubborn spots," just wet ::: work in a little extra Oxydol ::: before you toss into the washer. Then see how Oxydol gets worn-in dirt—how your whole wash comes snowy clean without rubbing!

Radio Fashion Show to Aid Arden Shore

will be plenty of space for dancing and dining. The hostesses have disguised picture marks on the walls with garlands, and bouquets of fall posies will brighten the rooms.

Miss Ryerson is a daughter of the Joseph T. Ryersons. Miss Robbins, for whom the party is to be a debut, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins. She was graduated from Chatham Hall last June and will depart on Sunday to enter Vassar college.

A few young marrieds and a few of the hosts' friends have been invited to join the debutantes and their beaux for dancing after dinner.

Mrs. Ralph H. Poole is giving a small luncheon party today for Miss Barbara Bronson, a debutante of the season.

Jean McCracken's Troth Announced at Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McCracken of Glencoe gave a party last night at which they announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Malcolm Ranald Macdonald Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald of Northbrook. Miss McCracken attended Pine Manoar, Northwestern university, and Connecticut College for Women. Mr. Macdonald attended Dartmouth college.

Miss Patricia Austin, the Edwin C. Austins' second daughter, and Renslow D. Sherer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Renslow P. Sherer of Highland Park, will be married at 8:30 o'clock this evening in the Glencoe Union church, with a reception following at the Skokie Country club.

Miss Austin will have 11 attendants, including her sisters, Mrs. Robert Lake Foot and Miss Elizabeth Ann Austin, as matron and maid of honor, and their little cousin, Janet Drake, as flower girl. The eight bridesmaids include another cousin, Miss Anne Roberts of Menomonie, Mich.; Miss Mary Draper of New York, the bride's roommate at Vassar; Miss Mary Talbot Earle, also of New York; Miss Frannie Scott Fitzgerald of Baltimore; Miss Mary Elizabeth Brier of Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Miss Jean Husted, Miss Josephine Fabian, and Miss Ann Crocker Nevin of Darien, Conn.

Janet Drake's little brother, Lyman Drake III., will be the ringbearer. Samuel Sherer will be his brother's best man. Ushering will be George Shay, Victor S. Johnson, Howell Murray, Mr. Foote, Hamilton Herman, Joseph Iseman of New York, Heath Wakeley of Pennsylvania, James Rutledge, and Philip Currie.

Sun Valley, Idaho, to Be Wedding Trip Destination.

Mr. Sherer and his bride will go to Sun Valley, Idaho, on their wedding trip, and will make their home in Evanston. Mr. Sherer's grandfather, Samuel Sherer, has come from Laguna Beach, Cal., for the wedding, and also here are the Albert Sherers of Greenwich, Conn., formerly of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd M. Roberts of Winnetka are in Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., today for the marriage of Miss Anne Sherman Halsey and their son, Charles S. Roberts. The ceremony will take place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Halsey.

Announcement is made of the marriage in La Grange on Sept. 8 of Miss Miami Bourgeois, daughter of Mrs. Tyler Davis of New York and of Henri Bourgeois of the same city, to William Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fitzgerald of Detroit. The wedding took place in the St. Francis Xavier church with a breakfast following at the home of Mrs. Joseph Connell, the bride's maternal grandmother. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald have gone to New York, where they will reside. Mrs. Davis, who came west for the ceremony, is remaining in La Grange for another 10 days as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Peck.

David Blair Ressler Weds New Jersey Girl.

Announcement is made of the marriage in Englewood, N. J., yesterday of Miss Elizabeth Kirkby, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Snare Jr. of that city, to David Blair Ressler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ressler of Short Hills, N. J. Mr. Ressler Sr. is a vice president of the Edward Ryerson company, and well known in Chicago.

The ceremony was held in the First Presbyterian church with a reception following at the Knickerbocker Country club. The bride attended the Warrenton Country Day school and Briarcliff college and is a provisional member of the Englewood Junior league. Mr. Ressler was graduated from Yale in June.

The board of directors of the Chicago and North Shore Vassar clubs will entertain incoming freshmen at a luncheon today at the Chicago College club. Speaking on the subject of "What Freshmen Ought to Know" will be Miss Margaret Burnham, Miss Frances Gordon, and Miss Grace Shumway. Miss Leonore Cudahy, Miss Edith Farwell, Miss Marjorie Lindsay, Miss Peggy Gratiot, Miss Muriel MacChesney, Miss Sidney Meeker, and Miss Laura Winston will serve as hostesses.

Mrs. Harry A. Dow Jr. is giving a carnival luncheon in her Evanston home today for the Mary Bartelme Junior Auxiliary of Evanston. Mrs. Dow is president of the auxiliary, of which the other officers are Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Anne Bunnell, and Miss Ruth Pfisterer.

Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover and her sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton of Detroit, have returned from spending the summer at Eagle's Nest camp near Oregon, Ill., and are in Mrs. Grover's apartment in the Italian Court building.

Phi Omega Pi Luncheon.

The first fall meeting of the Chicago Alumnae chapter of Phi Omega Pi will be a luncheon tomorrow at the Woman's University club, 410 South Michigan avenue. Miss Edith Taylor will report on the organization's convention last July. Mrs. M. G. Milner, president, will preside. Mrs. P. A. Martinson, vice president, is in charge of arrangements.

Alphabet Phrases.

A discussion of the army camps was in progress, and a girl who has recently visited one of the camps was holding forth on how hot it had been and how little there was in the way of recreation for the soldiers. Another, a little blonde with long eyelashes spoke up. "I don't blame some of those boys for going HOLC," she said.

Cuffnotes.

Probably the first autumn costume to make its appearance outside of a fashion show was that worn by Ida Lupino, in Chicago after finishing making Ladies in Retirement. A dark green wool suit with a military note given by gold chains across the front, and a little green hat to match, trimmed with coque feathers, the brim faced with green velvet. A pretty girl, Miss Lupino, who looks a lady. The huge topaz ring she wore was a third anniversary gift of her husband, Louis Hayward. Unlike Hollywood note: The only jewels she likes to wear are semi-precious ones—topazes and amethysts. . . . Pee Wee Russell, regarded as a famous clarinetist by connoisseurs of le jazz Hot is playing, unbilled, in a Wilson avenue bar [the Trocadero]. . . . Speaking of contemporary music, Manuel and Williamson, Chicago harpsichordists, have discovered in their delvings into the past that Mozart wrote music for a contemporary juke box called a barrel organ. . . . One of the entertainment numbers to be sure to catch is Carmen Amaya, gypsy dancer at the Chez Paree.

Incidental Info.

Roy I. Daniel is authority for the statement that his brother-in-law, Robert Brown, was transferred by his firm from one section of the city to another one week after he had renewed his apartment lease. He advertised for a tenant and in answer to his advertisment came a couple, Mr. and Mrs. Sublett.

Quip.

Boast.

Two drunks were conversing in a northside restaurant. "I think I'll drive to Escanaba," said one to the other. "Eshcanaba," said the drunker of the two, putting his hands on his fat hips in a boastful gesture, "I could drive to Eshcanaba with my eyesh folded."

Looking at Hollywood
by John Chapman

Hollywood, Sept. 11.—Slogan for Hollywood's wolves: Flattery is the sincerest form of invitation. . . . Simile: Frantic as a Hollywood car-hop. . . . Favorite name: Catcher Clyde Cluttz of the Hollywood Stars. . . . Too true to be funny: San Francisco exhibitors recently were shown William Dieterle's "All That Money Can Buy," which is a grand screening of Stephen Vincent Benet's fantasy, "The Devil and Daniel Webster." Afterward the exhibs were asked what they thought. Many were lukewarm, for the mental level of an exhibitor is rarely high as his customers'. One man, when asked how he liked it, ventured, "It's a pretty good mystery picture."

Well, Edith Barrett has had her chance. Married to Vincent Price, she was in Hollywood for years without getting a screen job. Not, perhaps, that she was going around begging for one, but I think she felt it would be nice if somebody gave her a tumble. Finally she got the tumble, playing the Estelle Winwood rôle in Columbia's chilling and swell flicker version of "Ladies in Retirement." She made a wonderful madwoman. You can't say that she stole the picture, for there are six fine performances in it; but in her screen debut she was right up there batting with Ida Lupino, Elsa Lanchester and the rest. So now, having proved herself, she lands another rôle right away. It's with Joan Blondell, John Wayne and Blanche Yurka in Republic's "Lady for a Night," story of Memphis after the Civil war. She'll be Miss Yurka's loony sister.

A letter: "Dear Mr. Chapman: I am entered in an exhibit of my own at the Inventors' convention which opens Sept. 12. The items include: A transparent newspaper so the wife can see her husband at breakfast . . . a shaving mirror with the upper half of Clark Gable's face on it . . . double duty dental plates. They can be taken out at night and used as a mouse trap . . . scalloped telephone mouthpiece. Can be used as a cookie cutter. Much love, Gracie Allen."

Three years ago Ruby Wood, one time trapeze performer and standin for Marie Wilson, fell from a trapeze during a benefit performance and broke a leg and arm. She's been out since, has had several operations. Recently Miss Wilson financed another operation—and now Ruby's back working, standing in for Marie in "Harvard, Here I Come." . . . The Masquers will give a dinner for Sergt. Alvin C. York next Wednesday. . . . The beauties of the Navy Blues sextet, who are touring the country, have found southern cooking to be their greatest disappointment. . . . Frank Wallace, the football prognogger, is in town. . . . Louis Bromfield has turned in the script of "For Whom the Bell Tolls" to Paramount. Location choice has narrowed down to Sun Valley and Zion National park. . . . They've got a new name for Earl Carroll's theater-restaurant. Wags call it The Farmer's Market.

SHOCK TROOPS' DAYS ARE GONE AT NOTRE DAME

New Coach Depends on 'Iron Men.'

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 11.—The era of Notre Dame football, when students reported by the hundreds and were ranked nine deep at each varsity position, is ended. Unusual as it may seem to the legion of Irish supporters, Coach Frank Leahy's boys now are confronted with the necessity of playing nearly 60 minutes each Saturday afternoon in the unusual rôle of iron men.

Leahy learned last spring of the dearth of talent and nothing has happened since the spring drills to change the situation. Leahy said then, when he surveyed the field shortly after Elmer Layden's resignation had brought the one-time tackle back to his alma mater, that "we hope to have a first class eleven which will be exceedingly short of reserve strength."

Leahy might have added that he intended to play the best eleven men regardless of the positions to which they had been accustomed. To that purpose, three changes have been made in assignment of the varsity eleven. Moreover, at the present time a sophomore is on this team, a circumstance that has not happened in nearly a decade.

Crimmins Now a Lineman.

Wally Ziemba of Hammond, Ind., who earned his letter last fall as a tackle, was shifted to center in the spring. This change has stood up and Ziemba is expected to play a lot of football. More recent changes have sent Bernie Crimmins to right guard and Owen [Dippy] Evans to full back. Crimmins was a half back in 1939 and last fall performed as understudy to Milt Piepul at full back.

Evans is an excellent half back, but the shift was dictated by necessity. This does not complete the list of personnel changes by any means. Matt Bolger, currently at the second left end, also is learning the right end's assignments. Ray Ebli, second left tackle, was at left end heretofore, and Tom Miller, the No. 2 right half, had a trial at end a year ago. Harry Wright, the second team's quarter back, previously was listed at full back.

Three Fail to Return.

Leahy listed 55 players on his varsity squad at the end of spring drill. Three did not return to school. They are Cliff Brosey, a tackle who has a defense job here; Thomas Perke, a junior left end, and Paul Cunningham, sophomore center, who has dropped out because of illness.

Fourteen of the 52 squadmen are sophomores. Brosey's defection cuts the group of monogram men to 15, of whom 11 are seniors, and reduces the number of tackles to seven. This particular position has fallen behind par for the five teams on the roster. Six of the first team are seniors. Bob Dove, left end; George Murphy, right end; Evans and Ziemba are juniors. The one first team sophomore is Angelo Bertelli, left half.

Postupack Is Injured.

In his rush to get the team ready for Arizona, which invades Notre Dame Sept. 27, and the following battle with Indiana—both of these teams are said to be ready and capable of galloping against the Irish—Coach Leahy already has his men scrimmaging. He prefers to have a few minutes to contact work each day rather than confine the scrimmages to one long drill under game conditions. Even so, the first practice game probably will be held Saturday.

Joe Postupack, full back, and Ed Sullivan, left guard, were injured in this morning's scrimmage. They suffered recurrence of old knee injuries. Postupack will be out several weeks. Sullivan may miss two or three weeks.

Until classes start next Wednesday the Irish will continue to hold double drills with a lecture generally preceding the afternoon workout. The

They'll Be Marching for Notre Dame

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11 [Special].—The Chicago Bears overcame some slight opposition in the first and last quarters and coasted to a 23 to 6 victory over the New England college All-Stars before a capacity crowd of 38,000 in Fenway park tonight.

The Bears got started in the second period when Sid Luckman, Gary Famiglietti, Bill Osmanski, and Ray McLean went into the game. Osmanski broke loose from his own 46 yard line and planted the ball on the All-Stars' 30. A few moments later Luckman passed to Osmanski for a first down on the 16 and 2. Ultimately Osmanski pushed across from the 5 yard line for the first touchdown.

Stydahar Intercepts One.

Later in the same period Joe Stydahar, Bear tackle, intercepted Charlie O'Rourke's forward pass to give the Chicago team another chance on the All-Stars' 26 yard line. Osmanski slipped thru to the 4 and McLean scored a touchdown around left end.

Hugh Gallarneau and Famiglietti sparked the Bears as they scored in the third period. Gallarneau was particularly brilliant as he gained 15 and 20 yards on successive downs to the All-Stars' 41. Famiglietti culminated the march when he crashed to the 1 foot stripe and then scored.

O'Rourke Throws Scoring Pass.

O'Rourke was nailed behind his line of scrimmage for a Bear safety early in the fourth quarter. Just before the game ended he passed forty-five yards to Lou Montgomery for the All-Stars' lone score.

Zale Has Foot Ailment; Drop Abrams Bout

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—The fight between Tony Zale, N. B. A. middleweight champion from Gary, Ind., and Georgie Abrams of Washington, scheduled for tomorrow night in Madison Square garden, was postponed indefinitely tonight when Zale came down with a skin ailment so severe that he was taken to Mount Sinai hospital for treatment.

The ailment was diagnosed by a skin specialist as dermotophytosis with secondary erysipelas of both lower extremities with generalized ids. Dr. Oscar Levin, called in for consultation by Dr. Alexander Schiff, said the boxer likely would remain in the hospital for a week or more. The ailment was described as resembling a serious form of "athlete's foot" which caused Zale's feet and legs to swell. Large blisters formed on both legs.

[The Zale-Abrams bout had been scheduled for broadcasting by W-G-N and the Mutual network at 9 o'clock, Chicago time.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 11.—The weather cooled off sharply here today and so did the White Sox. In a complete about face from their lusty behavior at bat yesterday, Jimmy Dykes' fading Sox found themselves mesmerized by the left handed offerings of Herman Besse, a bean pole rookie from Toronto and so dropped a 2 to 1 verdict to the Athletics.

The whole affair took up only one hour and 29 minutes of the 4,500 ladies' day customers' time. It also dropped the Sox two full games back of Boston and second place.

Besse, who joined the A's only yesterday, had a shutout until the ninth when Joe Kuhel tripled to left center and scored on a long fly by Luke Appling. In only one other inning, the first, did the Sox get a runner as far as second base.

Rigney Deserved Better Fate.

It was Johnny Rigney's misfortune to fall victim to Besse's cunning and his own teammates' shortcomings. The River Forest lad pitched one of his better games and should have had nothing worse than a tie to show for his efforts, inasmuch as the first enemy run scored on a passed ball by Tom Turner. The other resulted from three hits, half of the A's total production.

The Sox started off in promising style when Dave Philley singled to center and Don Kolloway drew life on a boot by Al Rubeling, the third baseman. Kuhel went out on a pop fly, then Dee Miles raced into deep left center for a fine catch of Appling's long liner. Taft Wright fouled out and that was the end of the Sox offensive efforts until the ninth.

McCoy Starts the Trouble.

Benny McCoy launched the A's in the first inning by hitting a curving liner to left for two bases. He sneaked to third after Eddie Collins' fly to center. The dangerous Frankie Hayes popped out, but then Turner let a pitch only inches outside of the plate zoom past him to the screen and McCoy raced home. On the next pitch Bob Johnson popped out.

Sam Chapman singled to center to start the second inning, moved to third on Rubeling's single to the same sector and scored when Besse crossed the Sox by banging a hit to center. After that the only enemy hits were a double by Hayes in the third and a single by Chapman in the seventh.

WRIGHT STOPS ARCHIBALD FOR TITLE CLAIM

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—Chalky Wright, Los Angeles Negro, knocked out Joey Archibald in the 11th of a scheduled 15 round fight tonight to gain the world featherweight crown as recognized in New York and Maryland.

Wright floored Archibald for the count with a left hook and a terrific straight right to the jaw after 54 seconds of the 11th round.

In the Wake of the News

TED Lyons, whose reputation as a strong man has been given a nationwide buildup for several weeks, is not altogether pleased with the treatises. . . . Says Ted: "I'm being built up to get punched right in the nose by some gent weighing about 116 pounds." . . . Red Friesell, the east's most widely known football referee, says he has nothing to work for now that he has handled the Chicago All-Star game. . . . "It's the greatest spectacle in football, bar none," he says. . . . Much is being said these days about former Chicago players who have starred this season with other major league clubs. . . . But as we recall it, Lon Warneke is the only one whose departure was a shock at the time it took place. . . . An eastern sports columnist recently wrote: "All players in the Chicago All-Star game received $150 in cash except Tom Harmon who asked for and got much more." . . . There are at least two who know the comment not only was erroneous but also ridiculous. . . . One is Tom Harmon. . . . The other is the author. . . . The eastern writer never thought to inquire from a reliable source, which is evidence he would make an expert sports radio commentator. . . . Coach Paul Brown, Ohio State's new gridiron leader, invited only 37 players to the Buckeyes' opening practice, the smallest number in years. . . . Joe Cronin was a good tennis player before he took up baseball as a livelihood. . . . The Minnesota Prison Mirror, newspaper of the Stillwater penitentiary, carried this headline when the St. Paul baseball team went there for an exhibition game: "1,300 Sinners Await Coming of Saints." . . .

George Paskvan of Wisconsin, one of the finest full backs midwest football has developed, is expected to have a successful freshman year with the Green Bay Packers, who play the style he learned under Harry Stuhldreher at his alma mater. . . . Paskvan, like Milt Piepul of Notre Dame, had little chance to shine in the All-Star game, because of the style of offense taught by Cornell's Carl Snavely. . . . Mike Kreevich of the White Sox, who led the American league in sacrifices in 1939 and 1940 with 22, is in front again this year, but only with 13. . . . Uncle Jim O'Leary, still in harness daily as a Boston baseball writer, will be 80 years old Sunday. . . . Bernie Moore, Louisiana State football coach, is converting his center, Bill Hogan, into a blocking back. . . . Dana Bible's University of Texas eleven is expected to win the Southwest conference championship, but it has one big hurdle. . . . The game with Texas A. & M. will be played on the latter's field. . . . Texas hasn't been able to defeat the Aggies on their own grounds since 1916.

INCREASE LEAD TO 2 GAMES IN DUEL OF ERRORS

Walker's Hit Wins for Fitzsimmons.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11.—The pacemaking Dodgers, seemingly shaky but no worse in that respect than their pursuers, met the challenge today when their first place tenancy in the National league race was at stake. They rebuffed the Cardinals, 6 to 4, but only after 11 blunder laden innings in which old, fat Fred Fitzsimmons lasted long enough to achieve a personal triumph, as well as to assist in moving his Brooklyn mates two games away from the second placers.

Either because both contenders have a fear of electing themselves to the job of facing the mauling Yankees in the world series, or because they were pressing, there was a sorry exhibition of eight errors, evenly divided. There was at least one fielding flipflop in every run-producing inning, one of the mistakes giving Dolph Camilli a chance to produce a three-run homer, one letting the Cards tie the score in the seventh and another helping to put Lefty Ernie White in an 11th inning mixup from which he had no chance to extricate himself.

Ernie Retires First Nine.

The brilliant White started off at such a dizzy pace that he retired the first nine batters, five of the first six on strikes. His pals rewarded him with a two run assault in the home third, but White fell apart in the fourth, helped by one of Martin Marion's two errors. The side could have been retired with one run across. Instead, there were four because of Camilli's blow. Then the Cards tied it in the seventh, aided by Peewee Reese and Mickey Owen, and so it went until the Dodger half of the 11th, after which Hugh Casey took care of the pitching for a tired Fitzsimmons.

The deciding 11th got under way with a drive by Joe Medwick which went for a single when it popped out of Jimmy Brown's hands. Harry Lavagetto walked and Camilli furnished the usual bunt. Johnny Mize went to pick it up, fell on the seat of his pants, and the error filled the bases with none out. Dixie Walker stepped into the breach with a single past Marion, who was playing in close, Medwick and Lavagetto scoring. White turned back the next three batters and, as soon as Casey had done the same to as many Cardinals, the show was over.

Fitz Starts Badly.

Tomorrow Howard Pollet, another St. Louis southpaw sensation, will oppose Curt Davis.

Brown hoisted the signal for the Cards' two run drive in the third by singling to left and continuing to second on Medwick's fumble. Hopp bunted to Camilli and it was turned into a base hit by Fitzsimmons' tardiness in covering the bag. Padgett slashed at the first pitch and produced a single thru short, Brown scoring. Mize was called out on strikes and Crabtree lofted to Walker, but Crespi singled to left and Hopp counted. Marion tapped to Reese for the third out.

Reese arched a single into right center at the start of the fourth and woe mounted rapidly for White. Herman was thrown out by Marion, but White plunked Reiser on the right arm. Marion then had his chance to lift Ernie from the jam unscathed but fumbled Medwick's double play grounder, filling the bases. Lavagetto's fly to Crabtree gave Reese time to sneak across the plate. On the next pitch, Camilli planted his homer on the right field roof to give the Dodgers their 4 to 2 margin.

Camilli Does His Part.

Fitz, who for three innings had yielded only one hit, plunked Brown on the leg to open the seventh and the Cards accepted the invitation to start something. Camilli's great one handed stop of Hopp's grounder led to the forcing of Brown at second. Padgett punched a single to center, Hopp hopping to third. Fitzsimmons apparently had gotten out of the mixup when he grabbed Mize's weak bounder, but Reese dropped the throw which would have forced Padgett for the first half of a double play. Instead, nobody was retired and Hopp scored. Crabtree singled to left and Medwick's throw went into the hands of Owen in time to retire Padgett, but Owen let the ball escape and the tying run counted on the error. Then Crespi grounded into the overdue double play.

EAGLES TO MEET GIANTS IN PRO FOOTBALL OPENER

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP).—The Eagles, who have hopes of becoming strong contenders for the National Football league championship this fall, will meet the New York Giants here Saturday in the league opener for both teams.

AKNUSTI BEATS WESTBURY, 9 TO 5, IN POLO TUNEUP

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 11 [Special].—Ebby Gerry's Aknusti team loomed as a title prospect this afternoon as players and ponies went thru their last workouts in preparation for Saturday's opening of the National Polo tournament at the Meadow Brook club.

In one of the two games today, Aknusti turned back Stewart Iglehart's Westbury side, 9 to 5, but the score didn't mean so much as the way the winners played, for Westbury finished the last two periods with a substitute at No. 2.

In the other test match, Cecil Smith's red-shirted Texans beat Mike Phipps' Gulf Stream four, 9 to 8.

Heppes Takes Net and Gross at Oak Park

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Don Heppes and C. H. Redfield of the home club; William Engleman of Sunset Ridge and William Higgins, competing unattached, were the victors yesterday in the 27th annual Auchtermuchty invitational golf tournament of the Oak Park Country club.

The event, named for the Scotch definition, "The course of the winding stream" attracted a field of 204.

It's Just a Rumor.

Practically all of the members of the official family of the Chicago district golf association were present as competitors. There was an unconfirmed rumor that Member Maynard G. Fessenden, president of the C. D. G. A., required 11 strokes to hole out on a par three hole, but none of the three gentlemen who have been his Auchtermuchty partners for nine consecutive years—C. A. Pritchard of Tulsa, Okla.; J. P. Houze of Oak Park, and E. L. Dutton of St. Louis would substantiate the canard.

Heppes, one time Northwestern star, led all gross scorers in class A. with a 27 hole total of 71—38—109. Other leaders were Redfield in class B. with 85—43—128, Engleman in class C. with 92—48—140, and Higgins in class D. with 100—51—151.

Wins Low Net, Too.

Heppes also was low net for the distance with 109—3—106, followed by Roger S. Lloyd of Oak Park with 117—9—108. Lloyd also was a member of the low net foursome, composed of himself, F. S. Righeimer Jr., Walter Coate, and A. E. Beeman, with a quartet aggregate of 345—48—297.

Leading scores for 27 holes:

Don W. Heppes, 109—3—106; Roger S. Lloyd, 117—9—108; C. H. Redfield, 128—20—108; William Engelmann, Sunset Ridge, 140—32—108; Willard Cole, 127—18—109; Jim Ferguson, Rolling Green, 115—5—110; R. E. ROCKOLAS SCORE 2 VICTORIES, ONE A NO HIT GAME

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP).—The Rockola Maids of Chicago advanced to the semi-finals of the Amateur Softball association world tournament here today by scoring shutout victories in their second and quarter-final round matches.

The Rockolas blanked Mansfield, O., 5 to 0, in their quarter-final game, after Renee Sweet had pitched a no hit no run victory for them in the second round against the Meyer Packing company of Cincinnati. Miss Sweet yielded four walks and struck out seven.

Lou Abree, who hurled the 49th no hit game of his career today to give his Peoria, Ill., team a 4 to 0 victory over Rochester, N. Y., Kodak Parks, 1940 champions, tried to come back tonight, but was beaten, 3 to 2, by South Bend.

Rookies Get Chance Today Against Phils

Yesterday was an off day in the lives of the unpredictable Cubs, but, as they prepared to open a series with the cellar-dwelling Phillies in Wrigley field today, they pondered a number of details calculated to keep their minds off postseason hunting trips.

First was their feeling of satisfaction in looking back on the suffering they had inflicted on the Dodgers in a double defeat Wednesday; second, a new alignment for the Philly series, and third, the outright sale of Charley George, a first year catcher from Nashville, to Milwaukee.

Now that they have done their duty by the flag contenders, the Cubs have decided to give the younger prospects on the roster an opportunity to prove up in the next few weeks.

Today's lineup will include Leonard Merullo at shortstop; Barney Olsen in center field, and Lou Novikoff, newly returned from a prosperous stay in Milwaukee, in left. Jake Mooty will pitch.

Babe Dahlgren and Charley Gilbert of the north siders still were hoping last night for a glimpse of the two Negro holdup men who relieved them of cash and sundry valuables at 56th and State streets Wednesday night. Gilbert surrendered a watch valued at $50 and $20 in cash, while Dahlgren lost his 1940 world series diamond ring [value $100], a $50 wrist watch, and $15.

CARDINALS HOLD SCRIMMAGE; FACE RAMS TUESDAY

The Chicago Cardinals, among them their most recent acquisition, Dick Evans, scrimmaged yesterday in preparation for their night game with the Cleveland Rams in Comiskey park next Tuesday. Evans, former University of Iowa and Green Bay Packer end, is expected to see much service with the Cardinals.

Linemen were given a particularly strenuous workout yesterday, Coach Jim Conzelman being determined to build a forward wall that will stop the rushes of Johnny Drake, Rams' full back, and Half Back Parker Hall next Tuesday.

Also on the Rams' team will be Center John Haman, former Northwestern star, and Center Rudy Mucha, former Chicagoan and late of Washington, who won a starting berth on the College All-American eleven against the Chicago Bears last month.

KELLER HURT AS TIGERS DEFEAT YANKEES, 5 TO 4

Star Helped Off After 2d Base Accident.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers scored a run in the 12th inning today on Pinky Higgins' grounder with the bases loaded and beat the Yankees, 5 to 4. Charley Keller twisted his ankle sliding into second base in the ninth inning and had to be helped off the field. Score:

John Humphries to Face Macks for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 11.—Johnny Humphries, the tall right hander who specializes in shutouts, will do the pitching for the White Sox tomorrow in the second game of the series here. Phil Marchildon, freshman ace of Connie Mack's skimpy staff, will work for the A's.

Jack Knott, ex-White Sox pitcher who has won 12 games for the A's, is shelved for the season with an injured left knee. He was hurt in a collision at first base with Buddy Lewis of the Senators on Sunday. He plans to leave by auto for his home in Texas on Monday after some fluid has been drained from the knee.

HAWAIIAN STARS SPEED UP DRILL FOR CYO BOUTS

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Hawaiian amateur boxers, who meet the Chicago Catholic Youth organization in Soldiers' field next Wednesday, had a busy schedule yesterday, but they face a busier one today.

In addition to engaging in their fourth workout in CYO center at 31 East Congress street this afternoon, the visitors will be welcomed by south side citizens in a reception sponsored by the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council tonight. Joseph Meegan, executive director of the council, has arranged a parade which will start at 47th street and Ashland avenue.

They Meet Bishop Stritch.

Before working out yesterday the Hawaiians, headed by Charles Luis, delegate in charge, were received by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch in the chancery office, 719 North Wabash avenue. Also present were William Larkin, executive director of the CYO; Thomas O'Connell, head of the boxing department, and Jack Elder, athletic director of the organization.

Cruz Gets a Rest.

Because of the danger of injury, handlers of the Hawaiian fighters, including Jackie Wright, coach; Gordon Thomas, manager, and William Freitas, trainer, have ordered new mates for this afternoon's drill.

Robinson-Day Bout Is Sought for Stadium

William R. Rand, Chicago Stadium promoter, yesterday left for New York where he will open negotiations for a 10 round bout between Ray Robinson, New York lightweight, and Davey Day as the feature event in the indoor opener in the west side arena Oct. 10. Mike Jacobs, New York boxing czar, also is seeking Robinson to head a card in Madison Square Garden on that date against Lew Jenkins.

Promoter Rand's next presentation will be offered in the Stadium's outdoor arena Sept. 24 with Tony [Cianciola] Martin, Milwaukee middleweight, and Coley Welch of Portland, Me., appearing in a 10 round windup. A 10 round secondary feature will involve Willie Joyce, Gary lightweight, and Quentin [Babe] Breese.

Johnny Colan, New York middleweight, left town yesterday bearing a cut on his left eye, the result of a blow inflicted in the first round by Ernie Vigh Wednesday night. Colan stopped Vigh in the eighth round in the Stadium's open air site. The victory, his 28th in a row, and a $2,000 check in payment for his services were sufficient recompense for Colan's injury.

Booker Beckwith, former intercity Golden Gloves middleweight champion, whose hand was injured when he defeated Clarence [Red] Burman last month, will top the first of six cards Ross Miller will promote in the Coliseum Oct. 24. Beckwith's opponent has not been selected. Anton Christoforidis, once holder of the world light heavyweight title, has been mentioned as his probable foe. Additional dates in the Coliseum are Nov. 27 and Dec. 19. Promoter Irving Schoenwald yesterday signed Don Wallenfang, West Allis, Wis., junior welterweight, to meet Johnny Abbott of Cleveland in a four round contest in Marigold Gardens Monday. Nate Bolden, south side boxer, will meet Joe Maxin of Cleveland in a 10 round headliner.

Frank Patroff, Peoria Golden Gloves welterweight champion, will meet Bill Johnson, who is after his eighth consecutive victory, and Willie Johnson, another Peoria Golden Gloves star, will battle Isador Minor, in feature five round bouts tonight in Parichy stadium, Harlem and Harrison street.

THE GUMPS—STEWLESS ANDY'S IN A STEW

DE CORREVONT IS PITCHER OF OLD IN AERIAL DRILL

The veteran Bill De Correvont and Otto Graham, a sophomore from Waukegan, stood out in a brisk forward passing drill which highlighted practice at Northwestern yesterday. Others who took a turn passing were Tuffy Chambers, Ike Kepford, and Jim Furlong, seniors, and Don Buffmire, Dud Kean, and Ed Hirsch, sophomore half backs.

De Correvont, up for his final year of competition, is expected to handle a large portion of the Wildcats' aerial work. Graham, who was prevented from making his sophomore debut last fall because of a preseason knee injury, will back up De Correvont at left half.

The Wildcats suffered their first casualty of the season yesterday when Art Wandtke, junior end, twisted a knee which will keep him out of action for a week. Bob Wallis, sophomore end from Fenger High school, turned in some capable place kicking yesterday and will probably share this assignment with Dick Erdlitz, senior quarter back.

MILOSEVICH CHEERS ILLINI.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 11 [Special]. Paul Milosevich, senior end, will be available for Illinois' football, he notified Coach Bob Zuppke tonight. Milosevich has been expecting a call to military service, but announced it would not come until next February, giving him an opportunity to take one semester work in the university. Following the loss of Dave Dillon, end and tackle, who has been called to military service Oct. 1, the return of Milosevich was cheering. Milosevich has won two letters.

CHICAGO DISTRICT WOMEN GOLFERS TO ELECT TODAY

The annual two-ball foursome and election of officers of the Chicago Women's District Golf association will be held today at Kildeer, where both the woods and water courses will be played. Mrs. Gilmore M. Mellor of Elmhurst has been nominated for president, succeeding Mrs. Andrew D. Collins of North Shore. The complete list of officers, whose nomination is tantamount to election, follows:

President, Mrs. Gilmore M. Mellor, Elmhurst; vice president, Miss Margaret Keirnan, Exmoor; secretary, Mrs. Landon L. Phelps, Midlothian; treasurer, Mrs. William L. London, Olympia Fields; handicap chairman, Miss Mabel Gustafson, Glen Oak; rules chairman, Mrs. Glen E. Dewey, Calumet.

Assistant handicap chairman, Mrs. Fred C. Wright, Glen Oak; assistant rules chairman, Mrs. Robert Hurka, Medinah; chairman of district team matches, Mrs. H. Prather Saunders, North Shore; north side team captain, Mrs. Alfred D. Herrmann, Sunset Ridge; west side team captain, Mrs. J. E. Edmonds, La Grange; south side team captain, Mrs. Gilbert A. Roll, Calumet; membership and publicity chairman, Mrs. Andrew D. Collins, North Shore; members at large, Mrs. George G. Tunell, Skokie, and Mrs. Benjamin Goldstein, Lake Shore.

Park Ridge Scores 9 to 5 Victory Over Butterfield

Park Ridge scored a 9 to 5 victory over Butterfield in the first round of the Eugene Byfield Memorial polo tournament yesterday on the Oak Brook field. The victory gave Park Ridge the right to meet Evanston today on the same field in the semi-final. The victor of the semi-final match will clash with Oak Brook, defending champions, for the Byfield cup tomorrow.

COALS TO PLAY ARMY.

The baseball team from Fort Sheridan, comprising minor league and college stars conscripted into the army, will meet the Spencer Coals in a double header Sunday afternoon on Spencer field.

Carter is expected to work in combination with Tony Berto, another veteran. Last year as a sophomore Carter played about one-third of the time at left half back, and averaged nearly four yards per try on running plays from scrimmage. He also was an adept pass receiver, catching seven tosses for a total gain of 62 yards.

Coach Elward was pleased with the scrimmage session which wound up yesterday's opening drill. He again pointed out the necessity for making every minute do double duty, for with classes opening this morning the Boilermakers are now restricted to single drill sessions daily. They have only 13 more practice sessions in which to prepare for Vanderbilt here Sept. 27.

KINNICK HELPS HAWKEYES.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 11 [Special].—The Iowa squad was given conditioning and signal drills in both morning and afternoon workouts today. Nile Kinnick, former Iowa star, took over the left half back candidates and sent them thru punting and passing drills.

Candidates for his old post are Jim Youel and Tom Farmer, major letter men, and Bob Bender, a minor letter winner last fall. All three were alternated on the varsity today.

HOOSIERS REVISE ATTACK.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 11 [Special].—In an almost complete reversal of last year's offensive tactics, when the passing game predominated, Coach Bo McMillin began building up the Indiana running attack today. The small squad also received its first taste of scrimmage and much time was devoted to blocking. A shoulder injury incurred in contact work put Russell [Bud] Harrell, Indianapolis sophomore quarter back, out of action temporarily.

The Hoosiers' numerical strength was increased to 44 when Carl Varner, Chicago sophomore tackle, reported today. However, Dick Wrezsien, South Bend rookie tackle, who was expected to sign in, did not return to school, and Robert Swaim, Indianapolis junior end, was lost thru ineligibility.

WHITE PLEASES CRISLER.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP).—Coach Fritz Crisler put the University of Michigan football squad thru its first scrimmage today and was pleased with the performance of Paul White, a sophomore half back from River Rouge. White galloped thru a red shirted third string eleven twice for touchdowns. Capt. Bob Westfall, veteran full back, also gained consistently on line smashes.

BUCKEYES STUDY PASSES.

Columbus, O., Sept. 11 (AP).—Coach Paul Brown turned the rest of the Ohio State squad over to his assistants today while he drilled the backs and ends in a variety of pass plays. On the throwing end of most passes were the veterans Dick Fisher and Les Horvath, and Sophomore Paul Sarringhaus.

HILLTOPPERS BLOCK, CHARGE.

Lake Tomahawk, Wis., Sept. 11 [Special].—Marquette football men today had their first contact work as they engaged in blocking and charging. Fundamentals opened the sessions yesterday.

30 YACHTS IN 6TH WATERWAY CRUISE TODAY

A flotilla of more than 30 motor cruisers is scheduled to leave Chicago this morning for the sixth annual waterway cruise of the Lake Michigan Yachting association's power squadron.

Madray II., Commodore Raymond L. Greist's 46 foot cruiser, will lead the yachts on the all day run to Ottawa, Ill. The yachts start at 8 o'clock from the Coast Guard basin at the mouth of the river and will cruise back to Chicago Sunday.

Hughes Council to Defend K. of C. Softball Crown

Hughes council, last year's title holder, will open the 1941 Knights of Columbus Softball league's four night championship tournament Monday on Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. Hughes will begin the defense of its crown against De Soto in one of the three first round games on the inaugural night's card.

St. Ambrose Star Will Coach St. Louis Frosh

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11 (AP).—Tony Sacco, quarter back on the St. Ambrose college footbal team in 1938-39, has been appointed freshman coach at St. Louis university.

Seeks Speedy Guards.

Leahy pointed out last spring that lack of speed at the guard positions threatened to disrupt the smooth functioning of the offense. That is the reason for Crimmins going to right guard. Joe Laiber, who is second choice at the position, also is expected to play an important part in the campaign.

Arizona and Indiana are immediate objectives but the next seven opponents are schedule fixtures. The Irish travel to Atlanta [Georgia Tech] and to Pittsburgh [Carnegie Tech] before returning to home base to meet Illinois. Army and Navy follow in New York and Baltimore, respectively, and then the Irish expect to demand a recount of last year's battle with Northwestern's Wildcats. Southern California concludes the season at Notre Dame Nov. 22.

Center—Wally Ziemba, Tom Brock, John Lanahan.
Right guard—Bernie Crimmins, John Laiber, Hercules Bereolus, Wilbur Riordan.
Right end—George Murphy, John Kovatch, Dick O'Brien.
Right half—Steve Juzwik, Tom Miller, Dick Creevy.

Greg Rice Changes His Affiliation to New York

New York, Sept. 11 [Special].—Gregory Rice, world record holder at two and three miles, has switched his affiliation from the South Bend [Ind.] A. A. to the New York A. C. Rice, who has been working for a New York toy company since June, will be eligible to wear the winged foot colors in the senior national AAU cross-country champsionship at the Empire City race track, Nov. 9.

Mrs. Newell to Face Mrs. Page in Semi-Final

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 11 (AP).—Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., 1937 champion, and Mrs. Betty Hicks Newell of Long Beach, Cal., will clash in one of tomorrow's semi-finals as the result of winning matches today in the Women's National Amateur Golf tournament at Brookline's Country club. The winner will engage either Helen Sigel of Philadelphia or Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, Tex., also winners today, for the championship Saturday.

Mrs. Page today routed Janet Younker of White Plains, N. Y., 5 and 4, while Mrs. Newell eliminated a fellow Californian, Clara Callender of Pasadena, a 1940 semi-finalist, 2 and 1. In the other bracket Mrs. Goldthwaite outlasted Mrs. Sylva Annenberg Leichner of Flushing, N. Y., 1 up, in a match carried to an extra green, and Miss Sigel rallied to beat Mrs. Reinert M. Torgerson of Great Neck, N. Y., 1 up, after being 3 down as they went to the 11th tee.

No matter how you compare Gins...

BECAUSE: Gordon's has the Advantage of Liqueur Quality and High Proof, 94.4.

THAT'S WHY: Drinks Never Taste Thin with Gordon's Gin.

Gordon's gives you a double advantage. For Liqueur Quality means richer flavor, velvety smoothness. And High Proof, 94.4 means drinks that never taste thin! Naturally, Gordon's costs a little more—but you get so much more enjoyment!

SMACKED TAKES FEATURE EVENT AT HAWTHORNE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Smacked, one of the most consistent sprinters to perform in the Chicago area this season, scored his fifth consecutive victory yesterday at Hawthorne. Jack Richard brought the Arcturus stable's speedy 3 year old up to the finish line two lengths in advance of John Marsch's Bulldinger in the Esposa purse, a six furlong allowance event.

Smacked broke alertly and opened up a lead of two lengths. While Richard was steadying him around the turn, Bulldinger came within a length of him but once they were straightened out Smacked held his margin with scarcely any urging while his rival was under a strong drive. The Millsdale stable's Kansas closed well in the late stages to take third money.

MacAndrew Wins Two.

Smacked ran the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5 over a track which had dried out fairly well after the heavy rain earlier in the week. His mutuel payoff was $3.40, $2.50, and $2.40.

Don MacAndrew, who had ridden four consecutive winners on Tuesday, took things comparatively easy yesterday following his fall on Wednesday. He had only two mounts, Brave Chance in the first and Sir Kid in the fourth. So he had to content himself with two winners.

Brave Chance, a 2 year old owned by John Marsch, had been to the post only once before. On that occasion he had performed fairly well in moderately fast company. So he was established as the 8 to 5 favorite against the indifferent group which he encountered in the first race on yesterday's program.

Sir Kid Wins Easily.

MacAndrew got him away well in this six furlong sprint and kept him running thru a prolonged duel with Cal's Pet. Brave Chance held the margin of a head as he crossed the finish line. He paid off at $5.40, $3, and $2.60, and supplied the first half of a $23.40 daily double, which was completed by Gold Mesh, the favorite in the second race.

MacAndrew's other mount won in more commanding fashion, tho he had a rather difficult trip thru the earlier stages of the fourth race, over the mile route. MacAndrew was forced to restrain Sir Kid to keep him from running up onto the heels of the leaders on the clubhouse turn. After Sir Kid had followed Earliana, Lactose, and Dissension Sir down the back stretch and onto the last turn, MacAndrew took him moderately wide to find racing room and sent him to the front soon after the stretch run began. Sir Kid came right on home four lengths ahead of He Man. He was well backed in the mutuels, paying $7, $3.80, and $2.80.

Another Chicago Public High School league football season gets under way tonight with four games scheduled. Half the action will be concentrated in a Shewbridge field double header when Parker meets South Shore and Morgan Park clashes with Harper. Waller plays at Lane and the Gage Park-Tilden battle will take place on St. Rita's field.

The double header offers the Wasserman brothers, Nate and Louis, a fine chance to scout each other for their meeting Oct. 10 when Nate's South Shores bump into Louis' Harper eleven on the same field. Nate, incidentally, is starting his 20th season in the league.

Fenger and Lindblom, the league co-champions, start their seasons tomorrow. Coach E. L. Moore of Lindblom will send his Maroons against Wendell Phillips at 10 a. m. in Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue, and, at 2:30 p. m., Coach Chuck Palmer's Fenger Titans will clash with Hyde Park on Stagg field.

The Sophistocrat of Cigars is
THE WORLD'S LEADING PANATELA

SINCE the first Robt. Burns Panatelas de Luxe were manufactured, more of them have been smoked than all the panatelas of all other high class brands combined ... In today's great popularity of panatelas, this graceful, unobtrusive cigar, "The Sophistocrat", is still the undisputed leader, the best known, best liked panatela in the land.

On account of its suavity, combined with the delicious ultra mild flavor of its 100% All-Havana filler, cigar stands of clubs and better hotels welcome it to the exclusive circle of club specials and high priced private brands. It looks smart and smokes as good as it looks ... Ask for "The Sophistocrat", the world's leading panatela.

When they say "Panatela," most smokers mean— Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe

FORD DISPLAYS NEW AUTOS AND ARMS PROGRESS

1942 Models Show Many Changes.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—The Ford Motor company held an advance showing today of its Ford, Mercury and Lincoln 1942 models and gave a visual report on the progress it has made in a year on its vast arms program. All three lines of cars show new styling, with wider and lower bodies and more powerful engines.

Featuring the Lincoln and Mercury cars is a new Ford version of the hydraulic drive, which shifts gears automatically. The device is optional at additional cost. The Ford development is called the liquamatic drive. With it the driver can run the car all day without shifting gears.

Two basic units are combined in the liquamatic drive. One is a fluid coupling between engine and driving mechanism which cushions the engine impulse and driving torque. The other is an automatic transmission in the operation of which the driver retains control.

Controled Thru Accelerator.

Automatic shifts to higher gears are made by a momentary release of the accelerator pedal. The Lincoln version of the new drive also possesses two extra speeds in the forward driving range.

Other details of the new car are to be announced publicly when they are placed on display in dealers' showrooms later this month.

An inspection of the Ford arms work started with a visit to the large 27 million dollar plant in which the company will manufacture 1,850 Pratt and Whitney 2,000 horsepower air cooled engines. A year ago the site was a parking area for employés. Now it is covered by a structure containing 1,363,659 square feet. One engine a day is now coming off the assembly line, but Edsel Ford, president of the company, says that within 90 days they will be at the rate of 300 a month. The ultimate capacity will be 800 a month.

Develbping Own Engine.

A stop was made to watch the radical air cooled engine being developed by the Ford company. It was turning over at 1,700 revolutions per minute in a test cell, about half its top speed, producing about 800 horsepower. Equipped with a supercharger, its feature will be ability to deliver maximum horsepower at maximum altitudes.

Another stop was made at the 47 million dollar bomber plant which Ford is erecting near Ypsilanti. When completed it will be the largest factory of its type in the world, containing 3,700,000 square feet, including hangars. Four engine Consolidated B-24-D bombers are to be built. Completion is scheduled for early 1942.

The test fields will include seven runways. The orders for bombers total 480 million dollars. Henry Ford, founder of the company, commented that when the emergency is over many of the plants now being erected will build planes for civilian use.

Bright Parts May Go.

R. H. McCarroll, chief metallurgist for the company, expects that soon after the first of the year many of the bright metal parts now being used in profusion will have to come off. Included will be such items as moldings on fenders, running boards, hood, side panels, windshield and rear windows, wheel rings, head lamps, radiator grille assembly and others. He expects bright bumpers and hub caps will be retained.

The Ford company already has made large savings of certain materials thru the use of optional materials, he said. Many of the optional materials cost more to build into the cars than those they replace. As for operation and performance, he added, new car owners will never know any changes in materials were made.

People and Events

The annual convention of the National Association of Motor Bus Operators will be held in the Drake hotel Wednesday thru Friday next week. Speakers will include Gov. Harry Van Waggoner of Michigan. Maj. Gen. F. B. Gregory, quartermaster general; Harold C. Ostertag, chairman of the New York joint legislative committee on interstate coöperation, and John L. Rogers, member of the Interstate Commerce commission.

The National Association of Bank Auditors and Controlers will hold its 17th annual convention in the Palmer House Oct. 8 to 11. Clifford S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago will address the group, of which Charles Z. Meyer, controler of the First National Bank of Chicago, is president.

Clive T. Jaffray, chairman of the Soo Line railway and chairman of the First Bank Stock corporation of Minneapolis, Minn., has been elected a director of the Pillsbury Flour Mills company.

American Telephone and Telegraph company announced the appointment of L. G. Woodford as chief engineer. Formerly an assistant vice president, Woodford has been in charge of the department of operation and engineering since July, 1940.

Work to Start Today on New Sailplane Plant

Construction of a modern sailplane factory—believed to be the first plant ever designed and built in the United States solely for the production of gliders—will start today near the Lewis school of aeronautics, 22 miles southwest of Chicago, near Lockport.

James J. Smiley.

The structure, which will cost $65,000 including equipment and land, will be 100 by 200 feet in area and of the one story monitor type, according to James J. Smiley, president of the Frankfort Sailplane company, the glider manufacturing concern.

Army to Take Output.

It is expected that the company will turn out three or four planes a week for the army, which will take the entire output.

In January, 1939, the company was organized in Frankfort, Mich. The Chicago Association of Commerce became interested in the project, and in July, 1940, the company moved to the Chicago area.

Backed with Chicago capital, the company experimented with designs, settled on two models, and commenced operations in a plant at 111 North Joliet street, Joliet. At present, the concern has 72 employés and produces about one glider a week. The new plant, which will replace the Joliet factory, will employ about 100 workers. More will be added later. The additional employés are being trained at the Joliet High school.

In conjunction with the Frankfort company, the Lewis school is conducting classes in soaring.

Two Types Produced.

The head designer for the glider company is Stanley Corcoran, vice president, an outstanding sailplane pilot. The two types produced are the Cinema I, a single place ship, and the Cinema II, a two passenger plane.

Both types have been approved by the Civil Aeronautics administration. Under CAA regulations they may be towed by automobile or by airplane, put thru all types of acrobatics, and flown inverted or by instruments.

Gliders depend on their low sinking speed [approximately two feet a second] to stay in the air after the initial launching. The average power plane, with the motor shut off, sinks at a rate of 10 to 15 feet a second.

Flights have been made in the Frankfort plane to 8,200 feet in the air, and Corcoran has piloted them as far as 202 miles across country.

HOLIDAY LOWERS FREIGHT TRAFFIC OVER RAILROADS

Revenue freight loadings by railroads during the week ended Sept. 6 totaled 797,740 cars, the largest total for any Labor day week since 1930, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Shipments decreased 114,980 cars, or 12.6 per cent, from the preceding week in which freight loadings reached the highest peak for any week since Nov. 2, 1930.

Altho considered a greater than seasonal decrease, the total showed a gain of 102,646 cars, or 14.8 per cent, over the same 1940 week, and 135,383 cars, or 20.4 per cent, over the corresponding week in 1939. All classes of freight shipments except live stock showed a decrease from the preceding week.

NEBRASKA BUYS 2 MORE PRIVATE POWER SYSTEMS

The Consumers Public Power district, governmental subdivision of Nebraska, yesterday announced the purchase of additional power facilities, bringing to 14 the number of systems acquired in 14 months. The only private power companies now operating in the state are Nebraska Power company, Omaha, and Western Public Service company, Scottsbluff.

The district purchased Nebraska properties of the Central States Electric company of Cedar Rapids, Ia., for $185,000, and electric properties of Nebraska Public Service company for $318,000. The systems serve 17 Nebraska towns.

Systems purchased to date have cost the district $38,350,000, all financed by public distribution of securities thru a syndicate headed by John Nuveen & Co., Chicago.

Mayor Accepts Honorary Post in Defense Bond Drive

Plastic Firms Find Demand Tops Capacity

The plastics industry, which has been operating near capacity for many months, is able to fill but a comparatively small part of the new commercial needs created by metal shortages resulting from government priorities, Chicago plastics producers and processors said yesterday.

They declare the public has been led to believe that almost overnight the plastics industry could supply substitutes for metal no longer available to the thousands of industrial plants equipped only for commercial production.

Even the plastics producers, they said, had overestimated their ability to replace metals. This is partially because some materials essential to plastics production are becoming scarce.

New Plants Require Time.

Plastics have replaced metals in commercial production in numerous cases, but this has been possible principally by diverting plastics from one manufacturer to another, they asserted. Building up the plastics industry to meet all these new demands would require many months and huge expenditures.

Plastics using formaldehyde, an ingredient in a large majority of those now being produced, already are under government priorities.

One reason is that these plastics are being used extensively in the armament program. Probably the principal reason is that methanol [generally known as anti-freeze] is the base for formaldehyde and also for ammonia. Ammonia is needed for preparation of picric acid, which is essential to the manufacture of munitions.

Cellulose Demands Growing.

Most types of plastics either are obtained with difficulty or in limited quantities. Until recently the principal exception was cellulose acetate. Now it is becoming difficult to obtain this material because of increasing uses in armament and great demand for it commercially. Its uses have been expanded rapidly.

Phenolic compounds, the principal plastics used in industry, are among those covered by the priorities order recently received by plastics producers and processors. Considerably more than half the plastics used in the United States are in the phenolic compounds classification.

Others covered by the priorities order are laminated plastics, a sheet material which has been used in such items as refrigerators, bearings, and table tops, and formaldehyde combinations, used where light colors and dimensional stability are required.

The order includes a provision that the Office of Production Management may make exceptions to the order where it finds compliance will create unemployment or undue hardship.

Sales of Air Conditioning Equipment Set New Peak

August sales of air conditioning apparatus established new records for the month in Chicago, the Commonwealth Edison company announced yesterday. Contracts were signed for 42 central plant systems, compared with 27 in August, 1940. Sales of electric room coolers reached 223 against 94 a year earlier.

CHICAGO STORE SALES TOP YEAR AGO; TOTAL PARED BY LABOR DAY

Chicago department stores did considerably more business last week than they did in the corresponding 1940 week despite the fact the Labor day closing cut volume sharply, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. The increase over a year ago was the smallest for any week since June 7, however, the bank said.

Chicago stores reported a 6 per cent increase in sales over a year earlier with a gain for the last four weeks of 17 per cent. Trade in the entire Chicago reserve district which includes all of Iowa and major portions of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan, was up 10 per cent for the week and 24 per cent for the four week period.

The full effect of the holiday on store sales was revealed in the 29 per cent reduction reported in dollar volume for Chicago from the week ended Aug. 30, and the 9 per cent loss for the seventh [Chicago] reserve district.

Sales in all 12 federal reserve districts averaged 12 per cent above a year ago, the federal reserve board reported.

ASSOCIATED GAS UNITS APPOINT NEW EXECUTIVES

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 11 (AP).—New officers for three top subholding companies of Associated Gas & Electric corporation were announced today as another step in reorganization of the big utility system.

For NY-PA-NJ Utilities company, Willard L. Thorp, co-trustee of Associated Gas, was elected president. General Gas & Electric corporation selected H. K. Halligan as vice president, under Denis J. Driscoll, president of General Gas and co-trustee of Associated. United Coach elected F. N. Polangin president and Arthur Cano vice president.

Associated Gas trustees have asked the Securities and Exchange commission to approve borrowing $5,000,000 from New York banks to pay $5,700,000 under a recent settlement agreement covering unpaid federal taxes.

BIG AIRPLANE ENGINE CONTRACT AWARDED TO GENERAL MOTORS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—An $8,501,605 contract for engines and spare parts for the air corps was awarded today by the war department to the General Motors corporation, Allison division, Indianapolis, Ind.

Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company, Pontiac, Mich., 2½ ton trucks, $4,016,562; Fargo Motor corporation, Detroit, Mich., one-half ton trucks, $2,809,561, and Highway Trailer company, Edgerton, Wis., two wheel semi-trailers, $553,383.

Rails' Ills Far from Cured, Says M'Donald

The recent expansion of railroad traffic "is far from curing" the financial ills of the railroads caused by the depression years, even tho it is yielding "more and badly needed revenue," A. D. McDonald, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, told officers and employés in a statement issued yesterday.

A. D. McDonald.

Recalling that the company ceased paying dividends in 1932, McDonald added:

"Continued improvement is hoped for, but the immediate concern of the road is the fulfilment of its obligations as a common carrier with respect to armament traffic. Our resources must be turned first to the prompt, efficient, and safe handling of the nation's transportation load.

Handled Without Delay.

"Thus far our greatly increased traffic has been handled without serious delay. At the end of August, Southern Pacific was about one-third above the first eight months of 1940 in ton miles of freight carried."

Ability of the road to handle the biggest load in its history resulted, McDonald said, from extensive preparations made since the outbreak of the European war two years ago. Since the war began, Southern Pacific has received delivery of, or ordered 62 million dollars worth of new locomotives and cars, and has added nearly 12,000 workers to its pay rolls, he said. Most of the new employés have been hired in the last 12 months.

Gains Improving Credit.

McDonald said that the increased earnings resulting from the rise in traffic "have been poured into improvement and enlargement of tracks, terminals, and other facilities," and that the financing of the large purchases of rolling stock was made easier by an improvement in the road's credit as revenues increased.

After warning, however, that depression-born problems have not been solved, McDonald observed that Southern Pacific still has 20 million dollars of bank and Reconstruction Finance corporation loans outstanding, and that it faces the maturity within the next five years of "great sums of other obligations."

Week's Bank Clearings Top 1940 by 17.8 Per Cent

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—Bank clearings in major cities in the week ended yesterday totaled $5,689,802,000, an increase of 17.8 per cent over the corresponding week of 1940, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The increase over a year ago was the smallest in 10 weeks. The total was $22,250,000 above that of the preceding week of five business days. Chicago clearings totaled $385,900,000, an increase of 24.3 percent over the 1940 week.

NEW INFLATION CURBS HINTED BY MORGENTHAU

Talks with Federal Reserve Officials.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—Imminent new steps by the administration to control inflationary tendencies were indicated today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., who disclosed that treasury and federal reserve board officials have been conferring for a week and that the "whole fiscal and monetary situation is being explored."

Morgenthau suggested what might lie ahead in a speech Tuesday night in Boston, where he declared:

"We may have to extend general controls over bank credit and create controls over selected capital expenditures."

Evades Questions on Details.

At a press conference today he evaded specific questions about the discussions with the reserve board which he said had been going on "continuously." He declined even to name those taking part.

Asked whether a principal item was the board's proposal last December for expansion of its power to increase bank reserves, Morgenthau said, "We've traveled a long way since December."

Some officials recalled the capital issues committee set up during the World war to examine proposed new security issues for their possible drain on men and materials needed for the war effort.

Other Methods Considered.

The federal reserve board wants additional power to increase the reserve requirements and thus make less money available for lending. The board has used all but about one-seventh of its power and could add only about a billion dollars to the total reserve requirements, while the lendable excess of such reserves is over 5 billions.

Increases in reserve requirements and regulation of new capital are only two of the prospective measures, some officials said. Still higher taxes and enforced savings were cited as possibilities.

One of the steps Morgenthau advocates is the release of food surpluses to hold down prices by increasing the available supplies. He said today that he also favored unlimited imports of wheat from Canada.

ORDER PAYMENT TO BONDHOLDERS OF ABITIBI POWER

The Supreme court of Ontario has approved the first payment to bondholders of the Abitibi Power and Paper company, Ltd., in more than nine years, it was announced yesterday. The payment will be made Oct. 15 at the rate of $130 in Canadian funds [about $117 in United States money] for each $1,000 principal amount of first mortgage bonds.

The distribution will involve $6,274,710 in Canadian funds. The first mortgage bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest, and in default since June 1, 1932, amount to $48,267,000, and with accrued unpaid interest the bondholders' claims total more than $70,000,000.

Government Price Index Up Again; Far Above '40

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—The bureau of labor statistics reported today that the general level of wholesale commodity prices rose 0.4 per cent last week, largely as a result of continued advances in agricultural products and cotton and woolen textiles. The bureau's index of wholesale prices was 91 per cent of the 1926 average, compared with 78 per cent a year ago.

Air Lines' Vital Supplies Given Higher Priority

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson said tonight he was taking steps to assure continued efficient operation of commercial air lines by issuing a limited blanket rating order for deliveries of all materials for maintenance of planes and ground equipment.

The order assigns the high defense rating of A-3 to deliveries of all materials for this purpose. Air carriers or suppliers of equipment can secure assistance of the plan by applying to the priorities division on a special form [PD-96] and the rating will cover a three months' period.

Nelson said they should apply for the rating only if they cannot obtain materials without it. The supplier is prohibited from exceeding the quantities or using the rating for other than the materials specified. Revocation of the rating would be the penalty for violating it.

Maverick Now Henderson Aid.

The Office of Production Management announcement said commercial air transportation is zoming to new high levels and that this order would assure "the continuous operation at a high degree of efficiency of air lines in the United States." Other rearmament developments today included the following:

1. Maury Maverick, New Deal radical from Texas, who suffered defeat both in running for reëlection to congress and later as mayor of San Antonio, was appointed assistant and consultant to Price Dictator Leon Henderson.

2. The OPM priorities division announced that food processors, paint and varnish manufacturers and other nonarmament industries have been asked to curtail by one third their use of steel for containers. Steel is still available however to all normal users of steel containers. Sheet steel for the container industry has been reduced by one third.

Claim Alloy Scrap Waste.

3. R. C. Allen, deputy chief of iron and steel in OPM, sent questionnaires to fabricators and manufacturers estimated to be using approximately 96 per cent of the current production of alloy steels, including stainless steels. The questionnaire requests information on the use and disposal of alloy scrap. An accompanying letter claims large waste in alloy scrap and warns that demand for alloying elements such as nickel, steel, chromium, etc., exceeds the current supply.

4. Ralph Budd, transportation commissioner, sent a letter to all of the nation's shippers and receivers calling attention to a lag in the car building program. He said that scarcity of material will result in 20,000 less new cars on Oct. 1 than anticipated by the railroads. He asked full coöperation in efficient utilization of existing equipment.

5. The lead pencil industry, according to the OPM division of civilian supply, has agreed to curtail use of brass in pencil tips and clips in order to conserve 350,000 pounds of the metal annually. Tips and clips will not be eliminated entirely but less brass will be used and substitutes developed.

SHOW NEW 1942 PONTIACS TO 125 ZONE MANAGERS

The 1942 model Pontiac cars were presented to the midwest and southern wholesale organization of the Pontiac Motor division of General Motors for the first time yesterday at the Drake hotel by Harry J. Klinger, general manager.

Approximately 125 regional, zone and district managers, service representatives and distributors attended. D. U. Bathrick, Pontiac general sales manager, presided. After devoting the full day yesterday to business, the group will spend today in golf and other recreation.

The meeting and two similar meetings covering other regions, are preliminary to presentation of the new cars to 4,000 dealers in a number of meetings next week.

MIDWEST DRIVE TO SAVE PLANTS STARTS TODAY

1,500 Will Meet to Draft Program.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

More than 1,500 mayors, small business men, labor representatives, trade association executives, and civic leaders from 11 central western states will meet in the Morrison hotel today. They expect to formulate a program to save thousands of small plants and the jobs of countless workers.

This conference on priorities unemployment has snowballed in 11 days since a rallying call was sent by Mayor William H. Dress of Evansville, Ind., to mayors of 600 cities. Judge John W. Spencer of Evansville, who replaced Mayor Dress as chairman of the conference because the latter is ill, said 150 mayors have announced they will attend. Business, labor and civic organizations have expressed a desire to support the program, he said.

Fears Breadlines This Winter.

"We are seriously worried about breadlines this winter if six or seven thousand are unemployed in our city of 125,000," said Judge Spencer, who has been on the Circuit court bench at Evansville for 11 years. "The government's order to cut output has reduced operations at Evansville refrigerator factories more than one-half and has had almost as severe effect on our automobile plants."

The jurist said he had received reports that Office of Production Management officials have included Evansville in the five cities which will be hit hardest by priorities unemployment.

Mayor David F. Loepp of Sioux City, Ia., one of the first mayors to arrive for the conference, said the industries in his community have not yet been pinched by priority regulations but that municipal construction involving almost 3 million dollars is endangered by difficulties in obtaining materials.

OPM Officials Back Out.

High officials of the OPM earlier had volunteered to address the conference, but later announced they were unable to come to Chicago because of the increasing pressure of reshaping the armament drive.

Leon Henderson, price administrator; Donald M. Nelson, priorities director, and Floyd B. Odlum, director of the new division of contract distribution, sent regrets that they could not attend as originally planned. Henderson suggested that the conference name a delegation to meet with OPM heads in Washington.

Judge Spencer said a committee to execute a unified plan of action would be appointed at the meeting today and would be sent to Washington.

Frederick A. Virkus, president of the Illinois division of the National Small Business Men's association, said the members of his organization would participate in the mayors' conference.

Several to Address Meeting.

Speakers expected to address the mayors' conference include Leo M. Cherne of New York, executive secretary of the Research Institute of America and an expert on government-business relations; Raymond J. Kelly, director of the Illinois Council of Civilian Defense; Representative Melvin J. Mass [R., Minn.], and Virkus.

The Illinois division of the national small business organization yesterday conducted a personal contact clinic on subcontracting to bring together the companies which have received government contracts and the small

STOCKS TRAIL STAPLES INTO HIGHER GROUND

Make First Average Gain Since Sept. 2.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—The stock market today trailed rallying commodities and registered its first average advance since Sept. 2.

Securities also were propped apparently by Russian claims of war successes and reports some sort of an agreement between the United States and Japan might be near at hand. Business developments were moderately encouraging.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 43.3. Dealings picked up at intervals and transfers totaled 689,250 shares compared with 524,260 the day before.

Specialties Best Gainers.

Specialties were principal share movers, the majority of steels, rails, motors, coppers, oils, mail orders, and aircrafts holding to a relatively slim area.

United States Rubber common and preferred retained gains of 1⅜ and 3⅛ points, respectively, both at new 1941 tops. Buying here was based partly on the idea this company would be benefited by easing of far eastern tension.

Also posting new highs for the year were International Paper, International Nickel, and Loew's.

CHICAGO LIST FIRMS.

The downward trend in prices on the Chicago Stock exchange was checked yesterday in transactions totaling 25,000 shares. Of 108 issues traded, 41 advanced, 30 declined, and 37 closed unchanged.

Four stocks reached new 1941 highs. They were National Pressure Cooker, Northwest Utilities preferred and prior lien preferred, and Wieboldt Stores.

SINGER COMPANY DECLARES EXTRA DIVIDEND OF $1

Singer Manufacturing company, maker of sewing machines, yesterday authorized an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the quarterly payment of $1.50. The company, located in Elizabeth, N. J., was reported to have received 20 million dollars in army orders for intricate mechanisms and machine parts in March. It paid dividends totaling $6 last year.

Underwood Elliott Fisher company declared a $1 dividend compared with a 75 cent disbursement in June and a 50 cent payment in March. The company manufacturers office equipment. Reed Roller Bit company, Houston, Tex., voted an extra dividend of 15 cents and the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents.

Merchandise National Bank of Chicago declared a quarterly dividend of $3, payable Sept. 30.

Cotton Leads Advances on Storm Report.

Traders said to have been eager to take advantage of Wednesday's price setbacks brought on a buying rush yesterday that canceled most of the previous day's losses in commodity futures and sent prices of some staples to new peaks for the season and longer. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Mongerthau Jr., in a press conference, repeated his suggestions for release of surplus foods in storage, but markets were unaffected in contrast with Wednesday's slump.

Cotton futures rebounded $1.25 to $1.65 a bale on reports of a severe storm headed for the cotton belt and prospects of better United States-Japanese relations. Profit taking sales were reported small.

Cottonseed Oil Up Again.

Cottonseed oil regained most of Wednesday's decline with closing gains of 0.16 to 0.21 cent a pound. All deliveries except March reached new 15 year high marks on early gains of as much as 0.36 cent.

In Washington, Leon Henderson, price administrator, announced exemption of all trading in oils and fats futures on commodity exchanges from his order of Aug. 29 which was designed to curb speculation.

The action was taken, Henderson said, "to clear up confusion in the trade" over the operation of the August order. He said it was intended to curb speculative practices in the purchase or sale of physical quantities and not to interfere with futures trading.

Sugar Resumes Advance.

World sugar futures resumed their upward trend and closed 0.05½ to 0.07 cent a pound higher on a buying wave which included considerable Cuban demand. Cocoa futures were up 0.10 to 0.14 cent a pound and coffee was unchanged to 0.03 cent a pound higher.

A heavy demand for Pennsylvania scale wax, used in making materials waterproof and acid resisting, was said to have caused an advance of ⅛ cent a pound for the product. Exports in it are said to be heavy.

PLEDGES DRIVE ON BARRIERS TO STATES' TRADE

An aggressive campaign by the Illinois Commission on Intergovernmental Coöperation to obtain removal of legislative trade barriers in other states which handicap Illinois business was pledged here yesterday by State Representative Bernice T. Ven der Vries [R., Winnetka], commission chairman.

Mrs. Van der Vries, presiding at a joint meeting of the commission and the trade barriers committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce at the Palmer House, said Illinois has fewer laws that could be classed as trade barriers than its neighboring states.

She asserted trade groups, responsible for many restrictive laws, are realizing their folly and are backing the movement to remove them from the statutes.

"The states should solve this problem themselves," she declared, "instead of permitting the federal government to step in with resulting injustices."

ABSORBED EARNINGS.

Answer: According to a study of the quarterly income statements of 421 industrial companies by the National Industrial Conference board, reserves for higher federal income taxes in the second quarter this year absorbed virtually the entire profits from increased production. Net income after taxes, the study found, gained but 1 per cent from the first three month period to the second, altho the federal reserve unadjusted index of industrial production increased 9 per cent. The total amount set aside for federal taxes by 173 companies reporting in detail the amounts charged to tax reserves was 57 per cent of earnings before taxes in the June quarter, compared with 46 per cent in the previous quarter, the board said.

TWELFTH LARGEST.

How does the Irving Trust company rank nationally? What are its assets and how long has it been in business.—R. T. W.

Answer: Irving Trust is rated as the twelfth largest commercial bank in the country and eighth in New York City. Assets on June 30 totaled $903,681,292. Its business history dates back to 1851.

FOUNDATION LOSSES.

I haven't seen any reports on the Foundation company lately. Has it been showing profits or paying any dividends? Is there preferred stock outstanding?—D. J.

Answer: Thru the year ended Dec. 31, 1940, this company had not had a profitable year since 1929. Net loss last year, the latest figures available, was $129,070, compared with $108,221 in 1939 and $244,585 in 1938. No dividends have been paid on the common stock since 1927. Preferred stock was retired in 1925. The company is engaged in general engineering and contracting, specializing in foundation and construction work.

ANACONDA CONNECTION.

Is there any relationship between Anaconda Copper Mining company and Anaconda Wire and Cable company?—E. V. B.

Answer: Anaconda Copper owns the wire and cable company.

SOY BEANS SOAR NEARLY 8 CENTS AGAIN; GRAINS UP

Traders Ignore Forecast of Record Crop.

Soy bean futures resumed market leadership on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday and soared nearly the 8 cent permissible limit to new all time record levels. The December future was 7⅞ cents above Wednesday's close at one time. Profit taking trimmed final gains slightly to 6½ to 7 cents, with December ending at $1.92⅝ a bushel.

Strength in beans carried over into the grain markets. Wheat gained 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents and corn 1⅜ to 1½ cents. Oats advanced ⅝ to 1¼ cents and rye finished 1¼ to 1½ cents higher. Lard closed 15 to 22½ cents per hundred pounds higher.

Main Reinstate Holdings.

Many operators who sold futures Wednesday following Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau's proposal that import bars be let down were reported to have reinstated their lines yesterday, and found offerings smaller than anticipated.

The rapid upturn in soy bean prices was in the face of a department of agriculture report issued late Wednesday forecasting a record yield of 111,000,000 bushels, or 31,000,000 bushels more than last year. The advance was helped along by strength in cotton and cottonseed oil.

Commission houses which often represent eastern buyers led the buying of wheat futures. They had sold freely on Wednesday. The market ran into considerable profit taking and the close was about a cent under the early high price.

Raise Federal Corn Price.

Country offerings of corn for deferred shipment were small. Country elevator men were said to prefer to hold back the grain in an effort to secure higher prices relative to the September future. No. 2 yellow in the spot market sold at 3¾ to 4 cents under the future, an unusual spread during a delivery month. Shortage in storage room is said to be the cause.

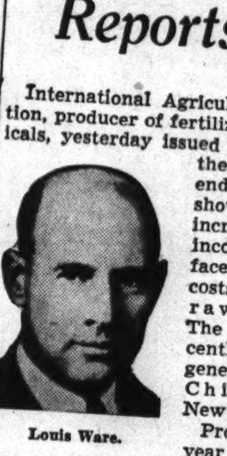
Chicago Maker of Fertilizer Reports Big Profit Increase

International Agricultural corporation, producer of fertilizers and chemicals, yesterday issued its report for the fiscal year ended June 30, showing a large increase in net income in the face of rising costs of labor and raw materials. The company recently moved its general offices to Chicago from New York.



Louis Ware.

Profit for the year was $402,521, compared with $14,007 in the preceding fiscal year.

Louis Ware, president, in his statement to stockholders, discussed sales and cost trends, and said that the corporation has not yet experienced any business expansion because of the war situation.

"Prices received for the company's products have on the average been about the same as in the preceding year," Ware said. "Costs of raw materials and labor and taxes have been higher. Total sales were 10.6 per cent larger than last year [$13,631,746 against $12,328,406]. Total selling, general and administrative expenses were down 4.2 per cent.

"As a result of adoption of labor saving devices and because of increased tonnages, the average production cost per ton of fertilizer was lower in the face of rising labor rates."

The management, he said, "has continued to give attention to the desirability of recapitalization, and it is hoped some plan acceptable to all shareholders can be developed for submission to the stockholders during the coming year." He said that on June 1, 1941, arrears on the $10,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative prior preference stock totaled $8,950,000, or $89.50 a share.

American Telephone and Telegraph company reported a July net income of $2,025,997, against $605,811 in the 1940 month.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented upon.

HOSPITAL BEDS.

We are shipping hospital beds to the department of health and welfare of the Dominican republic. Can a priority certificate be obtained covering shipment to such a government agency? If so, such a certificate would be helpful to us in replacing steel used to manufacture these beds as we are having difficulty in obtaining delivery of steel.

Answer: Warren G. Bailey, district manager of the Chicago office of the priorities field service, suggests that a priority certificate probably can be obtained to cover the shipment of beds. He recommends that you apply to Gen. R. C. Maxwell, administrator of export control, department of commerce building, Washington, D. C., or to E. A. Locke Jr., assistant deputy director, priorities division, Office of Production Management, Washington.

You may be able to obtain off-the-shelf supplies of steel by applying to the priorities division for a defense supplies rating order of A-10 to cover your supplies going into military products, lend-lease or economic warfare requirements.

REPLACEMENTS.

We have an order which carries a very satisfactory priority number and have the material on hand to fill the order. We wonder if we could use this material to fill the order and then apply the priority rating to secure additional material of a slightly different size. The order calls for eight inch material which we have on hand but we would like to get 12 inch material.

Answer: According to Bailey, it would not be permissible to use the priority rating certificate covering eight inch material to obtain the 12 inch size. He suggests that you place your order with your supplier for the 12 inch size and then apply for a preference rating on form PD-1.

"Replenishment of material is permitted for exact replacement where the material in stock is used pending receipt of the material to fill the order," he asserted.

The defense supplies rating plan offered by the priorities division, Washington, may provide a solution to your problem if you have a substantial amount of your off-the-shelf stocks going into armament production, directly or indirectly.

WORK ON SHIPS DELAYED.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 11 (AP).—Officials of San Diego shipyards reported today that work on nearly $1,000,000 worth of Tuna clippers had been halted or impeded by defense priorities. Five of the long-range vessels are on the San Diego ways, and keels for two more are scheduled to be laid within 30 days.

ZONE CONSTRUCTING.

Answer: The zone construction quartermaster for the sixth zone is Lt. Col. E. C. Hayden, 20 North Wacker drive.

BANKS' EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS, LOANS INCREASE

Money in Circulation Up 2 Millions in Week.

Idle lendable funds in reserve system member banks, as reflected in excess reserves, increased 250 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday to 5 billion 110 million dollars, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

The report showed that Chicago member banks had 5 million dollars more of business and agricultural loans outstanding than a week earlier. The increase in such loans by banks in New York City was 35 million dollars.

The amount of money in circulation in the nation rose to 10 billion 36 million dollars, representing a 2 million dollar gain for the week. Compared with a year earlier, the total represented an increase of 1 billion 956 million dollars.

Notice to Holders of Securities of Central States Power & Light Corporation

First Mortgage and First Lien Gold Bonds, 5½% Series, due January 1, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as Central States Bonds):

The undersigned hereby offers, on the terms and conditions contained herein to purchase Central States Power & Light Corporation First Mortgage and First Lien Gold Bonds, 5½% Series, due January 1, 1953, with January 1, 1942 and subsequent interest coupons attached, at a price of 100, plus accrued interest, until the sum of approximately $5,210,000, plus an amount equal to such accrued interest has been exhausted.

Manufacturers Trust Company, 55 Broad Street, New York City, New York, is acting as agent for the undersigned in this matter. If you wish to tender your Central States Bonds for purchase on the terms and conditions contained herein, forward your Bonds, with January 1, 1942 and subsequent interest coupons attached, either by registered mail or through your own bank, with a Letter of Tender and Transmittal to Manufacturers Trust Company, 55 Broad Street, New York City, New York. Bonds must be in bearer form, or if registered, accompanied by an irrevocable bond power executed in blank with signature guaranteed. Bonds will be accepted in the order of the receipt of tenders thereof, commencing with the 20th day of August, 1941 and ending at 4 o'clock P. M. (Eastern Standard Time) on the 19th day of September, 1941 (hereinafter referred to as the "tender period"). For the purpose of determining the priority of tenders, all tenders received on the same date during the tender period will be considered as received at the same time. If more Bonds are received on any one date than can be purchased with the funds remaining available on such date, Bonds will be purchased from each owner tendering on such date as nearly as practicable in equal principal amounts until the available fund is exhausted. Where physical delivery of the Bonds is impossible at the time of tender, a guarantee of delivery by a bank or trust company in the United States will be deemed sufficient. Any tender may not be withdrawn or recalled. All tenders must be made in the name of the owner of the Bonds. Bonds accepted will be accepted as of the date of the receipt by Manufacturers Trust Company of the tender thereof (commencing with August 20, 1941) and accrued interest thereon will be paid only up to and including that date. Payment for Bonds accepted will be made the day following their acceptance provided however that no payment will be made prior to the physical delivery of the Bonds. Any Bonds not accepted will be returned promptly. If any Bond is tendered with any unmatured interest coupon or coupons missing, the Bond may at the option of the undersigned be accepted and the face amount of the missing coupon or coupons deducted from the purchase price. All or any part of any tender may be rejected for any reason deemed sufficient by counsel for the undersigned.

No Bonds directly or indirectly owned or controlled by any affiliate of the undersigned or by any officer or director of the undersigned or of any such affiliate will be purchased.

MINERS FIGHTING DUES HIKE CLOSE MORE COLLIERIES

CIO Strikers Defy Union Heads; 13 Pits Shut.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 11 [Special].—A rank and file revolt of anthracite miners against payment of increased union dues and assessments stepped up its tempo tonight as nearly 4,000 angry men shouted down efforts of a United Mine Workers [CIO] leader to end their strike.

Instead, spokesmen for the strikers, addressing a rally here, claimed that by tomorrow night they would increase their ranks from 10,000 to 20,000 and carry their rebellion north to the Pottsville and Wilkes-Barre areas if the union did not rescind the dues increases.

The revolt broke out in the Panther Creek valley section on Tuesday after the UMW had increased dues from $1 to $1.50 monthly and raised the annual assessment from $2 to $6.

Close Eight More Collieries.

Today more than 500 strikers drove into the Hazleton area and picketed the eight collieries here, shutting them down and raising to 13 the number of closed collieries.

Hugh M. Brown, president of district 7 of the UMW, attempted to address a massmeeting tonight to order the men back to work, but was silenced by boos and jeers. Fist fights broke out and the Brown adherents were forced to give way to the protesting miners, who took over the meeting in defiance of their union officers.

Garrett Miller, leader of the uprising, replaced Brown as speaker and said:

"What does the United Mine Workers want? They already have 4 million dollars above necessary expenses."

Plant Shutdown Ended.

Olney, Ill., Sept. 11 (AP).—The International Shoe company plant here resumed operations today after a week's shutdown caused when 250 of the 1,000 employés walked out demanding higher wages. G. A. Shipley, plant superintendent, would not reveal terms of the agreement by which the 1,000 workers returned to work.

Resume Car Building.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11 (AP).—Two plants of the American Car and Foundry company resumed operations today after a one day shutdown attributed to a shortage of materials needed for the building of railroad freight cars.

ADVANCE IN MILL ACTIVITY AVERTS PAPER SHORTAGE

New York, Sept. 11 (AP).—A potential shortage of paper has been averted, trade sources said today, but it will be necessary to avoid forced curtailment of mill activity or shipping difficulties to prevent a shortage. Reduced consumption of paper was forecast over the balance of the year, which would allow operators gradually to overcome backlogs.

Production has increased materially. The American Paper and Pulp association reported paper mill activity was at an all-time high for the week ended Aug. 23, as production volume expanded to 102.8 per cent of estimated six day capacity. On Aug. 30 the rate was 101.9.

Rubber Imports in August Set All Time Monthly High

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11 (AP).—Crude rubber imports during August amounted to 105,456 long tons, the highest monthly total on record, the commerce department said today. The government stock pile of rubber increased by 9,707 tons, bringing the total to 228,551 long tons.

Servel to Save Aluminum Thru Use of Substitutes

Servel, Inc., Evansville, Ind., refrigerator manufacturer, announced yesterday that it will save nearly 2 million pounds of aluminum thru use of other metals and plastics in its 1942 line of gas refrigerators. The substitutes include cast iron and steel.

Of more than 400 large companies in the Chicago area invited by the association, only 15 sent representatives. The prime contractors were assigned tables in a large hall of the Palmer House at which they conferred with small plant owners.

In addition to the prime contractors the Chicago ordnance district was represented by Lieut. B. L. Gordon, head of the executive division, and seven assistants and engineers. The OPM's defense contract service and the British purchasing commission also sent representatives.

See Exhibit of Munitions.

Lieut. Gordon said that more than 100 small business men conferred with his staff and about 75 went to the ordnance district's offices at 38 South Dearborn street to examine exhibits of munitions being purchased by the ordnance department. Consultations with army engineers were arranged.

General Electric company's Fort Wayne, Ind., plant, thru S. R. Catsiff, in charge of subcontracting, presented an exhibit of sample parts which could be made by small shops. He said plants should be equipped to produce from 500 to 1,500 units a month. He displayed blue prints and discussed engineering phases of the work with more than a score of business executives.

Air Battles Rage Along German-Russian Front—Navy Tests Giant New Battleship of the Air

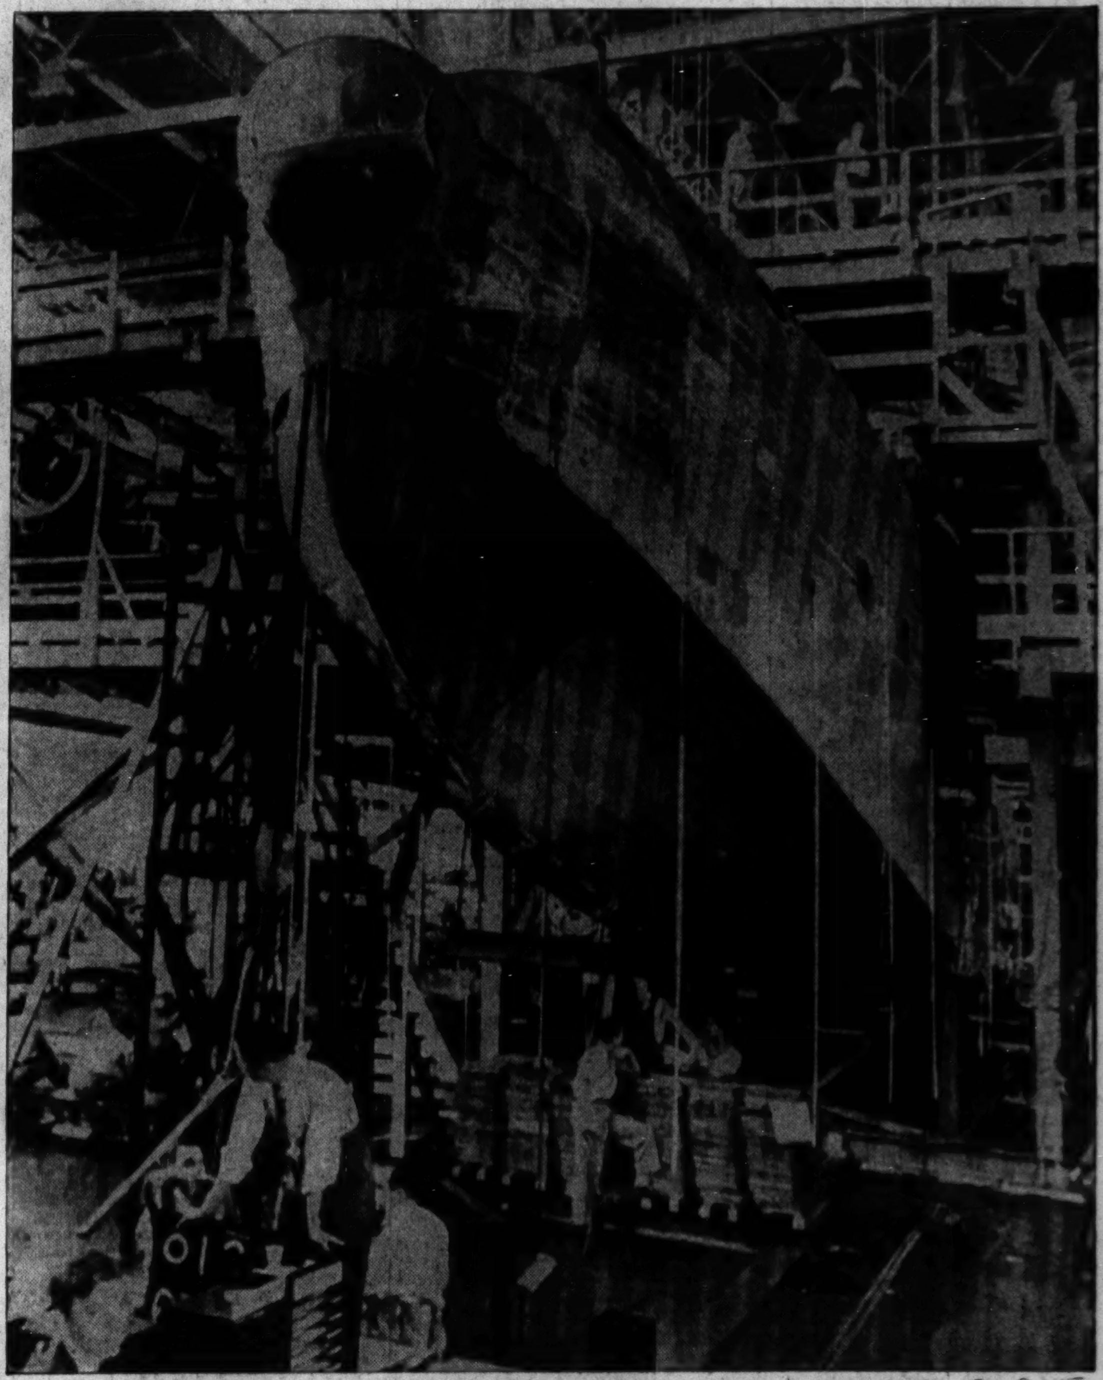
A Russian bombing plane cast its shadow on the ground as it took part in mission described by soviet sources as raid on German military position. Bombs can be seen falling. The censor gave no indication of which section of the big battlefield was involved.



The nose of new experimental "air battleship" being built for navy at Martin plant in Baltimore. Wingspread of ship is 200 feet. First tests were made yesterday.
